RAISING A BUILDING FUND.—Milwaukee Grange, Patrons of Husbandry, has decided either to purchase the Town Hall, which is the old schoolhouse standing back of the new building, or it will put a hall on grounds offered for the purpose by T. R. A. Sellwood. O. A. Freitag, who purchased the prize wagon given Clark County Grange, is in charge of the fund-raising campaign. The Grange hopes to clear $100 out of the wagon, which sum will be added to the building fund. This Grange has more than 100 active members. Mrs. M. L. Roberts is the master.

CONCERN IN THE "MOTHERS" AND TEACHERS' CLUB of the Brooklyn School, believing there was urgent need of an emergency couch in a school building where there are 400 pupils, purchased one last week, and presented it to the Brooklyn School. Yesterday it was used several times by children who became suddenly ill and could not be taken home until better. The club will know from actual use that the emergency couch is very useful in a schoolhouse. The Brooklyn building is the only one in the city provided with an emergency couch.

GREYHOUND SCHOOLS TO CLOSE.—The Greaham School and High School department will close Friday, May 25. Examinations in the grammar grades were completed last week. There has been an average attendance of 115 out of a total enrollment of 200. In the High School there was an average enrollment of 50 students. Five have completed the 11th-grade studies. It is probable that an addition will be built to the school this summer. Professor A. F. Hersher is principal of the school.

MAYOR WILLIAMS WILL BE RE-ELECTED. says Wanda, Portland's most popular palmist, his hand suggests that he will be re-elected. The more opposition and newspaper notoriety the better success for Mayor Williams. The opposing party will elect Mayor Williams with a vote of 100 to 1. He will be re-elected on his term of office, with honor and credit to his party. If not, I will give up my profession as a palmist.

City Offenders Before Municipal Judge Hogue

"I did the best I could, and from what I have heard of it, I guess I did a pretty good job," said Dan Lovell to Judge Hogue, when arraigned in Municipal Court yesterday morning, charged with fighting.

Hans Jarstrand, a Norwegian, was the other combatant. Each blamed the other, but Hans was ill and unable to be in court. Daniel was there to tell about it.

"It happened just outside the Oxford saloon," said Daniel. "I heard a scream out there, and went out to see what it was. It was dark, and before I knew what was doing, I was struck a terrible blow over the head. From behind, I turned, and saw a man, now known to be Jarstrand. I braced myself, walked into the fray and I'm satisfied with the outcome. I have had no satisfaction, and don't care to see him again."

Judge Hogue rather thought Daniel was somewhat to blame for going outside the saloon, but Deputy City Attorney Fitzgerald was of the opinion that the scream heard by the defendant, Daniel, was sufficient to cause any good citizen to rush out and investigate. That Hans was there to assault Daniel, Mr. Fitzgerald thought; was too aggressive for any good Norwegian. However, Daniel, according to his own admission, fought. Therefore, he should be punished, as the peace and dignity of the city would be upheld, said Mr. Fitzgerald.

To settle the matter, Judge Hogue fined each fighter $10. Hans paid his, but Daniel may have to serve his out in the City Jail.

The human head was not originally intended for use as a billiard table, but that was the use the head of B. Holmes was put to by Charles May last Sunday. If the complainant's allegations are true, however, Mr. May's innovation did not work well, which shows that nature knew best when creating the human head. The ball used by Mr. May sank into the scalp, laying it open for a considerable distance, and causing Mr. Holmes some pain. Humiliation was also mixed with the agony, and in order to soothe both, Mr. Holmes came into the Municipal Court yesterday morning and secured a warrant for the arrest of May.

May is a young backdrifter, and Mr. Holmes belongs to the Longshoremen's International Union. May has been fined before. Recently, when he was inspecting the new City Jail, a policeman asked: "How many of those new cells did you pay for?"

"I've put enough coin into that jail to buy three backs," was the reply.

For snoring around of nights, having nothing specific to do, Charles Grant was fined $10 yesterday by Judge Hogue.

"That will hold him until about the close of June," said Judge Hogue. "He can work up his muscle a little bit by breaking rock on his pile, and it will be of great benefit to him. The defendant has a great tale of woe to tell concerning a young man who complained against him, saying he had been robbed by the young man. This was disproved, however, by Grant himself, whose word, it became clear, was hardly worth believing. He lived at Des Moines, Ia., originally, but when booked at police headquarters, gave to Captain Moore Detroit, Mich., as his home. Other evidence that accrued against him caused Judge Hogue to impose the fine."

"Kid" Harrington was held to the grand jury yesterday, when arraigned before Judge Hogue on a charge of larceny from the person.

Harrington was charged with the theft of a gold watch from Charles L. Blakeley, a member of the Police Department, and evidence is said to be pretty strong against the accused. Blakeley was fined but the defendant was unable to furnish the required amount, and was remanded to the County Jail.

Harrington is the man who, about one year ago, stole a $10 bill from John Briggs, a well-known miner of Southern Oregon. Harrington served a term in the County Jail for that, and was just released.

REASON FOR ANNEXATION

AS A PRECAUTION AGAINST EPI-DEMIC IT IS WISE.

Physician Declares That Mount Tabor District Should Come In and Be Sewered.

PORTLAND, Or., May 22.—(To the Editor)—The voters of this city will soon have an opportunity to determine as to whether or not the territory lying between Mount Tabor and the city shall be annexed, and in my humble opinion should vote "yes" upon the question.

If one goes to the end of the Mount Tabor car line and sees the vast tract of farming land around and near Mount Tabor, he might find reason to object to admitting "Mount Tabor," which in a general way is the name of the region extending from Burnside half way out to Greham, but this present proposal does not contemplate the admission of the real Mount Tabor at all. It merely contemplates taking in the very thickly populated section altogether west of Mount Tabor, and lying between Mount Tabor and the city. This little piece of territory, just a section of ground, contains thousands of people living in their own homes, law-abiding, enterprising persons who are largely interested in Portland's success, and the majority of whom desire to become legally a portion of this city. No similar section about Portland has a larger number of the homes of prominent citizens.

The fact that we have too much sparsely settled territory already within the city limits, which as a broad statement is true, is no reason to have a section of the city added, which is not a section of the city.

We desire our city to grow, and we also desire to have credit for such growth. The annexation of this territory would be an inflexible rule like this would be an extremely unfortunate one for those who would strive for its maintenance. As a result, we would see all elements desiring change, and opposed to restrictive measures, and the result would be just the opposite of what we are desiring by opponents of the present movements.

But Portland has more than ordinary interest in the present matter, and from a sanitary standpoint and as an act of self-protection, should long ago have taken in this particular section, even if the citizens in the area had not desired to join interests with the city.

This ground is full of springs. While here and there some persons may live upon elevated knolls and have drainage, and possibly be themselves contented, the greater portion of this section is either upon or subject to the overflow drainage of spring ground. In fact, certain portions of this territory should never have been platted until supplied with sewer facilities.

The region to the east is a most beautiful one. The people who have made their homes here have not realized until settlement the seriousness of the drainage problem there.

Composed of have been built and then rapidly filled. There in many cases have had no drainage, because water has been encountered at the depth of a few feet. New cesspools have then had to be built. These cesspools, indeed, in many cases have overflowed at different seasons. Nowhere else in Portland does such an alarming condition prevail, and as sections have become famous for their condition has become intensified. The cesspool at best is but the forerunner of sewer drainage in any city. Here conditions are the very worst, and I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician, and as now in this public manner, that if something is not done to relieve present conditions as I have stated them, that a great deal of trouble, diphtheria, typhoid fever or similar disease will overtake this section, and when this does occur, such sewage will also lay its hands upon the whole of Portland.

This condition, which is a menace to the entire city, is to be met in but one way—annexation and a sewer system for this region.

I favor the annexation because it is a thickly settled section, lying against a thickly populated portion of the present city, in the interest of a reasonable "Greater Portland," and because I believe that we should be glad to see our city grow in all sections, and should not discriminate against this region as some are doing, because it is "on the East Side."

Our East Side citizens are among our very best. I feel, however, very strongly that it were better to have a sewer system added to this section to our present city area, we must protect the city against what might easily become a source of pest for the whole city, and which would be a disgrace to the region and permitting the inhabitants to build these cesspools. Under the law, they will pay for such sewers themselves.

Calico Bass in Columbia.
 Calico bass have appeared in the Columbia River, and of late a small number have been caught. The average caught with black bass is about 1 in 100. This species of the bass family has never been imported to these waters, and the appearance has been somewhat of a surprise. The calico bass here have no yellow on them, as have those in the East. One that was caught in the Columbia Slough will be on exhibition for the next few days in the window of J. K. Gill & Co., at Third and Alder streets.

INDICTED FOR JORDAN

Father and Son Accused by Their Associates.

EMBEZZLEMENT A CHARGE

The Two Are Accused of Falsifying the Records of the International Manufacturing and Mining Company, by Jury.

Henry Clay Jordan, president of the International Manufacturing and Mining Company, was indicted by the grand jury yesterday for embezzlement of $1500 from the company. The facts as stated are that Jordan sold Dr. H. E. Wright certain shares of stock and received from Dr. Wright a deed for two lots in Holladay's Addition. Jordan obtained this deed in his own name, and mortgaged the property, so it is alleged, and kept the money. The witnesses who appeared before the grand jury against Jordan were: N. W. Rountree, E. K. Wright, Frank Motter, Dr. H. E. Wright, V. V. Rand, L. F. Graham and S. C. Spencer, all of whom are interested in the affairs of the company.

The grand jury also indicted Jordan and his son, O. M. Jordan, for falsifying the books of the corporation to make it appear that the action of Henry Clay Jordan in converting this $1500 to his own use was ratified by the board of directors of the company, when such was not the case. The accused are at liberty on bail.

SUE TO CANCEL POLICIES.
 Four Men Accuse Insurance Agents of Gross Deception.

Suits against the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance Company to cancel policies were begun in the State Circuit Court yesterday by Robert I. Seelye, Herman Pape, Marion Young and W. W. Parrott. The defendants are Mark T. Keady, supervisor of agents and E. J. Diven, an agent of the company. The plaintiffs applied for a $5000 policy each, except Parrott, who asked for $10,000 insurance. False representations were made in the very thickly populated section altogether west of Mount Tabor, and lying between Mount Tabor and the city. This little piece of territory, just a section of ground, contains thousands of people living in their own homes, law-abiding, enterprising persons who are largely interested in Portland's success, and the majority of whom desire to become legally a portion of this city. dent occurred on November 4, 1904. It was agreed between William T. Muir, counsel for the company, and William M. Rudeen, attorney for the plaintiff, to try the case without a jury and allow Judge George to fix the amount of damages. His Honor, after hearing the evidence on both sides, took the matter under advisement.

Sues Street-Railway Company.
 Charles S. Rudeen alleges that he was put off a streetcar on Holladay avenue, two weeks ago, by a conductor, after having been struck several times by the conductor. Yesterday, through his attorney, Waldemar Seton, he filed suit against the Portland Consolidated Railway Company for $5000 damages.

Rudeen, in his complaint, sets forth that he obtained a transfer from a Morrison-street car and boarded another car at Third and Morrison streets, handing the transfer to the conductor at the time. Subsequently, the conductor came to him and demanded his fare, and he declined, saying he had already paid it. The conductor then refused to receive the transfer, and Rudeen avers that he called two passengers to prove that the conductor was mistaken, and then gave the conductor a nickel. It is alleged further in the complaint that the controversy continued, ending in the conductor forcing Rudeen from the car and striking him several times.

Will Filed for Probate.
 The will of T. B. Allen, deceased, was admitted to probate in the County Court yesterday. The property, valued at $12,000, consisted of 40 acres of land, a house and lot on Sixth street, near Jackson, and an undivided one-half of lot 3, block 12, Portland, is devised to Mary Ann Allen, the widow, for life. The remainder in fee is bequeathed to Lilly B. Allen, a daughter. Wiley B. Allen, a son, and Lilly B. Allen are named as executors.

Poker-Players Plead Guilty.
 Walter Davis, Henry Schaefer, J. T. Locke, Fred Talbot, T. W. Perkins and J. W. Jenkins, arrested by Sheriff Wood and held in a house at 288 Burnside street, pleaded guilty in Judge Cleveland's court yesterday, and will be sentenced today. Ed Kavanaugh, who is under indictment for conducting the game as proprietor, pleaded not guilty, and will stand trial.

File Incorporation Articles.
 Incorporation articles of Barnes, Warden Company were filed in the County Clerk's office yesterday by E. M. Bayless, W. L. Warden and Harry Oellison, capital stock, $2000. The objects announced are to operate places of amusement, entertainment and refreshment.

Furbanks Are Divorced.
 Fred W. Furbank was divorced from Daisy E. Furbank yesterday by Judge Cleveland. They were married in January, 1901.

Wheat Freights Reduced.
 It is announced by the freight department of the Great Northern Railway Company that wheat freights to the coast will be reduced 10 cents per bushel, effective June 1.
