Hearing of Testimony in Goldie Breach-of-Promise Case Commenced.

HEAVY DAMAGES ARE ASKED

Former Wife of Building Contractor Wants Remuneration Because Husband Failed to Marry

Her a Second Time.

Jessie L. Goldle, who sued her former husband, William Goldie, a building contractor, for $10,000 damages for breach of promise, told her story before Judge George and a jury yesterday. The littgants were married in 1889, and lived most of the time in Chicago, which is the home of the defendant's parents.

of the defendant's parents.

According to the evidence given by Mrs. Goldie she began divorce proceedings against her husband in Buffalo, N. Y., in 1901, when the Pan-American Exposition was in operation, but did not obtain the decree until 1963. She charged him with cruelty and drinking. She was awarded alimony, and he afterward made a settlement with her, agreeing to pay her $2000. Goldie went to St. Louis to ob-tain contracts on the exposition grounds, and Mrs. Goldie visited him there. He made a return visit to Chicago and beg-ged her to come back with him, and ged her to come back with him, and agreed to marry her when he had settled his business affairs in St. Louis.

his business affairs in St. Louis.
Instead, he came to Portland. Mrs. Goldie followed, and accidentally met him on the street. Afterward she called upon him at the Imperial Hotel and met wife number 2 and there was a scene. The woman' who had taken her place told Geldie if he had deceived his first wife he ought to do something for her, to which Goldie made no response except to he ought to do something for her, to which Goldie made no response except to tell her to name the price, which she did not do. Not deeming the occasion propitious Mrs. Goldie shed tears when relating this portion of her testimony. She is a good-looking, intelligent woman, and seemed to create a good impression with the court and jury. Goldie is a man of slight figure and dresses neatly. He is about 25 years old. The former name of his second wife was not revealed during the progress of the trial, but it was revealed that she halls from Council Biuffs.

Goldie Denies Charges.

Goldie denied all the charges made gainst him. He textified that Jessie ap-Goldie denied all the charges made against him. He testified that Jessie appealed to him to take her back many times, but he never agreed to do so. He visited her in Chicago at her request. The planniff explained to the Jury that when she arrived in Portland she was in fill health and was compelled to go to the hospital and submit to a surgical operation by Dr. Fenton. Goldie agreed to pay, but did not do so.

Leiters written by Goldie to the plaintiff while he was in St. Louis were read. They related to his business affairs, and the hot weather. They were addressed to Dear Jess, and signed Will, Letters received by her at French Lick, a health resort in Indiana, and Grand Rapids, # that time the paid admissions have reached a total of 185,000. The attendance has been gradually increasing in past months. The heaviest attendance has been noted on Sundays and the total number of people that passed through the gates two Sundays ago was close to 10,000, which figure is the record thus far in the pre-Exposition period. It is not believed the advance in admission will in any way affect the attendance. With the Exposition so near ready for opening there is much to be seen and the advance in price is considered by the Exposition management as being only just and equitable.

Alaskan Districts Being Thoroughly Canvassed for Exhibit Material.

Circulars intended to arouse general interest in the Fair are being circulated throughout the country by the Arctic throughout the country by the Arctic Brotherhood.

INTEREST OF CALIFORNIANS

Official Finds Neighboring State Impatient for Fair to Open.

Not even in Oregon is a more active interest being taken in the Lewis and Clark Exposition than is shown by the people of California, according to Frank L. Merrick, manager of the Exposition Press Bureau, who has just returned from two weeks of special exploitation work in various California towns. He found that it is one of the topics of gen-work in various California towns. He found that it is one of the topics of general conversation and that the idea one gets from a trip through the state is that the entire population is going to move on Portland en masse.

"It is a fact," said Mr. Merrick, "that many Californians with whom I came in contact are impetient for the Fair to open. They say they intend to come for the opening day and stay as Tong as possible. All California papers regard Exposition matters as live news and are giving liberal space to the Fair."

The main entrance to the Exposition is to be hidden in a covering of moon flowers. The flowers bloom from 4 o'clock in the afternoon until 8 o'clock the next morning and on cloudy days bloom as late as 11 o'clock in the morning.

Work on the entrance group is pro-gressing rapidly and the middle of the month will see the turn-stiles in place and the line of staff entrance buildings

BIG SHOW ABOUT COMPLETE NLONDING PEOPLE ARE ACTIVE GRUDGE AGAINST NEWELL

Hansbrough Failed to Have Him Turned Down - Thought He Had Won Point in the Selection of Grunsky.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Wash OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU. Washington, May 2.—Judging from surface indications, an attempt will be made at the next session of Congress to stir up trouble for the Reclamation Service. Certain Senators and Representatives have had a grudge against Chief Engineer F, H, Newell ever since be was charged with carrying out the terms of the National irrigation law. Some of these men are honestly opposed to him; others are opposed to him for personal reasons, and among the latter are men who have been unable to influence him when he was convinced that they were in the wrong.

unable to influence him when he was convinced that they were in the wrong.

In the last Congress Senator Hansbrough, who is Mr. Newell's most bitter enemy, introduced and attempted to pass a bill creating an office of Supervising Engineer of the Reclamation Service at a salary of $10,000. It was Mr. Hansbrough's idea, if he could pass this bill to have some man appointed to this high-sainried position who would be higher in rank than Mr. Newell, and would relieve him of charge of the Reclamation Service. Hearings were given on the bill, and when they were concluded, the bill was dropped, for the hearings developed considerable opposition, and the bill did not have support enough to pass it. not have support enough to pass it.

Chuckle Came Too Soon.

Now the President has authorized the appointment of C. E. Grunsky, late of the Panama Canal Commission, as con-sulting engineer of the Reclamation Service, at a salary of $10,000. When Mr. Grunsky's appointment was announced, the Senators who had been fighting Mr. Newell were given to excessive gloating; they thought the President had done for them what Congress would not do; they were pleased because they believed Mr. Grunsky would supersede Mr. Newell, and take charge of the Reclamation Service.

But when these Senators went to Mr. Grunsky and talked with him about his new position and what he intended to do, they were disgruntled to hear that he would not take charge of the Reclamation Service; that he would not supersede Mr. Newell, but would act entirely in the capacity of consulting engineer, to report to the President, to the Secretary of the Interior, and to the Director of the Geological Survey. Mr. Grunsky himself dis-ant with them, and was carrying out the President's instructions, so they set up the cry that the President or the Secre-tary of the Interior had no authority to arbitrarily create a $10,000 office in con-nection with the Reclamation Service, but must ask Congress to-create the office and fix the salary.

They Can't Touch Grunsky.

The National irrigation law is so worded as to give the Secretary of the Interior full swing in carrying out its provisions. As the law is construed, the Secretary can, of his own will, create such offices as he deems necessary to carry on the reclamation work, and, creating the offices, he can fix the salaries, which of course are paid out of the reclamation ity that Mr. Grunsky's office was created. However, the disgruntled Senators and entatives strongly intimate that are going to make a fight on the Relamation Service next season, and they probably will. But the men who are identified with the fight have not been able, by mere exercise of their influence as Senators or Representative, to carry things their own way in the Reclamation Office. They have found it run abso-lutely on merit; they have found projects adopted only when the Reclamation Service was satisfied they were feasible, and thought it was expedient to go ahead with them. These men have not been able to force the service to do anything. and they are doubly disgruntled because Secretary Hitchcock has at every turn backed up the Reclamation Service when it turned down Congressional influen Summed up, these men have a grudge; they are mad, and they want to fight. But the Reclamation Service is not afraid of them.
