Experience of a Beautiful High School Girl

My DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: — I write to see if you can suggest some means to cure me. A little more than a year ago I was sick with menstruation for the first time, and since then I have been sick all the time in some way or other and suffered with painful and irregular menstruation. I want to a summer resort for my health and was doctored all summer, but to no effect. I have not menstruated for two months and thought I would see if you could do me any good. I attend High School and would not like to miss any time if it is possible. Marion Barrers, North Adams, Mrss.

 Grand Jury Looking Deeply Into Scandals.

THOMAS MALONE, WITNESS

Former City Father Gives Very Important Testimony Regarding "Grafts" of Officials of the Municipality.

Deeper and deeper the Multnomah County grand jury is probing into the Frontstreet bridge and other municipal scandals. Yesterday District Attorney John Manning startled the hangers-on about the Courthouse by subpensing Thomas Malone, a former Councilman, and for a time the air was pregnated with all manof speculation as to the testimony that Malone gave the jurors. Malone's testimony must have been of great im-portance, for it is understood that not only was Maione aworn to secreey, but each member of the grand jury was espe-cially cautioned not to divulge one single word of the testimony given by this wit-story had something to do with the Frontstreet bridge and also of other alleged deals made by the City Council, in which there is said to have been "graft" levied.

Malone's Testimony Important.

Malone was a city father in the days when Sylvester Pennoyer was Mayor. He is credited with knowing a great deal about the inside workings of the City Council, and it is said that he gave some important testimony regarding certain deals that C. E. Rumelin was interested in. He was before the grand jury only half an hour, but he will again be called. One rumer had it that Malone gave some information concerning the much-talked-of, "graft" connected with the deal that behind the famous garbage crema-This was the deal that failed, and man, vitally interested in the passing of the project, was heard to say openly that when the deal for monopoly fell through he lost $1900, meaning that if the deal had gone through, his share would have been that amount. The man who made this remark, however, was a 'reacher," and he might have only beer dreaming. One thing is sure, on the strength of Majone's testimony men whose names heretofore have not been inentioned in connection with either the Front-street bridge or other municipal scandal will be given a chance to appear before the grand jury.

Bridge Scandal Comes Up.

George Sooggin, who was Deputy City Engineer under W. C. Elliott, and who is at present Elliott's partner, was also be-fore the jury. Scoggin's testimony, while it is a matter of speculation, like that of W. C. Elliott, had to do with the part that Councilman Rumelin had to do with the Front-street bridge scandal. Scoggin is said to have gone into Rumelin's activ ity in both the Front-street bridge deal and other matters pertaining to city contracts and franchises. The ex-Deputy City Engliseer must have given some in-teresting information, for not an inkling of what he told could be learned from any source. Carl Liebe, who was for-merly an employe in the City Auditor's office, was another witness before the grand jury. F. H. Stow, representing the automatic Telephone Company, who is harged by Councilmen Merrill and Shercharged by Councilmen Merrill and Sher-rett with having offered bribes, appeared before the grand jury. Mr. Stow denied that he had ever attempted to bribe either Carpenter, John Wenzin and Joseph Kellog were the witnesses against Rosenfeld. The checks were cashed. Detective A. G. Vaughn were cashed. Detective A. G. vaugns told the jurors of the alleged forgeries of W. F. Hallowell, who is said to have passed the worthless paper, April last, Hallowell was arrested at Stockton, Cal. I was under the impression that all testi-mony given to the grand jury was a secret. I do know this, though, that I never received one cent for any vote or action of mine as a member of the City Council. I most emphatically deny that I ever received one cent from any tele-phone company, and should any one at-tempt to testify to such effect, before the grand jury or elsewhere, he will be guilty of the rankest kind of perjury, it is a well-known fact that I have been and am now an outspoken adve-cate in the Council for a franchise for the Automatic Telephone Company and am doing all in my power to secure for the people of this city the benefits of competition in the relephone business. This fact should in the estimation of all fair-minded persons, be sufficient refutation of tols malicious slander. The circulation of such a story at this time is the work of political enemies and for the sole purposes of sefeating me as a candidate for Councilman-at-large, after having been nominated for such a position last Saturday.

LIQUOR WILL CAUSE WOE

Government Now Powerless to Pre vent Debauchery on Works.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Wash ington, May 6,-There will be no end of trouble among workmen employed on Government irrigation projects unless the law officers of the Interior De-partment reverse themselves on the power of the Government to prohibit the gale of liquid on lands lying with-in the limits of such projects.

No sooner had the Reclamation Serv-ice begun the construction of its first project than liquor-dealers appeared on the scene. Some made entries in the heart of the irrigation district; others lessed lands which had been entered by others, but all were careful to locate in the vicinity of the work and in the midst of the army of work-men. Saloons sprang up like mush-rooms; there was much drunkenness; there was gambling: robberies were frequent; fights were of common oc-currence, and fatalities have been re-ported on a number of occasions.

The Reclamation Service was quick to realize that liquor was at the bottom of the trouble. With the saloons came the gamblers and the tough ele-ment in general. The laboring forces became largely demoralized. Work was retarded; disorder reigned where order was expected, and before long, in addition to the troubles enumerated, it was noticed that every now and then some workman would disappear, leav-ing no trace behind.

An appeal was made to the Commissioner of the General Land Office, who promptly drew up a circular to local land officers, directing them to cancel every entry under an irrigation project where it was shown that the entryman was seiling liquor on his premises or had leased his land to a liquor-seiler. That circular was sent to the Secretary of the Interior for approval, was by him referred to the Assistant Attor-ney-General for his department, and by that official was adversely reported upon. In his opinion, following prece-dent, the Government has no authority to cancel an entry which is otherwise regular, just because the entryman is selling ilquor on his land, or is per-mitting ilquor to be sold there. It is the opinion of the Assistant Attorney-General that the sale of liquor on homesteaded land has nothing to do with the right of the entryman to perfect his title, but is subject entirely to the laws of the state in which the land is located; that, if the liquor is sold under proper state license, the Gen-eral Government can interpose no ob-

This ruling proved a great disap-pointment to the Reclamation Service. In asking for a restriction upon the sale of liquor on irrigated lands, the Reclamation Service sought to protect its own men and the men employed by Government contractors against the bad elements that have given such notoriety to new Western towns; it sought to protect them against cheap, had liquor; against gamblers and others who now look upon them as legiti-mate prey. It was the contention of the Reclamation Service that lands under irrigation projects are Govern-ment lands until paid for, and, as none of these lands will become the property of the settler until ten years after the water is turned on, that the Govern-ment had the right to exclude liquor-dealers if it saw fit. just as it can pro-hibit the sale of liquor in National parks and on other Government reserrations.

The worst is now looked for; the hars are down; the saloons may enter bars are down; the saloons may enter, and they will no doubt flourish. Many instances are known where saloon-keepers have been waiting to hear from the Secretary before pouncing down on different projects, and one no-torious divekeeper in the West has boasted that he is going to open a saloon wherever the Government con-
