Barry is optimistic as to the results. He says that Burps may go ten rounda, but he feels sure that six will be enough to get him the money. When told about Burns' left jab he remarked:

"If that fellow tries to keep a fist in my face all the time, I'll bite it off. He may be shifty all right, but then there are others, you know. I didn't come all the way up here to get licked."

Kemmer finished the season with Toledo, which was a tall-end club in the American Association, and he led all the first-basemen in the league in fielding. He had 257 put-outs, 6 assists and 2 errors in 25 games giving him an average of 362 in the field. He hit 250. It is as a hitter that Kemmer is best known among ballplayers, but he was not in the American Association long enough to strike his gait. A new second-baseman is also sought.

Eastern Oregon Horsethieves Play Hide-and-Seek.

STOCK IS MOVED AT NIGHT

In the Daytime the Rustlers Sleep and Put on Every Appearance of Respectability-Officers Cannot Cope With Them.

BAKER CITY, Or., May L-(Special.)-BAKER CITY, Or. May 1.—(Special.)— The Sheriff of Baker County returned Saturday evening. As published through-out Idaho, he has been acting in conjunc-tion with officers from that state in try-ing to apprehend horsethieves. When the campaign started, the horsethieves were in Baker City and the horses were in Idaho. The situation has changed. Now the horsethieves are in Idaho, and the the horsethieves are in Idaho, and the horses are in Oregon.

It seems that two residents of this city It seems that two residents of this city contracted with some horse dealers to deliver five carloads of the animals at certain places at certain times. They departed for Idaho, and soon after a great game of hide-and-seek began. The officers of three counties received information that two bands of horses were headed toward the Snake, under most suspicious circumstances. They did not seem to have any guidance or supervision whatever, but every day they grew nearer the appointed place by at least 30 miles.

The officers knew where the horses were each day. They alst knew where four men were encamped each day, but they never could catch the men with the horses nor the horses with the men, though all nor the horses with the men, though all seemed to be moving in the same direc-tion. It was worked this way: The two Baker City men hired two men to cook for them and herd their saddle horses. them and herd their saddle norses, Iney could move the horses nights and sleep daytimes, while the two hired kept them supplied with fresh horses and food. They did their own scouting, and no horses traveled when any one was around except them.

One claimed the horses, and the officers One claimed the horses, and the officers could accomplish nothing by taking them. Horses cannot talk. In course of time one band arrived within four miles of Huntington. These made two carloads. The dealer was there to receive them. The two Baker City men met him, and were ready with the goods, but alleged that they must make the delivery four miles out of town, as the man who owned the horses would not dispose of part of them unless he took the whole bunch, and he must come and see them. Right here something dropped, for the next any one heard was that the two Baker City men had been in the saddle for 36 hours, had forded the Malheur and Owyhce, and, with pack animals, had gotten well away. Sixty horses are a few ten well away. Sixty horses are a few miles below Huntington, on the Oregon side of the river. As far as known, they belong to no one. They are strangers in a strange land. This afternoon Sheriff Brown received this telephone message: "This morning, at the Perry L. Drake ranch, 12 miles below the Iron Dyke mine, on the Oregon side of Snake River, are two or three men, who are holding a hand of 140 stolen horses. One is a fat man, and one is a young fellow."

Before night an officer will be there, but more than likely he will find the horses descried. Catching horsethleves in Oregon is not easy.

pleaded guilty. At Lebanon the practical workings of the local-option law may be seen. That town is divided into two precincts. At town is divided into two precincts. At the election last June, the precinct in which the business part of town, and in-cidentally the saloons, is located, went "dry," while that precinct which em-braces the residence district went "wet." Since the election, the Lebanon salo were estensibly turned into "soft"-drink places, but the screens before the doors were kept up, and Prohibitionists of that quiet little town maintained that liquor was being sold clandestinely. At last the District Attorney held an investigation. and out of all the allegations and charges he gathered enough evidence to convict one liquor seller. This man stated that he would fight the case and test the law, but when the time to take up the case came, he pleaded guilty, as stated above, and the law yet remains unassailed. Now there is considerable talk of reoving the saloons into the residence por tion of town providing the Council will grant a license, and it is stated that the Council will do that. If this move should made, some of the evils of the law uid be practically demonstrated. This, a salooumen claim, would mean defeat for the Local Optionists at the next gen-

DOCTORS AFTER THE "QUACKS"

Osteopaths Also Are Marked for Running Out of King County. .

SEATTLE, May L.—(Special.)—The king County Medical Society tonight declared war against two physicians branded as "quacks," and every osteopath practicing in this county. If the present law will permit it, the osteopaths are to be driven from the county. If not, the doctors are piedged to go before the next Legislature and work for the passage of a bill prohibiting their practice.

The conviction of Dr. Lawson at Tacoma on a charge of practicing without a license has encouraged the medical men of Scattle. Tonight a special committee, named a year ago to conduct the prosecutions, reported the success of the Lawson fight and marked Dr. Dahl and Dr. Kelly as the next victims of the doctors fight. It was declared that if Dr. Dahl and Dr. Kelly were forced out of practice here the society will have driven out all the quacks in Seattle. Then the fight is to be taken up against the osteopaths.

In a sarcastic manner the osteopaths were referred to as "quack brothers," and the practitioners were declared to be a menace to any community in which they are permitted to practice. The physicians maintained that the osteopaths did not represent any school of medicine, and their use of title of doctor is misleading.

and their use of title of doctor is misleading.

According to the report made to the medical society an attorney has been engaged and paid a retainer's fee of 1500.

He is to receive 5500 more when the last "quack" and osteopath is driven from King County. The cases are to be fought through to the Supreme Court, and if beaten once an appeal to the Legislature will be made.

It was intended to take up the fight between Portland and Seattle physicians, but older heads among the physicians advised that the question be ignored and the discussion was suppressed.

STATE TAX COMMISSION.

Officials Are Searching for Good Men

salem. Or., May 1.—(Special.)—A state tax commission, whose duty it will be to draft an assessment and taxation law for submission to the next Legislature, will be appointed the latter part of this month. The appointing power rests in the Governor, Secretary of State and State Treasurer. The commission is to be composed of three members, appointed from different sections of the state, and not more than two of them to be of the same political party. Each Commissioner will receive $1000 for his services, regardless of the length of time occupied by the meetings of the board. The board will also have power to appoint a clerk and fix his compensation.

Because of the importance of the task set for the tax commission, the Governor, Secretary of State and State Treasurer are looking over the field very carefully for good men to appoint on the commission. The desire is to get broad-minded men of affairs who have the commindent to Be Appointed.

sion. The desire is to get broad-minded men of affairs, who have the confidence of the people and who will devote the time necessary for a thorough investiga-tion of the subject. It is the evident intention of the appointing officers to avoid putting on the commission men-whose interests might hamper their ac-tion or men who are so pronounced in radical views that they could not give the subject impartial study. A number of citizens of the state have been recom-mended for appointment, among them the

DOG'S RIGHT TO BITE A MAN

Seattle Jury Finds Mr. Croft Provoked the Brute.

SEATTLE, Wash., May 1 .- (Special.) --A jury in Judge Gilliam's court today returned a verdict which established a precedent that a dog has a right to bite a man in self-defense.

A dog belonging to Benjamin Piggott bit a piece out of William Croft's leg, which Mr. Croft valued at $10,000, and he went to law to collect that sum.

Mr. Piggott alleged his dog would never have bitten Mr. Croft except after great provocation, and he set up the defense that the dog had a right to bite in self-defense. The jury took the same view of the matter, for, after a short deliberation today, a verdict was returned in favor of the defendant, and Mr. Croft will have to get his $10,000 in some other

The Masquerader

By KATHERINE CECIL THURSTON

Here is a novel six months old, and still a brand-new book-a book claiming its hundreds of new readers daily and promising great things. It has proved itself a great story; it came sweeping all ordinary novels into the background, and it still goes on its conquering way. It's worth reading, if only to see wherein the secret of such tremendous success lies. Once take up the book, and you know.

This is a story of a strong man and a strong woman and their high-handed grasping for happiness in the face of the moral law. The woman, magnificent in her love, rises above considerations of conventions, above fear, above conscience. Circumstances give her the right to follow the dictates of an overwhelming passion.
