PAYS TRIBUTE TO OREGON.

San Francisco Paper Comments Editorially on Fair.

The San Francisco Chronicle had the following to say editorially concerning the visit of the California Promotion Committee to the Lewis and Clark Centennial Exposition at Portland, Ore.

"The excursion of business men organized by the California Promotion Committee to visit the Lewis and Clark Exposition at Portland, Ore., this city evening, the excursionists will travel by a special train, which will remain at their disposal for the whole trip, and be so far as they choose to leave this city at night. There will be a large party of our substantial citizens, and they will have a fine time.

WAGON ON POPULATION.

San Francisco Men Have Quarter-Century Bet Up.

It is recorded of President Andrew Sbarboro, of the California Promotion Committee, a member of the big excursion that will arrive from San Francisco today, that he is an ardent promoter of the idea that the best of the "promotion" idea, that he has not only taken to his heart, but that he is willing to back his opinion by an offer to give a dinner of twenty covers at $10 per cover.

EXPOSITION ATTENDANCE.

Although the attendance of yesterday at the Exposition was not so large as was expected, it was not disappointed, as the weather on Sunday being the highest day of the week, the gates to the Exposition grounds are rapidly decreasing, but instead of affecting the admission, the attendance has been definitely on the increase.

deductions are being made by the principal. When it was made the population of San Francisco was at a conservative estimate, 340,000. Mr. Sbarboro says that there are 400,000 persons in the city, the entire Valley Water works, and that there are 400,000 and unimpaired persons who have a census card held that there are 400,000.

VISIT CRUISER AND RESORT

Scores of Launches See Bustiest Day on the Willamette, and Larger Steamers Carry Big Excursions Up Columbia.

It is a safe bet that more people were on the river yesterday than at any other time since the Willamette started up in business.

water. Cruisers have been here before, but there has never been such a resort as the Oaks facing the water, and the launch managers and boatmen reaped a rich harvest.

All afternoon the Willamette from the steel bridge to Ross Island was thickly dotted with craft of all kinds. Any one venturing out in a rowboat toward the cruiser Marblehead, lying just above the steel bridge, had his hands full of requests for launches and small steamers, to say nothing of other rowboats, which made a straight course impossible.

The breeze kept moving until almost midnight, when the last loads from the Oaks were landed. Some of the launches bumped one another pretty hard a few times, and two or three rowboats were crushed between heavier craft, but so far as could be learned, no serious mishaps occurred.

Though it was warm uptown, a cooling breeze swept up the river. A tide on a fast launch was a sure cure for "too hot," and it didn't seem to make much difference what was the boat's destination.

Beginning before noon, a goodly crowd visited the cruiser Marblehead, which reached port Saturday. Around the gangway on her starboard side was a swarm of launches, rowboats and canoes, the commercial craft all looking for business and all finding it.

The breeze brought out the sailboats, too, and their white sails added another attraction to the stream of appearance. The brigades tumbled the favoring wind, for every few minutes a yachtman would give the regulation bridge signal on a horn, and the throngs on the structure had to wait until the mast had cleared the draw. The high stage of the river necessitated the opening of the draws for many sailing craft that ordinarily pass under.

The steamer Bailey Gatzert took out 175 people on her excursion trip to Cascade Locks, and the Charles R. Spencer also took nearly her capacity. The steamers running to Oregon City went out in the afternoon with their loads of passengers.

The steamer Geo. W. Simons was to return to her Dalles-Cascade run yesterday, but she was chartered for the run to the Oaks. Boatmen are invited to the Gatzert did as good a business in proportion as did the launches. An inspector spotted the Simons with over 160 people on board, when her allowance is but 75.

ROYAL ARCANUM TROUBLE

Fraternal Organization's Ranks Are Torn by Discord.

According to a report from New York, trouble is brewing in the ranks of the Royal Arcanum, a fraternal insurance organization with councils all over the country, and a membership of 300,000.

On the 17th of last month the supreme council met at Atlantic City, N. J., and passed an assessment amounting to a material advance in the insurance rates of the order, the tax falling heaviest upon the older members, and especially those who have attained the 65-year mark. To many of this class the increase amounted to prohibitive terms, as a monthly payment of $14 was imposed upon each $3000 policy.

The idea was to lessen the tax upon the young element and increase it among the older members with a view of attracting the former to the youngest policy-holder in the security in old age, the idea of making them bear the brunt of the burden did not appeal to them very strong, from all accounts.

along the immediate coast. Cooler weather also prevails in Eastern Oregon.

The Upper Columbia continues to rise slowly, while the Snake is again falling at Lewiston and Weiser. The Willamette at Portland has risen slightly during the last 24 hours, due more to high northwest winds rather than back water from the Columbia.

The indications are for partly cloudy weather in this district Monday, except in Eastern Oregon and Southern Idaho, where thunder showers will probably continue.

Forecasts made at Portland for the 24 hours ending midnight, June 11: Portland and vicinity—Partly cloudy; winds mostly northwesterly.

Western Oregon and Western Washington—Partly cloudy; winds mostly northwesterly, brisk in force.

Eastern Washington and Northern Idaho—Partly cloudy and probably cooler.

Western Oregon and Southern Idaho—Thunder showers; cooler.

"WHAT A CRIME" To Talk Against Coffee.

To an ambitious student an ailment that interferes with school and study is very hard to bear.

A bright young girl in Detroit who had been polished by coffee, is now pursuing her studies in perfect health. Probably the coffee champions feel she should have continued to suffer and kept on with the same, but now and then there are self-willed creatures who insist on getting well by leaving off coffee, deserting the "topers' ranks" and joining the Postum army.

"From early childhood I had a year ago I was in the habit of drinking three or four cups of coffee every day.

"As I grew older, the bad effects began to show themselves, although I had no idea that it was coffee that was doing the mischief. I became very nervous, and suffered so much from severe headaches that I lost much valuable time from my school and studies. The doctor could give me no relief, he probably did not suspect the coffee any more than I did.

"One day I went to visit a friend, and the coffee they had on their table tasted so good that I asked what kind it was, and they told me it was Postum Food Coffee. My friend said that her mother had been a nervous wreck from drinking the old kind of coffee, but had been restored to health by quitting it and drinking Postum. The whole family were enthusiastic about Postum and advised me to try it.

"I am glad they did, for it has given me back my health. At first we did not boil it enough and did not like it, but we soon learned how to make it, and now we all prefer it to the old kind. I have discovered that to stir a beaten egg in the warm waiting coffee makes it improve. My most delicious flavor is Postum Food Coffee.

"From the first day I began to use Postum Coffee I quit the old kind altogether, my health began to improve. My headaches ceased on the third day and have never returned, my nervousness has completely disappeared, my brain seems invigorated and strengthened, and I am now able to study from four to five hours daily, outside of school, and feel no bad effects from it.

"My aunt was sick for five years from coffee poisoning. It was hard work to get her to give up the beverage, but when she did and began to use Postum Food Coffee, she got well almost at once, and is now enjoying fine health." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Ten days' trial prove. "There's a reason."

Church Adopts Resolutions.

William Wadhams, having been one of the charter members of Calvary Presbyterian Church and a ruling elder in the church from February, 1882, to September, 1899, a term of seventeen consecutive years, the members of the church wish to express their great sorrow in his death.

He was a pre-eminently useful man, active in every good work. For many years he was superintendent of our Sabbath school and for several years led the singing of the congregation as precursor. His influence is still felt among us and his memory will ever be held sacred by all who knew him.

We desire, also, to express our deep sympathy for his bereaved wife in her grief.

Adopted by the congregation by rising, June 11, 1905.
