SEATTLE, Wash., May 5 .- (Special.)-Charley Hall nearly equaled today the great pitching feat of Virgil Garvin yesterday, when he let Seattle down with one hit. Hall allowed but one hit today, and that was a foul, though Davis did not see it that way. Big McLean caught che right off the handle and lifted a long fly down the left foul line. Davis said it fly down the left foul line. Davis said it was fair, and McLean got two bases. That was the only semblance of a hit that Portland got. Hall was given perfect support in the field, Russ Hall playing particularly brilliant ball.

Cates pitched good enough ball to win an ordinary contest, but the locals made their hits count by fast work on the bases. Houts was thrown out at the plate on a relay from Murphy to Atz to McLean, when it looked from the stand as if the big catcher had missed Heutz by a foot. Kane and Kemmer did the best work with the bat, and Kane scored two of the three runs made by Sestile. Hall of the three runs made by Sesttle. Hall marred his otherwise perfect work by walking four men. He got careless ex-perimenting with the spit ball, and issued four passes. With men on bases, how-ever, he was unhittable. Householder was the only man who tried to steal sec-ond, and Frary threw him out before he chance to slide.

Twenty Barrels of Strawberries

Twenty barrels of strawberry preserves were put up by Hazelwood last Summer during the season, just for flavoring purposes

So popular was the Hazelwood strawberry ice cream that the 20 barrels were emptied before Winter.

Hood River strawberries-the season's finest-were used, and every berry was stemmed and washed right on our own premises by high-class help.

This season we probably will put up 50 barrels of Hood River strawberry preserves, solely to flavor. Hazelwood ice cream with during the Fall and Winter.

All during the strawberry season the strawberry ice cream will be flavored with the choice, fresh berries. It will require hundreds of crates.

WHITMAN COLLEGE. Walla Walla, Wash., May L—(Special.)—The University of Washington baseball team defeated Whitman on her home diamond by the score of 17 to 1 this afternoon, the Scattle collegians clearly outclassing the local team, which has been handicapped by the loss of several veteran players within the last two months. The game was very even for the first four innings, Washington making only three tailles. Whitman went to pieces in the fifth and let in ten runs. Dutcher did not pitch for Whitman up to his usual form and received wretched support from the field. WHITMAN COLLEGE, Walla Walls,
