Japan Blocks Attempt of Russia to Hide Her Hand in Peace Game.

SEES ENEMY'S TREACHERY

Acceptance of President's Intervention by Each Party Will Be Published Simultaneously, So Takahira Demands.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—(Special.)—Japan is no less strong in diplomacy than she is in war. The Bear got his first lesson in diplomatic etiquette. He was given to understand that, if he is to play the peace game successfully, he must be governed by the rules. The Mikado, each time he places himself on record, will insist that the Bear do likewise.

The Japanese are to take nothing for granted in the present negotiation for a settlement of the war in the Orient. This decision was made today, when it was announced that Japan's formal note of acceptance of the President's peace proposition will not be given out until Russia's answer in writing is in possession of the President. Two acceptances from Russia have been received. One came Saturday afternoon from Ambassador Meyer at St. Petersburg. The other was delivered in person today by the Russian Ambassador, Count Cassini. The former was a paraphrase, the latter was a verbal acceptance.

Make Russia Show Her Hand.

A question arose as to the propriety of making the Japanese reply public, but Minister Takahira soon determined the matter. In a conference with the President this afternoon, at which he was informed of the receipt of Russia's note, he is understood to have objected to the publication of his government's response until the President's communication accompanied it. It is further understood that upon his request the President will not forward a copy of Japan's reply to the Bear until the exchange can be made coincident.

Japan does not intend overlooking a question. Having had years of unsatisfactory diplomatic negotiations with her enemy and understanding Russia's devious methods, she means not to show her hand unduly to her own undoing with what she considers a treacherous foe. A prominent diplomat put it this evening, bluntly but tersely.

Avoid Outside Influence.

This matter will in no wise delay peace negotiations. The two governments have been notified of the joint acceptance of the peace proposition, and they are now canvassing the question of the place wherein the peace commissioners will meet. If it is decided to assemble them in an American or European city, Washington will be chosen, but the consensus of belief is unchanged that Manchurian territory will be selected. The commission's terms were to be free from the influences of interest, and the arrangement aimed at by both Japan and Russia, and an end that could not be secured in any other capital in the world.

NOT ALL PLAIN SAILING YET

Peace Movement May Strike Rocks of War Party's Opposition.

PARIS, June 12.—Opinion in official and diplomatic quarters here is becoming rather pessimistic as to the outcome of the peace movement, owing to the St. Petersburg dispatches showing the reserved attitude of Russia and the activity of the war party. A special dispatch to the semi-official Temps says the influential Russians forming the war element are making a strong rally, being reinforced by protests against peace telegraphed from the field by General Linievitch and all the division commanders. However, the Temps adds, the civilized world continues to support the energetic yet prudent efforts of President Roosevelt to put an end to the terrible slaughter.

Attempts of Russia to Misrepresent Conditions May Prevent Peace.

SPECIAL CABLE. LONDON, June 12.—Japanese officials in London state that any attempt on Russia's part to make it appear that Japan and not Russia, feels compelled to initiate the peace movement, will immediately wreck the movement. "We note this morning," said a high Japanese official, "that the Russians are trying to use the opportunity arising from President Roosevelt's action to induce the notion that Russia, commends to bear these overtures that the spirit of the thing does not emanate from the Bear's government, or, if it does, the courage and tact of President Roosevelt's efforts will come to naught."

Conditions May Prevent Peace.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Count Cassini, the Russian Ambassador, called at the White House tonight by appointment to discuss with the President the selection of a place for the peace conference. This question had been discussed by the President in his conference with the Japanese Minister during the afternoon. Count Cassini learned from the President tonight Japan's views about this, and also as to the number of plenipotentiaries. Upon his return to the Embassy, the Ambassador, it is understood, communicated this information to his government.

TRYING TO SAVE HER FACE

Action of Russia Will Aggravate Suspicions of Japan.

SPECIAL CABLE. LONDON, June 12.—The Times St. Petersburg correspondent, discussing peace prospects, says that a discrepancy is pointed out in Russia's action, that she asks for Japan's terms before announcing the appointment of a plenipotentiary to represent her in the negotiations. It is expected that this action of the government is due to a desire to save its face in the eyes of the people, but it is clearly certain, that this maneuvering must intensify that suspicion that Japan entertains for Russia, and everything Russian.

GREAT COUNCIL IS IN SESSION

Mikado Consults Advisers on Policy Regarding Peace.

CHICAGO, June 12.—A special from Tokyo to the Daily News says: "Emperor Meiji summoned a great council this morning at 11 o'clock. It is believed the peace policy to be pursued in the case of Russia was the subject of discussion. Prince Sadako was present. The council consists of Prince Fushimi, Kanin and Yamashina, the elder statesman, the principal Ministers and the chief executive officers."

M. Neidoff is understood to have been tentatively selected by Russia, and it is suggested as possible that he may be assisted by Baron Rosen, through this lacks official confirmation. Elimination of Washington as the probable choice of the belligerents for their place of peace meeting would not preclude the selection of an American city. Briefly the situation is this: Japan does not wish Paris, and Russia is unfavorable to Mukden or Chelon. Both are opposed to Washington for climatic reasons, though neither would oppose the selection of an American watering place, and among those already mentioned are Newport and Manchester-by-the-Sea. This idea is especially favored among the representatives of the neutral powers who establish their Embassies and Legations in New England for the Summer. Of the places under consideration in Europe, it is said Russia might accept The Hague. Geneva is also considered, and it would not be objectionable to Japan. A long conference at the Russian Embassy this evening between Mr. Van Swinderen, the Netherlands Minister, and Count Cassini, the Russian Ambassador, strengthened the belief that Russia would seriously consider the selection of The Hague for the scene of the negotiations.

A point realized by the representatives of both belligerents here, and which has been emphasized in their dispatches, is that in order to take advantage of the President's offer to give any advice or assistance that might be solicited, the selection of any American city for the conference would facilitate the negotiators keeping in close touch with the President.

MAY SUSPEND HOSTILITIES.

Step to Follow Choice of Meeting Place—Wide Differences Feared.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 12.—Russia's official reply to President Roosevelt will be printed in the Official Messenger tomorrow or Wednesday. At the Foreign Office this afternoon the Associated Press was informed that Japan's indication of the time and place for the meeting of the plenipotentiaries is expected within 24 or 48 hours, at the most.

"Russia's plenipotentiary"

continued the information of the Associated Press, "will be clothed with full power to receive Japan's terms and give Russia's answer, which will involve power to conclude a temporary suspension of hostilities. Such suspension probably will be limited to from three to eight days, in which Russia will decide whether it is possible to proceed."

According to the Russian view, it is impractical to attempt to inhibit the movement of troops or supplies during the armistice, and fears continue to be expressed that there will be increased fighting between Japan's minimum and Russia's maximum. But, diplomatic fencing is now the order of the day.

GREATEST SINCE LINCOLN.

London Papers Pay Tribute to Roosevelt's Successful Diplomacy.

LONDON, June 12.—Glowing tributes to President Roosevelt's successful diplomacy again occupy the foremost place in the London morning newspapers. The Morning Post characterizes it as both a personal and national triumph, and declares that no other man would have ventured to even attempt what President Roosevelt has achieved. Continuing, the Morning Post says:

"No President since Lincoln has so improved the position of his country as respects Europe and Asia. His success implies acknowledgment of the moral position America holds in the world today."

The Daily Chronicle calls it the splendid beginning of the President's determination to pursue a "world policy," while the Daily Telegraph says his policy is aimed at the absolute sincerity of Russia in the negotiations.

The pessimists fail to take into account the position of President Roosevelt. He is the last man in the world to allow himself to be made a fool of, and any attempt put upon him by either belligerent will meet a most wondrous and inexorable foil.

Dispatches from Tokyo report that the Emperor presided yesterday at an imperial council, which included all the Ministers of state and 40 high military and naval officers, but not a word of information is published here, except that emanating from Washington.

It is understood that the great powers are exchanging views on the situation, and, according to the Berlin correspondent of the Daily Telegram, Emperor William is communicating direct with Emperor Nicholas.

BEATEN BY THEIR OWN BLUNDERS

Disgraceful Causes of Russian Naval Defeat Come to Light.

MEN TURN ON ADMIRALS

Rojestvensky Kept Subordinates Ignorant of Plans—Gunnery Had No Practice—Ships Sank Without Being Hit.

VLADIVOSTOK, June 12.—A series of interviews which the correspondent of the Associated Press has had with naval officers who survived the battle of the Sea of Japan, has developed a most sensational story of the causes of the Russian disaster first of all, and the complete demoralization which followed the sinking of the flagship Kniaz Souvaroff and the wounding of Admiral Rojestvensky. It is explained that not a single officer of the fleet knew the commander-in-chief's plans. The Admirals in command of divisions knew no more than the sub-lieutenants, and had to rely only on the signals of the flagship, Admiral Nebogatoff, upon whom the command devolved, had seen Rojestvensky only once after the junction of their squadrons, and then only for a few minutes.

Had No Target Practice.

All the stories of extensive target practice in Madagascar, it seems, were fakes. During the entire voyage there practically was no training in gunnery worthy of the name, and the big gun practice was confined to three shots per vessel. Ugly stories are told of the happenings at Madagascar. Some of the crews certainly were untrained in gunnery, and, exhausted by the eight months' voyage under trying moral and physical conditions, were no match for the veteran Japanese, whose marksmanship was wonderful.

The Japanese concentrated their fire on one ship until she was placed out of action, and then they proceeded to sink the Oshiba, Alexander III and Kniaz Souvaroff.

Ships Wrecked by Own Defects.

Some ships developed deplorable structural defects. The Oshiba sank without having a single hole below the water line. Heavy seas entered the vessel above the water line and the watertight compartments, which were changed several times during the voyage, did not stand the strain they had been calculated to stand and burst, flooding and heeling the vessel over until the ship turned turtle. Lack of homogeneity among the ships made it impossible to maneuver in harmony. The Vladimir Monomach, Admiral Oushakov and Admiral Benin had to lag behind, on this account becoming easy victims. Finally the ammunition was exhausted after the first day's fighting.

Rojestvensky Was Careless.

Even the morning of the battle, while the buzzing of the wireless instruments on the Russian ships showed that the Japanese scouts were communicating his dispositions to Admiral Togo, Admiral Rojestvensky continued his careless maneuvering, when the Japanese actually appeared. The Russians were caught in an impossible formation and were attacked on three fronts. Rojestvensky's position was cramped and his transports were badly placed and caused confusion. While the Japanese were raining projectiles even from machine guns on the Russian fleet, the latter were huddled together, blanketing each other's fire. Only the leaders of the column could bring their guns to bear and even on these the untrained gunners fired wildly.

To render matters worse the mines and floating torpedoes sown in the path of the Russian divisions added to the confusion. The Borodino, Admiral Nakhimoff, and Navarin fell victims to these obstructions.

GENERALS EAGER TO FIGHT

Linievitich Protests Against Peace, Confident of Victory.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 12.—Russia's Generals in command of the forces at the front are violently opposed to an ending of the war. General Linievitch in supreme command, last night wired the Emperor a strong protest, signed by all of his Generals, against peace-making at the present moment.

After hearing of the opening of negotiations with Japan for a termination of the war, he called a council of war of all his Generals. A lengthy discussion was had, argument for and against peace being made, but at the end the Generals unanimously and resolutely voted for a continuation of the war. The message continues:

"It is not time to talk of peace, even after Mukden and Tushima, the latter undoubtedly regrettable. But there is no way to affect our brave army, which is in fine condition and burning to revenge itself upon our enemy. We occupy admirably fortified positions and hope before the month is ended to take the offensive and change completely the condition of affairs. I affirm that our position is no way so critical as to necessitate a conclusion of the war on terms that are unfavorable to Russia."

GRIP'S UGLY SEQUEL

KNEE STIFF, HANDS HELPLESS, RHEUMATISM NEAR HEART.

Mrs. Van Sooy Experiences Dangerous After-Effects From Grip and Losses Value of a Good Remedy.

The grip leaves behind it weakened vital powers, thin blood, impaired digestion and over-sensitive nerves—a condition that makes the system an easy prey to pneumonia, bronchitis, rheumatism, nervous prostration, and even consumption.

The story told by scores of victims of the grip is substantially the same. One was tortured by terrible pains at the base of the skull; another was left tired, faint and in every way wracked from anemia or scantiness of blood; another had horrible headaches, was nervous and couldn't sleep; another was left with weak lungs, difficulty in breathing and acute neuralgia. In every case relief was sought in vain until the great blood-builder and nerve-tonic, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, was used. For quickness and thoroughness of action nothing is known that will approach it.

Mrs. Van Sooy makes a statement that supports this claim. She says:

"I had a severe attack of grip and, before I had fully recovered, rheumatism set in and tormented me for three months. I was in a badly run-down state. Soon after it began I was so lame for a week that I could hardly walk. It kept growing steadily worse and at last I had to give up completely and for three weeks I was obliged to keep my bed. My knees were so stiff I couldn't bend them, and my hands were perfectly helpless. Then the pains began to threaten my heart and thoroughly alarmed me."

"While I was suffering in this way I chanced to run across a little book that told about the merits of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The statements in it impressed me and led me to buy a box. These pills proved the very thing I needed. Improvement set in as soon as I began to take them, and it was very marked by the time I had finished the first box. Four boxes made me a well woman."

Mrs. Laura M. Van Sooy lives at No. 30 Thorpe street, Danbury, Conn. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are equally well adapted for any other of the diseases that follow in the train of grip. They are sold by all druggists.

POLISH CITY SCENE OF BLOODSHED AND PILLAGE.

CHRISTIAN DEVOTE TWO DAYS TO THE SLAUGHTER BEFORE TROOPS MAKE PRETENSE OF STOPPING THEM.

WARSAW, June 12.—A serious anti-Jewish uprising occurred at Breslavyka on Sunday at noon and continued all day yesterday, and late last night the reports were that order had not been restored. Altogether, 24 people were killed and 23 seriously injured. The greater number were Jews.

Jew hatters started the riots, the Jewish quarters were devastated, whole streets of stores being wrecked and the Jews driven from their homes. The Jews did not, however, resign themselves to the mob, and seek safety through flight. The men fought the rioters and the arrival of the soldiers put an end to the rioting on Sunday for a short time only.

After the troops had retired, order being restored on the surface, rioting was kept up by small bands.

Weaver Discharges More Machineists, Church Raffle Forbidden.

PHILADELPHIA, June 12.—The principal development in the local situation today were the resignation of Samuel Salter as assistant to the chief clerk in the office of the county commissioners and the issuing of an order for the dismissal on Wednesday of 66 employees in the Bureau of City Property and in the Bureau of Electricity.

Probably the most interesting development was the resignation of Salter, who some years ago, after being a fugitive from justice for about a year, returned to this city and was acquitted of the charge of stuffing a ballot box. In his resignation, which came as a surprise to the citizens, Salter stated that he intended to go into business.

The Director of Public Safety has prohibited a church from holding a raffle. In an effort to raise funds, the Roman Catholic Church of the Ascension intended raffling a house valued at $200. A complaint was made to the Public Safety Department and today Rev. D. J. Brougham, the rector of the church, was informed that the raffle could not take place.

Now that the racing season is over in this vicinity, many local sports have turned their attention to baseball, and three book-makers are now doing a thriving business. Until recently this business was handled by one man, but so keen has become the betting on the result of the games that it now requires three book-makers to handle the bets. Women are also taking a hand, and several are now regular attendants at the game, and after learning the batter's wagger sums on the outcome. In this connection a prominent sporting writer gives a warning to the league management. He says:

"The maintenance of the league owes it to the respectable element who patronize the game and they owe it to themselves to stamp out this gambling spirit immediately. Already the players are placing bets, and with the experience of former leagues here and also in the East with gamblers, the matter cannot be taken in hand too soon."

Beautiful Women realize that lustrous hair of rich, youthful color adds to their charms.
