Speaker Auxious to Win Fall Elections First-Action on Tariff Is Held Off to Avoid Jugglery by Railroad Forces.

WASHINGTON, May 22 -President Roosevelt today relierated his intention to call Congress in extra session October 16 next to consider railroad rate regulation legislation.

WASHINGTON, May 22-(Special.) this Full, will be asked to deal with the railroad rate question and not with the While the President realizes thor oughly the importance of both topics, he sees in the rate question the paramount issue, and for fear of jugglery will give to Congress only one question at a tim to deal with. arms on the rate question. He has, there fore, for the time being, dismissed the tariff question from his mind as part of business of the special session. There is a prospect of delay in the time for calling the special session. The date was originally set by the President as October 16, but Speaker Cannon and others are urging a postponement until after the November elections, in order that the Republicans may put in their best licks in Ohio, Massachusetts, Virginia and New York City. The President has not yet changed his mind on the date, but will consider the question carefully. Mr

Carmon has suggested November 13 as a grod date for the special session, but this would postpone the session nearly a month and would leave only three weeks before the beginning of the regular ses-In that time not much progress be made on the railroad-rate ques-

The opponents of rate legislation are eager for delay and it is not improbable that further pressure may be brought to bear on the President.

Another question which may come at the special session is the relations of the United States and Venezuela. The Administration has shown an inclination to punish Venezuels for breaking a contract, but the decision of the Court of Cassation practically confiscating the property of the New York & Bermudes Asphalt Company will hardly be made a casus belli unless Congress so decides. President Castro will be given every opportunity to decide upon arbitration as solution of the trouble. If he persists in ignoring it. Congress will be nformed of the situation and given the Japanese Statesmen Expect No Intervention, and Discuss Terms,

TOKIO, Thursday, April 27.—Count Okums, former Premier and Minister of Foreign Affairs, in an interview on the question of intervention, said that a great change in the lines of diplomacy of differ-ent powers being the natural outcome of the present war. It was difficult to make a prophecy. Increasing closer relations between England and France was already one of the very significant phenomena resulting from the war. The Count declared that Germany could have no other feeling than one of satisfaction at finding her northern rival becoming gradually weakened by the war, and would recognize the foolishness of antagonising Japan if Germany would maintain and develop her interests in the Far East.

Okuma saw no occasion for intervention unless a European conference could be formed, and he could not understand who would take the initiative, so long as Germany did not suffer by the war. Germany, he asserted, was reaping benefits of various kinds, and would follow the policy of "get the best and as much as possible."

w to conclude peace. It seems to me that the ultimate result is left to whatever the future may bring to Russia. There seems to be no prearranged plan. Should Russia be determined to hold Vladivostok, it would be to her advantage to conclude peace, and her policy is devoid of any definite plan, so there can be no occasion for a third power to attempt intervention in the near future.

"Even the loss of Vladivostok might not prompt Russia to seek peace. She could go on retreating indefinitely, hoping to exhaust us thereby. We might take Harbin and go further north, but Russia could continue her policy of retreat, thereby giving no occasion for a third party to intervene. Should Russia ask for peace we shall insist on an unconditional armistice, and woen the negotiations are opened we shall require Russia to return Manchurla to China, recognize our sovercouris to China recognize our sover-eignity over Corea, cede Sakhalin to us, remove permanently the fortifica-tions of Viadivestok and pay an in-demnity of at least two billion yen (one billion dollars).

"Such liberal terms will afford no oc casion for intervention. The scene of hostilities in Manchuria being without any special interest to the powers, none of them would be prompted to take ac-tion to stop the war. On the contrary the war is affording a lucrative trade to some of them in supplying materials for war. Locked at from a diplomatic standpoint, Germany, seeing her East-ern danger lessened by the war and Rursia gradually weakened, will enter-tain hope of further reduction in the strength of her formidable neighbor. England will feel satisfaction over the blows dealt by her ally to her traditional

"The United States, much as she sympathines with us, will not welcome an excessive levelopment of Japan's power, lest it should cause future trouble, and would not view with dis-favor the gradual weakening of both combatants. France alone must be sincerely desirous of seeing the war terminate but single-anaded she can do nothing to cause any change. Both the present and the future to my mind and view afford no sign of the possi-bility of intervention, and I am prepared to say that the time has not yet come to taik of peace. In fact, there never will be an occasion for interven-tion and the war will last long."

The plan of the St. Paul management to reach the Pacific Ocean is fairly definite. The plan contemplates an extension of the main line of the St. Paul scross Wyoming to a connection in the Snake River Valley with the main line under control of the Oregon Short Line. The objective point is Belling-nam Ray Wash

The plan does not appear to contem plate any great amount of new building. The St. Paul will probably push is own lines west from Chamberlain via the Black Hills to a connection with the Oregon line in the southeastern corner of Idaho. It is understood that right of way will be granted on re-quest either by the Union Pacific lines or by the Great Northern and North-ern Facific lines in Washington. The plan carries no threat to either he Union Pacific or the Hill systems The new line of the St. Paul will open entirely new territory and will not be an invasion of either Hill or Harriman country. Undoubtedly the building of the Great Northern was the cause of the great boom in the Northwest, which ins created to new Northern Pacific. If the St. Paul opens new territory in the West, it will undoubtedly have a similar effect. As the Northwest grows, so will not only the new line but also the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific neoner.

Pacific proper.

The St. Paul wants to carry a share of the fise and fruit, eggs and poultry and vegetables of the Columbia and Puget Sound country to Chicago: it wants a share of the immense shingle and lumber business: It wants a share of the Pacific trade, and therefore it is going to Puget Sound. But there is room enough for the St. Paul and for any other railroad seeking to share in level. Cracking timbers gave the alarm, the good fortune of the wonderful and 300 miners fled for their lives and State of Washington.
