THOSE WHO MAY VOTE AT THE

can and Democratic primaries will be open tomorrow from noon until T P. M. for nomination of party candidates under the direct primary law. Nominees, instead of being chosen in conventions as heretofore, will be chosen by direct vote of party electors, and who receive the most votes in the primaries will be declared the party nomnanner June 5. Electors who have registered their party affiliation with the County Clerk will be permitted to judges their name, address and party membership, and those who are not so registered must demonstrate to the election judges by affidavit in the manribed by the general election law and the judges their right to vote before they will be permitted to cast their ballots. Prohibitionists and Socialists will not be permitted to vote.

Republicans and Democrats who are not registered as to their party affin-ity and who wish to take part in tomorrow's nomination of party candidates for the June election cannot vote nless the election judges permit.

The question whether such electors shall cast their ballots lies entirely with the discretion of the judges, who are evidently empowered by the law reject or accept "sworn-in" votes.

The matter is of wide interest, since 10,000 Republicans and Democrats are not registered for the primarles, none of whom can vote unless his affidavit certifying to his right to participate in the nominating primaries and signed by six freeholders, shall be accepted by the election judges. Some judges are of the opinion that no such voting should be allowed, while others are of the contrary opinion.

City Attorney McNary and City Auditor Devlin agree that the right of an unregistered elector to vote must be determined by the election judges, who are empowered to recognize that right or deny it, as they choose.

Both Mr. McNary and Mr. Devlin are of the opinion that the swearing in of unregistered electors will be lawful. They may advise that all such electors to vote be required to bring their six freeholders to the polls and to certify in person to the electoral qualifications of such voters.

The affidavit which unregistered ors will be required to swear to fellow the form of those used ofore, but they will have to swear in addition that they are members of the party whose ticket they wish to such affidavits to each precinct.

All persons who attempt to vote on affidavit will be immediately chal-lenged by adherents of the Rowe or the Glafke or Albee cause. Such was the agreement entered into yesterday managers of those candidates, at a ference in the Albee headquarters the McKay building. Instructions to this effect will be sent out to the ward and precinct workers of those 66 OU lie, and you know you're a liar," said Mrs. Dera Mark to Mrs. M. Lippman, in the Municipal Court yes-terday morning, when Mrs. Lippman took the witness stand and began to tell her side of the case.

Mrs. Marx, the defendant, lives at 172 Caruthers, and Mrs. Lippman, the complainant, lives next door. The charge was depositing garbage in the public street.

"That woman has been tormenting me until it has become unbearable," continued Mrs. Lippman. "I cannot put up with her any longer; she must stop. She has repeatedly thrown garbage into my yard, and has littered the street and sidewalk with it.

"Sit down," thundered Judge Hogue.

Mrs. Marx would not have done so had not Deputy City Attorney Fitzgerald pulled her into her seat.

"Mrs. Lippman bired a boy to get a bucketful of old pickles and place on my step," said Mrs. Marx, in her own defense. "This made me angry, and I threw them into her yard."

"The only thing I can do is to fine you the minimum fine," said Judge Hogue to Mrs. Marx. "It's 15, but you're a poor woman, and we have no desire to work a hardship upon you, so I will continue this during your good behavior. The whole outfit of you will have to be good and get along together, or I'll fine you all."

Fred Pollieghkiet, alleged to be the leader of a band of cattle thieves, was held to the grand jury under bonds of $500. Ferdinand Powell and Albert Raymond, jointly charged, were also beid to the grand jury, and were fined $30 each on charges of slaughtering within the city limits. On a similar charge Pollieghkiet was not fined, as it is desired to see what will be the result of his trial in the Circuit Court. Pollieghkiet, who was formerly a Cap-tain in the German army, is regarded by the police as a bad man, and is suspected of having led the two men arrested with him in cattle-thieving operations through ranching districts near Fortland for a long time. ### Owners Raise Price for Land.

FAIRVIEW, Or., May 4.—(Special.)— Right of way for the proposed branch of the Oregon Water Power Railway from Cedarville to Fairview and the Columbia River has not been secured. Several large landholders have raised the price of land since the survey, some of the present prices being 160 per cent greater than be-fore. It is doubtful whether the road will be built unless these property-owners are willing to grant right of way for amount considerably smaller than the prices asked. The decisions are new pending. the ordinance directs it, the saloons of Portland will be closed at 1 o'clock hig ones as well as the small. The laws covering gambling and other vices will also be rigidly enforced. W. B. GLAFKE.

The final rally of the Glafke forces prior to the primaries, which was held in Arion Hall last night, was marked by wild outbursts of enthusiasm and the full-est confidence in the victory of their can-

There were about 400 in attendance, a large proportion of these being women, while realizing their inability to give Mr. Glafke the solid support of actual ballots, were not deterred from showing with warmth their choice for Portland's next Mayor. That they are good votegetters, however, is the conviction of the Glafke men, and they were as strongly appealed to as the men.

W. B. Glafke, after being introduced as "Portland's Mayor," said:

"Portland's Mayor," said:

"For the past two or three weeks I have been addressing meetings almost nightly, and in that time have read, talked about and explained my platform until it seems that every one should know it by heart, but it appears that there are some who, whether willfully or not, do not yet understand it. When we started in on this comments we started that we in on this campaign we stated that we would deal solely with the facts and that there would be no mudslinging, and this promise I think has been fulfilled. I have no quarrel with any of the candi-dates running for the Mayoralty, but lately there have been things said regard-ing my position which I think requires an answer. It has been said that I am evasive and uncertain, that I am trying to evade certain questions. I understand it has been said: He has refused to say it has been said; 'He has refused to say that he will enforce the 1 o'clock saloon ordinance.' I believe that you who have heard me in the past three weeks will say that I have been very definite on that subject. But I will say again that if I am elected Mayor, and so long as the ordinances direct it, the saloons of Portland will be closed at 1 o'clock every morning, and this applies to the hig ones as well and this applies to the big ones as well as the small. There are ten command-ments, and one of them says: Thou shalt not lie.' In explaining my platform I have this commandment in mind."

After reading his platform Mr. Glafke "The promise of a businesslike adminis tration means that for every dollar spent a full dollar's worth will be received, every man working for the city will have to earn every dollar he gets and there shall be a full eight-hour day; there will be no pensioners on the city's payrolls. The laws pertaining to saloons, gam-bling and other vices will be enforced, and it seems to me that this covers the 1 o'clock ordinance and all others. Police Department will be compelled to enforce the laws, and if any saloon falls to comply with the ordinances its license will be revoked. "Should I be elected. I will go into once as no other Mayor has done in 29 years." I will go in free from any pledge or promise. This will leave me entirely free

tegrity and his successful business
A. H. Devers spoke on Glafke's b career and standing, and showed that it did take executive ability to conduct it. He thought that if a little more of that business ability had been shown in the management of the city's business affairs the condition of Portland would be superior today.

Other speakers were Alexander H.
Kerr and H. C. Thompson. R. G. Morrow acted as chairman, Miss Mastick received a warm welcome for two selections, and was obliged to re-spond to encores. Glafke songs, which brought out rounds of applause, were sung by the Glafke Glee Club. Following the meeting a conference of the precinct workers was held for final itation and all reported assurances

SHERIFF TAKES CHARGE

(Continued (rom First Page.) "Do you mean to say that you refuse to discharge negroes and reinstate white men? "So long as a teamster does his work he will not be discharged, be he white or black," replied the lawyer.

"That is an outrage," said Mr. Shea. "You have brought these negroes in here to fight us, and we maintain that we have the right to attack them whereever found.

"Then do so at your peril," retorted Mayer.

Mr. Shea said that the union wanted the strikers reinstated, after which the employers would be asked to arbitrate the underlying differences which brought on the strike. The reply to this was: "Under no circumstances will we dis-charge any of the men brought here to take the places of strikers. We have nothing to arbitrate. We assert our right to use the public streets for the transaction of our rightful business and the right to employ teamsters, black or white, at our discretion.

This ended the conference and the labor leaders took their departure.

During a second disturbance at the stables of the Employers' Association, in Bighteenth street today, John Dansberry, a nonunion colored teamster, was shot. He had attempted to strike a boy who shouted an offensive epithet. A number of strike sympathizers instantly made for the negro and began to throw bricks at him. Private detectives rushed to his aid. A general fight ensued during which Dansberry received a builet in the leg. After a two days' search George Beard, of this city, today identified Jefferson Murphy, a negro, whose home is said to be in Marlin, Tex., as the slayer of Beard's brother, Charles, who was fatally injured by being hit with a stone during a street riot Tuesday. Beard had visited every place in the city where nonunion colored teamsters are quartered, but not until today were his efforts rewarded. Murphy was arrested.

There were several riots while the caravans were being taken through the streets, and a number of people, spectators and nonunion drivers were seriously hurt. One or two may die.

The public temper on the negro question was extremely bad, and promised to grow without any question as to the merits or demerits of the strike. A big portion of the members of the Employers' Teaming Association regret that the negro strike-breakers were ever brought in. There is much feeling among the public about the bringing in of negroes from the South to take the place of strikers, and it was given out at the employers' beadquarters that no more negroes were to be brought here.
