STATE HE WILL SEE FOR DAMAGES. Joseph Paquet, who owns a large building on East Washington street, where the fill is being made, complains that his building has been badly damaged by ground settling under the weight of the embankment. He says that he did not give the city authority to place earth on his property, and threatens suit for damages. The embankment at the base is much wider than at the top, being about 100 feet wide, and it is necessary to fill under Mr. Paquet's building the same as under the other structures to secure the necessary width of embankment. It would be impossible to make a fill such as is being made on East Washington street without earth being placed under the structure alongside. Mr. Paquet says: "We could have built an elevated roadway for $5 a foot, but the fill will cost us $5 a foot."

REPORTS THEFT FROM TRAIL—Irving Corsey, of Mount Tabor, called at police headquarters last night and reported the theft of $17.75 worth of carpenter's tools from the Blue Grotto, on the Trail at the Fair. He stated to the police that the building in which the tools were stored went unprotected by a watchman last night because the gatekeepers refused to honor the regular watchman's pass. He also stated that there was much thieving inside the grounds. He offers a reward of $10 for the conviction of the thieves who stole the tools, and $5 for the recovery of the tools.

During the winter months the attendance at the rooms was large in evenings and the books were mostly out, but since the evenings have become longer the attendance has fallen off somewhat and the number of books taken out has decreased, but this was expected, and causes no concern. Expenses are kept up well and no debts are incurred.

SNEAKED INTO BALL GROUND—On charges of trespass Paul E. Henderson, Irwin Sperl, Earl Dean, Charles Hicks, Lewis Mosler and Ed Ward were arrested at the ball ground yesterday by a special policeman. They were booked at headquarters, but were permitted to go on their own recognizance. They will appear in the Municipal Court today for a hearing. They were witnessing the game, without first having paid their admission fees. They range in age from 15 to 23.

It is stated that the new city government is started.

BODY IS IDENTIFIED.—The body found floating in the river night before last was identified yesterday as that of John Schreuer. It is believed by the coroner that he met death accidentally. He was about 35 years of age and unmarried. He had been in the employ of the Star Sand Company for some time, and had a gold watch and $2 in money in his pockets when found.

MAJOR KILLS A "GRAFT" STORY

Cost of the Morrison - Street Bridge Shelters Includes Several Extras. STATEMENT BY WILLIAMS

Floor System, Footwalk, Iron Roofs and Stairway, Storehouses and Tender-Houses Figure in Expense of Construction.

Another "graft" story has been punctured by Mayor Williams, this time in connection with the Morrison-bridge shelters at each side of the draw. Members of the Municipal Association and other foes of the Mayor have said that the shelters cost $700-a "graft" price—and their charge has seemed plausible. In view of the fact that the structures are of mere wood, on steel-beam foundations and obviously cost much less than that price. But truth is that that price included the cost of a number of other "extras," as follows:

Floor systems for center pier. Hanging foot walk around center pier. Floor system for protecting pier. Iron roofs for machinery under draw. Iron stairway outside of turntable to protection of Morrison-bridge shelters. Two storehouses on protection pier. Two tender houses.

Contract for those extras was awarded to the Pacific Construction Company November 7, 1934, for the price above named. What the Mayor Says.

When Mayor Williams was asked yesterday whether the head of the "graft" alleged against the waiting room shelters, he replied that the story had reached his ears, too. His Honor is very much alive to what is going on, not only in his own camp, but in that of his enemies, and so alert is he that neither friend nor foe moves without his quick eye perceiving. When the circulars of the Municipal Association charging "graft" and corruption against his administration were printed he knew of them before they were cold from the press. It is the same with the city government, for there is never a movement in the Fire Department or the Police Department but he learns of it. That's why his Honor was alert to the "graft" story about the Morrison-bridge shelters.

Those structures, one at each end of the draw, were placed there in order to protect the public from the weather while it waited for the draw to open. The draw is closed for several minutes, and but for the shelters, persons who walk over the bridge would have to stand in the rain and wind while the draw was swung. The original specifications for the bridge did not call for such buildings, nor for the houses occupied by the men who, through the Executive Council, the Mayor, entered into an additional contract for those and other extras.

Construction Company's Offer. Before the contract for the extras was let the Pacific Construction Company, which was building the bridge, offered to build the shelters, in the following letter to the City Engineer:

In the limited time we have had to prepare the plans for this work, we have not been able to visit the site, but we think the entire additional work, making the entire additional in strict keeping with the original specifications, is of no great cost, and in all details in your satisfaction, and we are ready to make any minor changes you may desire. It is our belief that such additional work is necessary to complete the bridge, and we are ready to do it at once. The cost of the work contemplated will be covered by the change in the center pier, which is being prepared.

We will furnish the necessary materials and perform the additional work, as stated in the specifications and plans submitted for the total sum of $700. Mayor Williams considers the usual story about the bridge-shelters a fair sample of the slander that has been uttered against his administration and said yesterday that he can disprove each and every one of them just as easily.

SHERIFF HAS A GRIEVANCE Tom Word Says He Was Overlooked by Exposition Authorities.

Sheriff Word is up in arms against the officers of the Lewis and Clark Exposition, in his opinion, of passes not having been supplied to himself and his assistants, and he states that Deputy Sheriff W. H. Mercer was refused admittance to the Fair grounds to serve legal papers, and had to make a circuitous route to the Exposition grounds, an arrest will follow on a charge of obstructing an officer in the discharge of his duty. He has notified his men to proceed in that manner.

Sheriff Word, since he has been in office, has given the Exposition people all the assistance in his power, and has given Deputy Sheriff's commissions to numerous persons at the request of the Sheriff. Word, since he has been in office, has given the Exposition people all the assistance in his power, and has given Deputy Sheriff's commissions to numerous persons at the request of the Sheriff.

Postmaster Makes Appointments. Postmaster Minto is straightening things out at the new postoffice, and is rapidly making appointments made necessary by the change and by the increased business incident to the Exposition. Yesterday he appointed Richard D. Hughes junior of the Federal building; Noah O. Clodfelter, watchman; Albert T. Muller and C. W. Brady, laborers; and George A. Barton, charwoman. Frank E. Rose has been given charge of the postoffice at the Exposition grounds, Jennie A. McCready of substitution 7, at the Commercial Inn; C. B. Franklin, substitution 2, at the Chamber of Commerce. Edward L. Clark, Robert M. Young, Charles W. Delaney, Emory McKinzie, Alta M. Watson and Julia F. THE SACAJAWEA MATINEE. At the Grand Theater This Afternoon for the Monument Fund. The Grand Theater has tendered for today a special matinee the purpose of which is the raising of funds for the Sacajawea monument Association. M. J. B. COFFEE. Sells Better Than Any Other. Why? Mrs. Snyder left her residence about 10 o'clock Thursday morning to witness the opening day Exposition parade. She walked to Park and Alder streets, viewed the pageant, and returned to her residence, arriving there shortly after 11 o'clock. Her apartments were in confusion. Bureaus had been ransacked and the contents thrown upon the floor. An investigation revealed that the strong box had been carried away, together with its contents. The police were immediately notified. Detectives searched the vicinity of the residence, expecting to find the empty box, thinking the thief would break it open and take the contents. No trace of the plunder has been found, but every effort is being made to discover it.

A VOICE FOR LANE. The Democratic Committee Offers Its Candidate's Views on Appointments to Office. The letter of Dr. Lane which follows is submitted to the public through The Oregonian by his committee: "Turners having arisen that, if elected to the office of Mayor, I would prosecute such office and power to the interests of a partisan machine, I deem it but proper to say that I am in entire sympathy with the principles of the present city charter, which especially deprecates such an administration of the affairs of the city, as being opposed to its best interests. Therefore, in accordance with my declared purpose of making my position plain on all questions which should arise regarding the principles that would govern my conduct of that office, I wish to say that I shall insist on all circumstances, prefer the interests of the city to those of any creed, sect, faction, special interest or political party; that, if elected, I shall deem it my duty to surround myself with the best, ablest and most respected citizens, representative of the city and not of any party, as such, and that honest and efficient public service shall be a requirement which no party standing shall be allowed to interfere with."
