GREETING AND WELCOME

To the people of Portland, to the people of Oregon, to the people of our neighbor states, and to those who come from afar off, we give greeting and cordial welcome to this great exposition of the wonderful resources and proud progress of Oregon and her sister states.

Just one hundred years ago those hardy pioneers, whose memory we now honor, first set foot within this land of plenty. Today we welcome our visitors to a Centennial Exposition second to none in a country famed for the greatness of its Fairs. We welcome them to a beautiful home city replete with every modern advantage, the prettiest town on the prettiest townsite in the world. We welcome them to a state full of interest for the sightseer, and overflowing with opportunity for the settler and investor. We welcome them to the land of peace and plenty.

To all visitors and to our home people we extend a cordial invitation to visit our exhibit in the Manufactures' and Liberal Arts building. A sincere welcome awaits every visitor at our big store on corner of Morrison and Second streets. Our entire staff is at your disposal, and any service we can render you will be a pleasure to us. Be sure and call upon us--at the Fair and in town.
