GRANGE MEETINGS.—Milwaukie Grange, Patrons of Husbandry, will hold an interesting meeting next Saturday at its hall in Milwaukie. This meeting will be of more than ordinary importance, as it will be educational. Several papers will be read on the cultivation of strawberries and of onions and other vegetables. The subjects will be treated from a thoroughly practical standpoint and for the purpose of imparting information. This Grange, through its committee, J. H. Reed, has arranged to hold a farmers' institute June 2, when several of the professors from the Oregon Agricultural College will be present and give talks on practical topics of interest to the farmers. The third Wednesday in June Pomona Grange will meet with the Milwaukie Grange, which will be important as the Lewis and Clark Fair will then be under way.

TO STUDY JUVENILE COURTS.—The law creating a juvenile court for the care and control of delinquent children will go into effect in a few days. Judge Frazer is studying the work in other cities before organizing the court in this city, which will probably be done in June. He desires to familiarize himself thoroughly with the methods employed elsewhere. For this purpose he will visit Denver next week, spending a week or ten days investigating the methods used by Judge Lindbergh, who is a leader in juvenile court work. From there he will go to San Francisco to observe the work in the court there. The appointment of W. T. Gardner as probation officer was announced.

WANTS STATE GRANGE IN PORTLAND.—Resolutions were passed at the meeting of Lenta Grange, A. F. Miller, master, Saturday, asking that the state Grange hold its annual meeting in 1906 in Portland. These resolutions are the same as those which have been passed by all the Granges of Multnomah County, and will be presented at the session of the State Grange next week at Forest Grove. Also Lenta Grange passed resolutions favoring the pensioning of Judge Frazer, the founder of the Grange. It is proposed that the National Grange set aside a sum of money for the maintenance of the founder of the order, as he is now old and said to be in need of assistance.

LEAVE FOR THEIR CHARGES.—Bishop C. B. Freytag, who presided at the Evangelical Conference held at Lenta, left yesterday morning for his home in California, where he will hold conference afterward taking a steamer for China to look after the mission under the charge of the Evangelical Association. All the ministers have left for their respective charges, except Rev. G. W. Plummer, former of the First English Church of Portland, who goes to Salem Saturday to become pastor of Chemeketa Church.

REVENUE MEETINGS.—German evangelistic meetings were opened last evening in the German Congregational Church, East Seventh and Stanton streets, Albina. German Methodist, Baptist, Reformed Presbyterian, Evangelical and independent churches have united in these meetings. Evangelist H. B. Rottler will conduct the services. Between today and May 21 meetings will be held every afternoon at 8 o'clock in the German Methodist Church, Rodney avenue and Stanton street.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATION.—The United States Civil Service Commission announces a special examination to be held in this city June 2 for all first grade and open and packer positions in the Portland, Or., customs district. Applications will be accepted up to 3 P. M., May 26. Persons desiring to compete should call on Z. A. Leigh, Postoffice Department, city.

WANTS HIS MONEY.—Thomas Kalanowski has started a suit in the East Side Court to recover $200 on a promissory note and $25 attorney's fees from Ignatz Woodzwa. The note was given March 11, 1905, and it is alleged no part of it has been paid.

DEATH DUE TO ACCIDENT

Martin Toomey, Sixteen Years Old, Falls, Fracturing Skull. After a careful investigation into the death of Martin Toomey, the 16-year-old boy who expired at his home, 35 Sellwood street, yesterday morning, Coroner Finley stated last night that there was no cause for a suspicion of foul play.

Saturday night about 11 o'clock, Arthur Doty and Maurice Burke, two friends of the dead boy, saw him in the North End under the influence of liquor. They aided him to board a streetcar at Third and Gilliam streets, and started to the East Side with the intention of taking him home. Before the bridge was reached the boys considered that they ought not to take him home in that condition, and so they left the car with him near the Goldsmith Hotel in Albina. As he got off the car Toomey fell to the ground, and his companions saw they would be unable to make him walk to his home. They accordingly opened the front door of the Goldsmith and placed him in the hall, thinking that he would become sober in a short time and proceed to his home. Near where Toomey was placed there is a door leading to a flight of steps going into the cellar. It was at the bottom of these steps that Toomey was found at 7 o'clock Sunday morning, with a fractured skull. Circumstances showed that Toomey wandered through the door and fell into the basement. A physician called in attendance stated after examination

WORKING ON CLUB HOUSE

Milwaukie Will Be Asked to Grant It a License. Portland men, represented by Isaac Grattan, have purchased the Church property of about 12 acres at Milwaukie, for $800, and the work of putting up a clubhouse on the north side of the ground in Electric Park has been started. The foundation of the structure is about completed. It will be a one-story building, 125 feet and will be surrounded by a high board fence, so that only members and the "elect" can be admitted. Negotiations have been in progress since the purchase of the farm, adjacent has been leased for some time, with an option to purchase. Mr. Knight, a Portland man, who owns a Summer-house near where the clubhouse is under construction, object to its proximity to his home, and has announced that he will make a fight against it, should it be turned out as expected and become a great gambling-house.

That the purchasers of the property and owners of the proposed clubhouse have prepared the way by some sort of an understanding with the Milwaukie Council No. 11 at a recent meeting. Although there are no commission-houses for horse-racing in Milwaukie as yet, and when the ordinance was passed apparently there were no prospects of any such house being started, but in order to meet a remote possibility—a contingency—Ordinance No. 11 was passed, Section 1 reads: "It is hereby declared unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to carry on the business of stock exchange, or a turf commission-house, or accept a commission or wages in any manner whatever upon the report of horse races without first obtaining a license therefor." The license is fixed at $50 per annum, payable quarterly. No license can be issued for less than three months nor more than one year. Residents of Milwaukie interpose this ordinance to read between the lines as a preparation for this club house. There will be a meeting of the Council tomorrow evening, when it is expected that an application for a license under the ordinance may be made.

FENCE TO HIDE SUGGESTED. Owner of Property Says if This is Done He Can Put Billboard on Top of His Barn. The big whisky sign that disfigures the landscape to the north of the Fair grounds has a legal right to be there. It is on the side of a long cattle shed that runs out into Guille's Lake from the Burrellback slaughter-house, and though fully 15 feet high and 200 feet long, cannot be removed. It is not only outside of the city limits, but is also not an ordinary billboard. A man is privileged to paint the side of a building as he pleases. But it need not be painted over to be hidden. It is within 30 feet of a strip of property in which Paul Van Friesland and James Anderson are the principal owners. It has been suggested that a high fence be built on the dividing line to shut out the sight of the sign from the Fair grounds, in case the whisky house painting it refused to paint it over or allow the Exposition authorities to do so. In such case, however, the whisky manufacturer may erect one on top of the barn, and the possibilities in the way of sky-scraping billboards is unlimited. Nothing could be done to prevent it. The sign was not painted by a local firm, but by traveling painters, supposed to have been sent from San Francisco. They made every effort to obtain space on which to erect the sign, but were not able to obtain space from them. From M. Burrellback they obtained the right to paint the sign for nothing. "They said they would put a good quality of paint on the barn, and that it would preserve the boards," Mr. Burrellback said yesterday, "so I let them do it." When asked whether he would permit the Exposition officials to have the barn repainted, he said he had agreed to leave the sign there. However, he would have no objection to having another coat of paint on the barn, if it could be arranged with the whisky people. If a fence were built to hide the sign, Mr. Burrellback hinted that a billboard might be erected on the barn, and it would take a fence 100 feet high to hide that.

PROBE INTO CROOKEDNESS. Grand Jury Hears Several Witnesses of Importance. F. M. Butler, a member of the Pacific Construction Company, of San Francisco, which built the Morrison-street bridge, and also obtained the contract to construct the Front-street bridge, was a witness yesterday before the county grand jury. The Pacific Construction Company, of San Francisco, secured the contract to build the Front-street bridge for $50,000, after the withdrawal of the $35,000 bid of the Pacific Construction Company, of Everett, Wash. The San Francisco company is alleged to have conspired with J. K. Strode, a contractor in the city, and George F. Heusser and J. R. Bowles are alleged to have been interested in the latter transaction. The grand jury evidently has information that Mr. Butler, who is a member of the grand jury, can tell considerable about bridge contracts if he feels so disposed. The grand jury is said to have begun an investigation concerning other city contracts. Thomas Guinan and V. K. Strode were witnesses yesterday regarding street and bridge work done in South Portland and the method of assessments.

DOWN COME THE NOTICES. ELECTION ADVERTISEMENTS TO BE REMOVED. Candidates Will Comply With the Request of the Board of Civic Improvement. The Board of Civic Improvement is still wrestling with the sign question, and with some show of success. It has taken the stand that the election notices should not be tacked up over all the poles and buildings in the city, and has accordingly addressed letters to the various candidates asking them to remove the notices. The Board has met with favor in most instances and those who wish to read of the qualifications of a prospective office-holder will have to look elsewhere than on telegraph poles and the sides of barns. The bill board nuisance is also in the mind of the Board and some very earnest requests have been made for the removal of the same. It is a work that is slow in accomplishment, as it will be necessary to have certain ordinances passed to give the Board authority to remove the notices. It is expected by the Board of Improvement that as soon as the new Council gets to work it will be an easy matter to secure the passage of an ordinance that will put an end to the obstruction of the whisky and tobacco and other advertisements scattered about nearly all points of vantage over the city.

GRAND COURT FORESTERS. Strong Contest for Officers Is Pro-nounced at Session. Two officers in the Grand Court of the Foresters of America will be fought for this afternoon at the eleventh biennial session. For grand chief ranger, the two strongest candidates are F. T. Bourgeois, of Portland, and Al Schroder, of Astoria, and it is believed to be a neck-and-neck race between them. For financial secretary the contest will be between A. Brauer and K. Klafka, and no one can conjecture how the race will end there. The other officers likely to be elected who are already in the field are: W. H. Klepper, present grand chief ranger; A. L. Brown, of Salem, and John A. Watson, of Portland, for supreme representatives. The most interesting portion of the whole convention will be the election of officers, and there will be a very large attendance on account of the contest.

CLOSED THEIR DOORS. The Boston Store, corner of First and Salmon streets, which has for several years been one of Portland's popular dry-goods houses, was closed this morning. The entire $100,000 stock is now in the hands of G. W. Groves & Co., the world's greatest bargain-givers. Watch the daily papers for further particulars.

Lounson, William Friedlander and Isador Gumbert.

GEN OUTSIDE LIMIT

City Officials Are Not Able to Force Removal. Portland men, represented by Isaac Grattan, have purchased the Church property of about 12 acres at Milwaukie, for $800, and the work of putting up a clubhouse on the north side of the ground in Electric Park has been started. They Give Some Interesting Exhibitions at the Gymnasium. Forty girls standing upon one another's shoulders until they were almost as tall as the roof was the most daring of the feats done at the ladies' annual exhibition at the gymnasium last night. In addition, there were club swinging, marching, fancy marching, calisthenics, physical culture movements—all the pretty and graceful things the names of which convey no idea of their charm. The prettiest of the exhibition were a Scotch dance and Highland fling by Miss Rosie Forbes, and a schottische figure danced by eight young ladies. Miss Katherine Washburn and Miss Eleanor Gansmiller led. The others were Misses Ella Steinhilber, Lenia, Clara Kleeman, Anna McMicken, Katharine Breerton and Mrs. G. A. Hoffman. The evening ended with a game of basket-ball between the evening and morning classes, the former winning by 16 to 3.
