BROOKLYN SEWER CONTRACT TO BE LET.
It is announced that the contract for the long-talked-of Brooklyn sewer will be let in the near future. Engineer Wanzer is getting out the specifications and estimates of the cost of this big sewer. The plans have been finished for this, the largest sewer in the city, and one that will cost the most money. But covering about 2500 acres, the cost to the individual iot-owner will not be very large. The entire cost of the Brooklyn conduit has been variously ssimated from $150,000 to $300,000. South of Division street there are no sewers, and it is the territory southward that the sewer will drain. Agitation for this sewer was started 20 years ago and has been kept up ever since. Rudolph Herring, a Chicago engineer, prepared general plans for this and other flust Side sewers for for this and other East Side sewers for the old East Portland City.

He asks that the corporations be compelled to do so at once. It is probable other remonstrances of like character will filed by property-owners.
