He said that any one that possessed or would acquire land in Southern Oregon would in ten years have a pension that would make him independent for the rest of his lifetime. In speaking of the early days, President Myers said be wished old Ben Hayden were there to tell of the early judicial transactions at Kirbeville which provoked considerable laughter and applat

Professor Mulkey's Address,

Professor P. P. Mulkey, of the State Normal School at Ashland, delivered an Normal School at Ashiand, delivered an address on the resources and advantages of Southern Oregon, which received the unanimous approval and hearty com-mendation of all those assembled at the Oregon building to hear the exercises. He was interrupted by frequent bursts of ap-plause and it was universally conceded that it was one of the most eloquent and Darticularly appropriate addresses ever particularly appropriate "addresses over delivered in Portland.

"Over $60,000,000 of gold has been taken from the Rogue River Valley in a gen-cration." stated Professor Mulkey, in speaking of the resources of Southern Oregon. "It came from the bedrock, whither gravity carried it. This is but the crumbs from the table. Up in the mountains aurrounding Rogue River lie the mother lodes. The vell is being lifted and the vast wealth is coming into requi-sition. Numerous quarts mines have passed beyond the experimental stage and are paying large divideds. are paying large dividends.

"This section of the country also grows fruit of the fluest quality." he continued. "The apples that won the prize at the The apples that won the prize at the Charleston exposition grew in the suburbs of Medford and the Ashland peach won first place for Oregon at the Charleston, Buffalo and Chicago fairs, successively. The apples and pears raised in the Rogue River Valley are familiar in the markets of New York, Liverpool and the Orient.
