Birileff Will Have Charge of Fleet in Pacific.

NO DIVISION OF AUTHORITY

Russian Admiral Will Conduct De fense of Vladivostok, but Will Not Supplant Rojestvensky. New Squadron Forming.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 29.-(2:10 A M.)-Vice-Admiral Birlieff, who has been named for the supreme naval command in the Pacific, will leave for Viadivostok on May 25, to assume charge there and make preparations for repairing and refitting the vessels of vice-Admiral Ro-jestvensky's ficet when they arrive. By imperial command, Vice-Admiral Birlleff will have all the rights and pow-erg of a commander of the army, and the commander of the Vindivosiok garrison will be subject to his orders, thereby avoiding the possibility of any conflict of authority in case of a slege, as at Port

Not to Relieve Rojestvensky.

"I have no intention of relieving Vice-Admiral Rojestvensky of the immediate command of the fleet, if he is well and able to perform his duties on his arrival at Vladivostok," said the Admiral, who is small of stature and scant of hair, but keen and alert in bearing. "I have high respect for his qualifications as a fleet commander, and there will be plenty for oth of us to do."

Admiral Birileff, who, in spite of his 64 years, is overflowing with energy, has the reputation of being a strict disciplinarian. He expressed himself hopefully over the prospects for the Russians in the coming navat encounter. He said he believed the Russian Pacific fleet was destined to re-store Russia's supremacy on the sea, which was lost at the very outbreak of the war,

MUST DEFEND INDO - CHINA.

Report to French Parliament Shows Fear of Japan.

PARIS, May 19.—M. Francois Delon-cie, Republican Deputy for Indo-China, has submitted to the special parlia-mentary committee on naval affairs a of Indo-China against the peril of a of Indo-China against the person Japanese invasion.

"Indo-China," he says, "has only two enemies to fear, namely, Japan alone, or China, encouraged and supported by Japan. The former constitutes a real danger, for Japan has much to gain and little to risk, and her isolated position makes her almost invulnerable to us. She could in a few weeks throw 160,000 men into Indo-China, and easily reinforce this first landing party.

'The first phase of such a struggle would consist of Japan's efforts to secure mastery of the sea, in order to reinforce her troops. Owing to Japan's sreat superiority in naval forces in far Eastern waters, our feeble division could not risk a decisive battle, but would fall back on our only naval base, Saigon. There it would be block-aded as the Russians were blockaded within Port Arthur. With our division thus bottled up, Japan could oppose the junction of the blockaded with the relief squadron, and, having secured the lief squadron, and, having secured the mastery of the sea, Japanese trans-ports would be free to land invading forces. She has two admirable an-chorages ready for her transports at Kamranh Bay and Port Dayet. She probably would take the first, as near-er to Salgon. Japan would thus be es-tablished on the sea route connecting tablished on the sea route connecting Tonquin and Cochin-China, and who could prevent it. In the present condi-tion of our defenses, could we resist such an attack? Evidently not, and within a brief time Indo-China would be the prey of the invader." The report then examines the means which it is necessary to adopt for the defense of the colony, and says the best solution of the problem is strong-ly to reinforce Indo-China, so that the colony might be able to defend itself for several months against the Japan-ese until the French naval divisions could reach the theater of operations. The programme to accomplish this consists of a large augmentation of the naval force in the far East, an increase of the military force of occupation to a minimum of $5,000 men, the establishment of strong naval bases at Salgon, Kamranh Bay, Allong Bay and Pulecondor, and the establish-ment of torpedoboat and submarine-boat stations at Cape St. James, Kamranh Bay and Turan.

The report concludes by asserting that it would be puerile to disregard the gravity of the situation, and that therefore, it is necessary to make large sacrifices to place Indo-China in readiness to meet the shock.

Detailed estimates are given of the cost of the work, namely: The fortification of Tohquin, guns and armament, $22,000,000; cost defenses, including strengthening the naval base at Saigon, $14,000,000, and the establishment of torpedo and other stations, $6,000,000, a total of $42,000,000.

M. Deloncle is a member of the spe-cial par!lamentary committee on naval affairs, which appointed him to submit a report, with a programme of the defenses necessary to place Indo-China in a condition to resist an attack.

RUSSIAN FIRE NOT EFFICIENT British General Tells Why Japanese Stormed Positions.

LONDON, May 13.—A general signing himself an "African Brigadier" is out with a statement warning Great Britain against hastily altering her military methods because of the so-called lessons of the war in the Far East. He says in part:

"Primarily there is the question of the attack. Are we to accept without ques-tion that positions can be stormed en masse, if held, say by Germans, French or Americans? Is it not a fact that the rifle in the hands of the Russian peasant soldlery was not utilized to the full extent of which it is capable in repelling ered by efficient rifle fire.

"I, for one, would not like to lead troops in such circumstances against an army skilled in the use of the rifle. Will with searchlights?

"Napoleon said that fire is everything, and the rest of small account. In the case of the Russians it was the fire that had been of small account; therefore let us have ample evidence that the les-sons of the war are drawn from fairly normal conditions before we alter our methods. Personally I am of the opinion that no attack in mass of any kind can survive efficient rifle fire."

Japanese Movements Indicate Nea Attack on Russian Right.

GUNSHU PASS, Manchuria, May 18.

The weather has cleared and the roads, washed out by the recent rains are impassable, but they will soon dry. The present truce is expected to be broken by the Japanese. They are showing every evidence of preparation to assume the offensive constantly shifting positions and pressing the Russian left, where the cavalry forces are daily exchanging shots.

The demonstration on the Russian left, however, is probably only a feint to cover the real stroke at the right. This is thought more probable beof the care with which the Japare screening the movements right, using Chinese, ban freely for this purpose. The attempts of the Russian scouts to pierce the curtain have not been successful. Profiting by past experience, a new sys-tem for the transportation of wounded men from the battleheld by means of pack horses has been organized. Experiments have shown good results.

ON REGULATION OF RATES

Interstate Commissioner Makes Caus tic Allusion to Fortune Founded on Rebates-Steel Trust Admits Low Export Price.

WASHINGTON, May 19.-Both sides of the rate-hearing questions were repre-sented at the session today of the Sen-ate committee on interstate commerce Interstate Commerce Commissioner Judson Clements was the star witness, de-tailing the difficulties that confronted the commission in its work and answering at-tacks made on that body, particularly a number of criticisms by James J. Hill. Satisfaction with the present conditions was attested by Frederick L. Lyster, of Fredonia, Kan., and others.

Mr. Clements spoke sarcastically of the claim that only traffic men had the understanding necessary to make rates, and declared that in the hearings an effort had been made to turn the investiga-tion into a criticism of the commission, Mr. Clements saying that it was not in-tended in the proposed legislation to con-fer general rate-making power on the commission. In answering a question of Mr. Dolliver, Mr. Clements declared that the decision in the maximum rate case. the decision in the maximum rate case. which held that the power allowed to be exercised would give authority to fix all rates, went too fer. The commission, he said, would deal with complaints as Clements, in referring to statements of Professor Meyer, of the Chicago University, whom he called a "doctrin-aire," suggested that there was "an aris-tocracy of wealth which could hire men to advocate the theory of vested rights against the rights of individuals." and asserted "that the patron saint of the in-stitution to which Mr. Meyer belongs had a colossal fortune built up by rebates enabling him to obtain the property of competitors." He said that in the press and colleges were found the advocates of the superiority of vested rights.

Referring to J. J. Hill's alleged aspersion of the Commission for not correcting unjust and extortionate terminal charges in New York, he said that the condition described by Mr. Hill did not exist there. The only time the Commission had any dealings with Mr. Hill was in the investigation of the North-Securities case, which finally ended h a decision of the Supreme Court that with a decision of the Supreme Court that Mr. Hill and his associates were engaged in a conspiracy.

Mr. Hearne-declared that rebates and

Mr. Hearne denied that any rebates were granted to his company by the Santa Pe-road, and said that his company received only the price of the coal after freight charges had been deducted by the Santa

He was my friend and my counselor, and some five years ago, in one of those rare moments of inlimacy which come to us, he said that he hoped to bave me say the words of farewell at his grave. I feel saddened to think that my absence pre-vented me from fulfilling the promise made at that time.

Judge Bellinger was a just, an upright and a fearless Judge. When he took the office he told me one of the reasons governing his acceptance of the trust, to use his own words. That I can conduct the office that was mine to fill in the cause of righteourness. He used the office in the cause of righteourness, and it always seemed to me that he used it in the cause of truth. He was better than a believer in God's word-he was a doer of God's word. It may be said in the words used in olden times upon the announcement of death, 'Blessed be the Judge of Truth!' These words may well be said of him who

It was a unique spectacle, and it was doubtful if Goethe, Shakespeare or Dante could call forth the enthusiasm displayed on the occasion.
