President P. L. Campbell Tells of the Conditions and the Increase in the Number of Students for the Last Year.

A special meeting of the Board of Regents of the University of Oregon was held at the office of C. A. Dolph yenterday, with the following members present; R. S. Bean, C. A. Dolph, Frederick V. Holman, S. H. Friendly, C. J. Ainsworth and M. A. Miller.

The principal purpose of the meeting was to discuss the finances of the University in light of the recent action of the and faculty of the university, the time of opening the session was fixed for the Wednesday following the last Tuesday in September, which this year comes on Sep-tember Z. The session will close correspondingly later in June.

An offer extended to the University by W. J. Brysn, through the courtesy of the death of Regent Bellinger, and ap-pointed Mr. Holman, Mr. Dolph and Mr. Ainsworth a committee to prepare a me-morial of his life and character, to be presented to the board at its June meet-Subsequent to the meeting. P. L. Camp-Subsequent to the meeting P. L. Campbell, president of the University, discussed University finances with respect to the effect of the referendum. "Our regular appropriation is $45,500, and with some other sources of income, such as the land fund, our total income is about $55,000," said he. "The growth of the institution has made necessary an increase in the reaching force, so that the expenditure exceeds our regular receipts about $3000. exceeds our regular receipts about $3000. The board will have to arrange to reduce the deficiency, but there will be no reduction in the teaching force. The lack of funds will crowd us somewhat, but we shall get along. The prospective library and equipments through the referendum, must be delayed.

"After cutting out the preparatory department, the University has gained in students about 15 or 20 per cent over last year. The outlook is for a good gain year. The outlook is for a good gain next year. The increased number of high schools with four-year terms will prove a good source for students. The growth in the number of students from Portland high schools and academies has been re-markable. The total number of students at the University is now about 500, of whom 200 are in the college at Eugene."

PRACTICAL MARKET LESSON

land who are to be taken in hand by the new Inspector of Markets. Miss Tingle doesn't think she is doing her full duty when she merely tells delinquent butchers doesn't think she is doing her full duty when she merely tells delinquent butchers how often to wash their hands and change the sawdust on their floors. She believes that there is missionary work to be done among the housewives. Yesterday, at the School of Domestic Science, she gave her first "marketing" lesson, about $5 ladies were present, and to judge by the smiles on their faces at the close of the lesson they had gathered a pieasing and satisfying portion of knowledge. For the nonce the School of Domestic Science was turned into a butcher's shop, A whole side of beef reposed, with as much elegance as it could assume, on a marble slab. At a telephone call from Inspector Tingle, Mr. Rudin, of the Portland Market, appeared in his freshest frock and proceeded to cut up the beef "critter" and show the ladies its topography, so to speak, All the different cutasticolus, chucks, T-bones, short riba and the rest—were dilated on until each lady present feit that hereafter no butcherpresent feit that hereafter no butcher-man would be able to impose on her when she ordered beef from the market. Then Miss Tingie proceeded to tell in what ways the different pieces could be poked, what the relative prices should be and how to tell good meat from poor. She pointed her remarks by reference to a chart of the dissected side of beef which the had drawn on the blackboard.

In succeeding lessons of this course Miss Tingle will show the ladies how a sheep should be cut up, also a calf. Then she will tell some interesting things about the proper preparation of poultry and vegetables for the market, and last, but not least, she will lead her flock affeld on visits to various marketmen of Poctland, where they may see the practical applica-
