MRS. EVANS WOULD KEEP HUS-BAND FROM SEATTLE HOME.

e Says She Is Armed and Wants Nothing to Do With Returned Klondiker.

SEATTLE, Wash., May 11.—(Special)—in each of the four Seattle daily papers Mrs. Percy Evans, of 2728 Yesler Way, advertised for two thoroughbred bloodhounds or mastiffs, "young and fierce," explaining that old ones, well trained, would be accepted. Mrs. Evans insisted price was no object, price was no object.

Mrs. Evans is attempting to keep her husband, recently returned from Alaska, away from the house. She states in an interview that she is well armed and that even though she may fall to get the dogs she wants, she is prepared to drive out the objectionable husband.

Four detectives of amateruish action are accused by Mrs. Evans of loitering at times about her house watching her in times about her house, watching her in the interest of her husband. She insists that she wants to be rid of her spouse and that he will not allow her to go.

As a result she seeks an opportunity of protecting herself in her own way.

Mrs. Evans says that if the dogs are secured she will station them about her home and if the detectives do not leave her, or her husband attempts to come near, she will start the dogs after them. There is nothing "queer" about Mrs. Evans. She talks as though the advertisement for flerce dogs was inserted more as a bluff than a matter of fancy, and insists she intends to be rid of a troublesome husband.

Change Observance of Day.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, May 11.—(Special.)—At a meeting of the associated students, held today, a the associated students, held today, a decision was made to the effect that the second Friday in May will hereafter be a general student holiday instead of a day of contest between the sophomores and junior classes concerning the hoisting of a junior flag. In previous years junior day has been a day when the strength and numbers of the sophomores and juniors were pitted against each other. It has been a time-honored duty for the sopho-mores to prevent the appearance of junior colors about the campus.

Instead of such a contest an effort will be made to make a labor day of judor day. An attempt will be made to beautify the campus by perfecting the walks and cleaning up about the university generally.

Survey to Bear Creek Mines.

BUTTE May II.—A Billings dispatch to the Miner says: The survey of the line of railroad which will extend from Bridger to the Bear Creek coal district began today. It is said that contracts for grading the roadbed will be let within a fortnight and actual construction will begin about

The Bear Creek coal district is one of the best in the state and covers over 10,000 acres. The principal owners are the Amalgamated Copper Company, the Northwestern Improvement Company, the Montana Coal & Iron Comthe International and the Bear Creek Coal Company. The road will be completed, it is believed, in the early Autumn, and it will be extended to Cooke City.

Robberies Make Police Desperate.

BUTTE, Mont., May II.-A moral wave has struck Butte, Chief of Police Mulholland giving orders to arrest every woman or man in the red light district who has sver been convicted of robbery or even suspected, the prisoners to be confined on vagrancy charges until they are willing to leave the city. The order was held in aberance 24 hours to afford all question-able characters an opportunity to leave Butte. Police officials have become desperate at the growing number of rob beries in the red light part of town. Three evidence so slight that it is only in very rare instances that conviction can be had.

Lost in Lewis County Woods.

cial.)—F. E. Fuller, a prominent at-torney of Seattle, in company with Judge F. T. Merritt, of Centralia, and Cruiser Ira Honeywell, also of Cen-tralia, were lost in the woods of Lewis County for eight days. They started out to be gone three days on a hunt for timber claims and returned today, nearly starved. The last day in the woods the party marched all day with nothing to est but two small pancakes

Other Witness Took Polson.

FORSYTH, Mont., May II.—The trial of William McClure, charged with the murder of William Aughey, a month ago, has been begun. Aughey was found lying face downward with a bullet-hole through the back of his head and a jug of whisty under his bedy. McClure of whisky under his body. McClure alleges he accidentally killed Aughey. The only other person at the ranch was a colored woman cook who committed suicide when the officers told her she would be wanted as a witness.
