FOOTPAD IS FOILED.-Late Saturday night a young man who lives out on Hawthorne avenue was followed home by a footpad, but he escaped by going to the home of Joseph Buchtel, at East Forthe home of Joseph Buchtel, at East Forty-third street. The young man told Mr. Buchtel that he paid for a meal at a restaurant when he noticed a man watching him as he cashed his meal check at the counter. Taking a Mount Tabor car soon afterwards he was a little surprised to see the same man on the car. Leaving the car at about East Forty-third street the young man started toward his home, which was several blocks off. He had gone but a short ways when he noticed that he was being followed, when he ran to the home of Mr. Buchtel, whom he aroused. Mr. Buchtel and W. Kern made a search, but the Woodmen of Portland bowed in common to the grief which has come into the homes of the few.

It was an impressive and a beautiful ceremony witnessed by the crowded auditorium, one which told in a way not to be forgotten of the beauties of fraternity and of man's brotherhood to man. The programma that symbolized the ritual of the order and its regard for the comrades and neighbors who have hald aside the burden of life for the future with its creed of hope was long, but not worrying. It taught too clearly its lesson of the ultimate for those in the audience to note the passage of time. Inid aside the burden of life for the future with its creed of hope was long. But not worrying. It taught too clearly its lesson of the ultimate for those in the audience to note the passage of time. "Though silent he claims." the motto of the orders teaching the obligations owed by the living to the dead was too fittingly emphasised in song, address and ritual to allow the mind to wander to other things. For two hours 2000 persons gave their sympathy te all who had suffered.

"I had given up all hopes of ever en-joying myself like other people, till one day I read the little book "The Road to Wellville." It opened my eyes, and taught me a lesson I shall never forget and cannot value too highly. I immediately quit the use of the old kind of coffee and began to drink Postum Food Coffee. I noticed the beginning of an improvement in the whole tone of my system, after only two days use of the new drink, and in a very short time realized that I could go about like other people without the least return of the nervous dread that formerly gave me so much trouble. In fact, my nervousness disappeared entirely and has never returned, although it is now a year that I have been drinking Postum Food Coffee. And my stomach is now like iron-nothing can upset it!

"Last week, during the big Conclave in San Francisco, I was on the go day and night without the slightest fatigue; and as I stood in the immense crowd watching the great parade that lasted for hours, I thought to myself. "God sees the individual man, as well as the race. The unit is God's method of works and thought. He makes the buttercup, marks the sparrow's fall, creates a man, comforts the sorrowing, gives eternal life to the one who accepts him. To God every personality stands out clearly. This inspires the humble and gives courage to the cast down. To live well means to contend; this develops saints and heroes whose lives make rich the earth. But God keeps faithful watch over his own. He that keepeth night's candles burning, that giveth variety and fragrance to the flowers, will not forget you. The father will not, because he cannot, forget his child. He naw you drop the sacred tear upon the face cold in death. He, too, buried a friend. He, too, stood beside a grave and wept.
