under false pretenses a passport intended to be fraudulently used by some other person, thus endangering the peaceful relations between the British and Russian nations. The Solicitor-General, Sir Ed-ward Carson, made a statement in behalf of the crown, and after some unimportant evidence had been given, the case was adjruoned for a fortnight.

The Solicitor-General in his statement explained how the defendant obtained the passport subsequently in possession of the man who was killed by the premature explosion of a bomb in the Hotel Bristol, saying it was accomplished by "deliber-ately deceiving the Foreign Secretary." he Solicitor-General also presented a tatement made by Brallsford admitting hat he had agreed with a person connected with the revolutionary movement in Russia to furnish the latter with some passports on this person's express prom-ise that they should only be used for the purpose of a peaceful propaganda. The Russian Ambassador occupied a seat on

In this connection the Associated Press learns that the Russian secret service men police are investigating the source of the fice, considerable sums of money sent from London to Russian agitators. They are also collecting evidence regarding the methods of transmission of, these sub-scriptions with the intention of arresting the recipients or seizing the funds while on their way to the agitators.

The trial is exciting great political intorest. Would it be trespassing on too delicate ground if I ventured to suggest that the con-verse ought to be true; that there ought to be politics at home in dealing with the em basey's working.

Mr. Reid referred humorously to the exaction made upon the Ambassador to Great Britain with regard to public speeches, and added:

Not Sole Duty to Make Speeches. Really, gentlemen, however much appear ances may sometimes tend to a contrary view, the work of speechmaking is not the chief duty for which the country sends out its ambassador. the Elysee Palace today, President Lou- CAN'T KILL YELLOW JACK Mosquitoes on Isthmus Will Always > OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Wash Ington, May 18.-Notwithstanding assur-ances from time to time by the Panama Canal Commission, and from other official sources, it is much to be questioned if danger from yellow fever will ever be en-tirely removed from the Canal Zone. The risk may be greatly reduced; the disease may, to a great measure be held in check, but it is the opinion of many reliable men who have visited the Isthmus and studied its conditions, that yellow fever will never be entirely eradicated.

> Science now generally accepts the theory that yellow fever is spread by mosquitoes. The disease germs are carried by this means only, so it has been determined after most careful study, and the carrying agent is always a certain type of mosquito known through Mexico, Central and South America. This being the fact there will be danger from yellow fever just as long as there are mosquitoes to spread the disease, and there will be mosquitoes as long as conditions are mosquitoes as long as conditions favorable to the breeding of the pest. According to well-informed men who have recently been to Panama, physical and climatic conditions in that country are most favorable to the breeding of are most favorable to the breeding of fever-carrying mosquitoes. There is no breeze or wind, except at rare intervals; the atmosphere, continually baked by the sun, is heavy and oppressive, and fre-quently the air is most stiffing to Ameri-cans. On the Atlantic side of the Isthmus there is very little tide, the water in the harbors and in sea-level streams remains stagnant, and is conducive to other dis ase, besides yellow fever. The collection f sewage is one of the principal causes of pollution of this water, and a material contributor to unsanitary conditions.

At the western end of the propo-canal there is more tide, but the abse of winds results in very slight change in the water in the Gulf of Panams, and this body, like the sea on the east, becomes more or less stagnant and laden with sewage and other refuse.

It is true, as stated by the commission that swamps along the line of the canal, which are now great breeders of mos-quitoes are to be drained, and to that extent the mosquite pest will be elimi-nated. But there appears to be no cure for the unsanitary conditions in the har-bors and rivers, and it seems probable that there will always be stagnant water. one place or another, near the canal. Furthermore, vessels touching at Panama and Colon will many times come from yellow fever ports; mosquitoes are often carried in cargoes, and there will be danger from this source, even were san-itary conditions along the canal perfect. Just now there seems to be a yellow-fever panic on the Isthmus; employes of the commission are resigning and re-turning to this country; many others are threatening to resign. To check this threatening to resign. To check this movement the Canal Commission offers increased salaries as an inducement to men to stay, and their tactics have been men to stay, and their tactics have been partially successful. But before the canal is completed, it is the confident belief of intelligent men who have been over the canal route that yellow fever will have an appailing list of victims to its credit, and these men pause to ask if the salaries paid are ample inducement to a man to risk his life on the Isthmus.

There is a duty of an ambassador more important even than prompting good will. An ambassador is sent to look after the interests of his own country. Happy is his lot if the interests of the country that sends him abroad and those of the country to which he is sent are not conflicting. If, unbappily, these interests are found to conflict, the moet injurious and most treacherous fault an ambassador can commit is to sacrifice the interests of his own country in the deliberate and sordid hope of retraining persona graits in the country in which he temporarily resides.

Requests that the commercial bodies of Portland and Astoria exert their every Portland and Astoria exert their every influence with the Government to get the Chinook back to work again are included. A detailed statement of what the jetty has accomplished toward deepening the channel suring it years as compared with the few months' work of the dredge is also to be a part of the petition. When the movement is well under way in Astoria, the documents are to be laid before the Portland Chamber of Commerce. The Astoria people believe it will be useless to present this petition to the United States Engineer's office in Portland, because Major Langitt has already land, because Major Langfitt has already announced that the appropriation made for the Columbia this year will be expended upon the jetty extension and not upon the operation of the Chinook. The documents will be sent to Washington. The Chinook has been lying idle at the Government moorings at Linnton for several Government moorings at Linnton for sev eral months. Her crew were discharged last month. Several Portland shipping men believe that the same amount of money spent upon the letty as upon the Chinook's operation will do more good in deepening the channel. Major Langfitt, who is out of the city at present, has said that the channel now being used by vessels is some distance from the places where the dredge worked. But there is a general belief that the Chinook's operation was a benefit, although her expenses were extremely high, and it was a disappoint-ment when she was laid off for the year.

Every woman covets shapely, pretty figure, and many of them deplore the loss of their girlish forms after marriage. The bearing of children is often destructive to the mother's shapeliness.

All of this can be avoided, however, by the use of Mother's Friend before baby comes, as this great liniment always prepares the body for the strain upon it, and preserves the symmetry of her form: Mother's Friend overcomes all the danger of child-birth, and carries the experient mother safely through this critical period without pain. It is woman's greatest blessing. Thousands gratefully tell of the benefit and relief derived from the use of this wonderful remedy. Sold by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle. Our little book, telling all about this liniment, will be sent free.

VITAL WEAKNESS

Above all other things, we strive to save the thou-sands of young and middle-aged men who are plung-ing toward the grave, tortured by the woes of nervous debility. We have evolved a special treatment for Nervous Debility and special weakness that is uniformly successful in cases where success was before and by other doctors deemed impossible. It does not stimulate temporarily, but restores permanently. It allays irritations of the delicate tissues surrounding the lax and unduly expanded glands, contracting them to their normal condition, which prevents lost vitality. It tones up and attengthens the blood vessels that carry nourishment. The patient realizes a great blight has been lifted from his life

We want all MEN WHO ARE SUFFERING from any disease or special weakness to feel that they can come to our office freely for examination and explanation of their condition FREE OF CHARGE, without being bound by any obligation whatever to take treatment unless they so desire. We cure and all diseases and weaknesses due to inheritance, evil hebits, excesses or the result of specific diseases. CONSULTATION AND EXAMINATION FREE Book if You Cannot Call.
