It has been decided to cut the Sunday admission rate to the Lewis and Clark Exposition in twain. Hereafter the cost of entrance on Sunday will be 25 cents instead of 50 cents. While this has not yet been officially announced the statement is verified by President Goode, who states that the change has been under consideration by the Exposition management for some time past, and that the new rate will most probably go into effect next Sunday.

The reason for the change is that with working exhibits closed down and amusement features at a standstill the public does not appear to be generally willing to part with 50 cents per head for the weekday attendance has been even heavier than had been expected of the Exposition's opening month, the Sunday attendance has not surpassed expectations. The argument that thousands of people would be attracted by the lower rate met with the support of President Goode and other Exposition officials.

While no official information is obtainable at this time as to the probable outcome it is known that there is a movement on foot to reduce the admission rate from 50 cents to 25 cents. Concessionaires in particular are urging this change and several Exposition officials are known to favor the change.

The Admissions Department, however, is on record as being opposed to this second reduction. The argument of those favoring the reduced rate is that the attendance would be doubled or even tripled. Thousands of people, they say, would be willing to part with a quarter who would not think of letting go of a half dollar all at one time.

The concessionaires insist that such a change would mean their salvation, as people would have more left to spend in the Exposition grounds. The argument on the other side is that a smaller rate would not make any appreciable difference in the night attendance which has been the main source of growing heavier each night since the Fair opened. President Goode declines to state in what light the Exposition Board views the question, but the balance might be drawn from his manner that there is a good deal of opposition to it.

Want to Open Sunday.

It also came to light yesterday that the concessionaires are clamoring for the privilege of Sunday opening. They claim that since amusement features thrive elsewhere on the Sabbath they cannot see why they should be deprived of the Sunday crowds. This matter has not yet come to an issue, but it is not believed that the concessionaires will open Sunday. In the first place many of the country's greatest preachers are to speak each Sunday in the Auditorium, and a religious gathering of a purely educational nature that are to be allowed the privilege of keeping open the Sabbath hereafter, so it is announced.

A few small concessions are doing a very great amount of worrying, however. Most of them, especially those with good features, say they are doing well. Of course, there is the usual struggle for the survival of the fittest which has ever been going on. The result will be the ultimate ruin of inferior attraction promoters. The booths have already closed their doors after taking in 20 cents during several evenings. Those with good shows say they are more than satisfied with their patronage and are confident of increased increase with the opening of the Exposition visitors that will pour in on Portland next month.

DEDICATION FOR OREGON.

Building Will Be Formally Declared Open to the Public.

The dedication of the Oregon building and the delivery of the exhibition buildings by the State Commission to Governor George E. Chamberlain, representative of the State of Oregon tomorrow, will be the 8th anniversary of the signing of a treaty between Great Britain and the United States which established the boundary line of the country between the 49th and 54th parallels. Although the Oregon building was completed when the Exposition was thrown open to the public, the members of the State Commission were reluctant to have the structure dedicated the first week, as they were desirous of awaiting the date of some historic event. It was for this reason that June 15 was decided upon.

Before the settlement of the boundary question of the Oregon territory, the United States was on the verge of war with England, as this country contended that all the Pacific Coast to the possessions of Russia, which then owned Alaska, was a part of the United States by right of discovery. At the Presidential election of 1841 it was one of the issues upon which Polk was elected, the slogan of the campaign being "49 or fight." Statesmen made fiery speeches and the country was thoroughly aroused, but wiser counsel prevailed by a compromise, and on June 15, 1846, at a convention of the representatives of the two countries, the 49th parallel was decided upon as the northern boundary of the United States on the Pacific Coast.

WILL GIVE "PARSIFAL."

It Will Be Presented in Festival Hall.

Owing to the fact that Bandmaster Innes considers Festival Hall best fitted for the production of "Parsifal," and inasmuch as this auditorium is engaged for religious services next Sunday afternoon, the "Parsifal" concert will not take place until 5 o'clock that evening.

The programme will open with sacred selections, which Mr. Innes will choose from among the compositions of the best composers. Then he will address the audience giving an analytical criticism of "Parsifal." He avers that he does not pose as an authority on music, but as "Parsifal" has received more prominence than any other composition, he feels there are some who would like to hear his opinion.

One by one, he will take up what he believes to be the motives of the composition. He will cite the motive of "Parsifal" and how his hand rendered the score, thus illustrating ably the thought of the composer. Other motives will be taken up in this manner. Mr. Innes states

The Governor of Oregon and his staff paid an official visit to the revenue cutter Hugh McCulloch yesterday afternoon and some of the older buildings along the water-front almost fell over when the noise of the salute rippled and roared along the river. At 2 o'clock three boats took the party on board from the foot of Stark street. Its members were Governor George E. Chamberlain, Mrs. Chamberlain, Misses Lucy and Margaret Chamberlain, Adjutant-General W. K. Finzer and wife, Colonel Waddle and wife, Colonel James Jackson, Colonel C. H. Bauer, Colonel Perkins and wife, Colonel Hazz, Colonel Chamberlain, Major Thompson, Dr. Finzer, W. E. Thomas, Mrs. Plimpton, Miss Kearns and T. W. Windsor.

Captain J. C. Cantwell, Lieutenants Cochran, Fisher and Maher, and the other officers were in full dress, while the crew was drawn up at muster. The visitors went over the vessel from wheelhouse to engine-room, and were entertained in the cabin, where Mrs. Cantwell assisted her husband. When the party embarked again the two light guns in the bow were brought into action, and the Governor's salute of 17 guns fired. Though the pieces were small, the noise was all the visitors wanted.

GADETS WILL FORM CAMP

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE TO BE REPRESENTED.

Army Officers Will Act as Judges at Competitive Drill for Prizes.

To prepare for the commencement of the Oregon Agricultural College cadet corps, thirty-two cadets from Corvallis arrived in Portland yesterday afternoon under the charge of Lieutenant D. P. Quinlan of the United States regular army. Lieutenant Quinlan is detailed at Corvallis as an instructor of the cadet corps.

The cadet corps, which has an enrollment of 48 young men of the college, will arrive at the Exposition Thursday morning and will encamp near the Fair grounds between the Exposition and the Washington Agricultural cadets when they were in Portland to participate in the opening day parade. The Oregon Agricultural cadet corps has a band of thirty-eight pieces.

On June 16 the cadet corps will parade through the Exposition grounds to be reviewed by President H. W. Goode and other officials. It is understood that while the cadet corps are in Portland a committee consisting of army officers of long experience will be selected to judge the corps in a competitive drill. Other cadet corps from agricultural colleges are expected in Portland during the Exposition and they will also be judged by the committee. At the close of the Exposition a decision will be rendered by the committee and prizes given to the best drilled corps.

The Washington cadet corps intended to enter the contest, but they had not adopted the new regulation drill of the United States army, they decided not to participate. Negotiations are now on with the Agricultural College at Ballinoy, Md., and it is thought a crack regiment will be sent to Portland to participate in the contest. The Maryland cadet corps, through their superior drilling, have acquired a national reputation, but nevertheless Lieutenant Quinlan thinks the Oregon Agricultural College would equal if not surpass them in the competitive drill. Lieutenant Quinlan is very enthusiastic over the progress made by the young men under his instruction and says that they are one of the very best cadet corps in the United States, taking all points into consideration, such as their bearing, physique of the young men and their appearance in the field or drill.

THROUGH CARS TO DENVER.

It is announced by the Denver & Rio Grande road that beginning June 30 a through standard sleeping-car service will be instituted between Portland and Denver over the lines of the Oregon Short Line. The Northbound car will leave Denver at 8:30 A. M., reaching Salt Lake at 1:35 P. M. The following day it will reach Portland at 10:30 P. M. The Southbound car will reach Portland at 7:15 A. M. attached to the O. R. & N. train. Southbound the car will leave over the O. R. & N. at 8:15 P. M. It will reach Denver at 4:20 P. M. This will enable the passengers to see the scenic route of the Denver & Rio Grande by daylight.

High-Wire Bicycle Feats.

A thrilling open-air exhibition of bicycle riding on a wire a hundred feet high will occur twice each day at the Exposition during the next two weeks or more. The feature has been engaged by the Exposition management, and free performances will be given at 2 P. M. and 5 P. M. Just before the daily band concert, the wire upon which the daring performers will appear is strung between two tall poles over an unoccupied portion of Guild's Lake, a few feet west of the bandstand. There are two riders, James and Alfred Baum, who do various difficult and hazardous feats on the high wire.

PAWN THE DIAMONDS

How Three Young Bloods Get Money for Freedom.

ROBBED GARDENS OF ROSES

After Spending Two Days in Jail Plead Guilty to Minor Offense and Secure Liberty by Pledging Rings.

Three young men from wealthy and prominent Eastern families yesterday morning stripped their fingers of sparkling diamond rings, and gave the glittering gems to their attorney to pawn for cash to get them out of the City Jail. On charges of being out on the streets "after hours," they were fined $10 each. They entered pleas of guilty, through their attorney, A. Walter Wolfe.

They had been in the City Jail for two days—ever since they were arrested by Patrolman Ellis, of the Uphur-Street Station. They were exceedingly anxious to get out of their cells, and were willing to make any kind of sacrifice. So severe is the penalty for larceny that when the defendants, William Baker, H. Reed and H. Dover, charged with stealing roses, were called Deputy District Attorney Bert Haney declined to prosecute. He stated to Judge Hogue that he was convinced the young fellows did not intend to steal the roses from yards along Thurman street, and that they did not realize how serious were their acts.

It was therefore decided to place charges of roaming the streets after hours, to which the young men agreed to enter pleas of guilty. This was done, and fines of $10 each were imposed. Having expended all their cash, it was necessary for the three to strip their fingers of diamond rings, which they handed over to A. Walter Wolfe, their attorney, to secure money with which to pay fines and fee for their defense.

The young fellows are here from the East to see the Lewis and Clark Exposition, and got a trifle too enthusiastic. Although having spent two nights and days in jail cells, the young fellows appeared clean and tidy before Judge Hogue. They were attired in good clothes and had their hair combed to a nicety, forming a striking contrast to the usual slovenly prisoners who come into the court.

Settlement Is Effected.

It is understood that a settlement has been effected between the United States Guaranty & Fidelity Company, bondsmen for R. M. Riner & Son, the Tanner-Creek sewer contractors, and the Oregon Savings Bank, which institution advanced the money with which to construct the conduit.

Guests of Massachusetts.

Senator Fairbanks, of Massachusetts, at a meeting of the New England Society, invited the whole body to a reception at the Massachusetts building on the Fair grounds Saturday afternoon, Massachusetts day. In return the New England Society voted to give a formal entertainment of some kind to the teachers' excursion from Massachusetts, which will arrive here June 24.

Crowd Coming From Salem.

SALEM, Or., June 13.—(Special.)—A thousand residents of Salem will go to Portland early tomorrow morning to attend the Lewis and Clark fair, the special occasion being Salem day. The Southern Pacific Company has provided a special excursion train of fifteen cars for the Salem crowd.

Dixie Meeting Postponed.

The meeting of the Dixie Society of Oregon, which was to have been held last evening, has been postponed until Tuesday, June 27, when it will be held at the City Hall.

FLAG DAY AT THE EXPOSITION

SCHOOL CHILDREN WILL GO THROUGH EVOLUTIONS.

Salem Will Have an Excursion to the Exposition, and Promises Heavy Attendance.

Today the Daughters of the American Revolution and the residents of Salem will divide honors at the Lewis and Clark Exposition. The occasion promises to be a memorable one, and the attendance will undoubtedly be exceptionally heavy—perhaps, that upon any day since the opening ceremonies of June 1.

The feature of the exercises today is the flag drill, in which 100 schoolchildren dressed in the colors of the American flag will execute the evolutions of a breeze-flaunted flag. This interesting drill will occur at 2 o'clock, and will be a part of the program arranged by the Daughters of the Revolution. The children will assemble at the Chapman School at 1 o'clock this afternoon, and will march thence direct to the Exposition. The athletic field will be the scene of the drill.

Exercises of a patriotic nature will be held in the Auditorium immediately after the flag drill. The exercises will be presided over by a pretty and stirring part of the program will be the ceremony of saluting the flag and the singing of "The Star-Spangled Banner," by all present. The singing will be led by Mrs. Rosemary Glose Whitney. The programme is as follows:

"America," F. M. Goodrich and choir of 20 boys.

"Greetings From the Sons of the American Revolution," Colonel James Jackson.

"By the Waters of Babylon," The Lakme Quartet.

Address, ex-Senator John M. Thurston, Nebraska.

"The Recessional," The Lakme Quartet, ex-Senator John M. Thurston, Nebraska and choir of 20 boys.

The Salem excursion will bring at least 1000 from that enterprising city, and the number may run as high as 2000. Excursion Manager C. H. McIsaac was advised yesterday morning that 700 tickets had already been sold, and that sales were continuing unabated.

Eugene Will Be Well Represented.

EUGENE, Or., June 12.—(Special.)—Indications are that the excursion to Portland, Thursday, Eugene day at the Exposition will be largely patronized. Several hundred will go down on that day and the city and the university will be well represented. Hostesses for the day are as follows:

Mrs. S. P. Shadden, Mrs. F. G. Young, Mrs. E. M. Wilkins, Mrs. R. S. Bean, Mrs. S. H. Friendly and Miss Ada Hendrick.

President P. L. Campbell, of the university, and Mayor F. M. Wilkins will head the delegation. Among the features of the day will be the unveiling of a statue of Thomas Jefferson.

Change in Days for Cities.

"Joseph," "Lostine," "Wallowa" and "Elgin" day at the Exposition has been changed from June 15 to July 2. "La Grande" and "Union" day also comes on June 2. "Baker City" day, which was set for June 17, will be held on July 25.

Chronic Diarrhoea.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is the most successful medicine in the world for bowel complaints, and is the only remedy that will cure chronic diarrhoea. For sale by all druggists.

SOLICITATION IS BOGUS

Men Purporting to Be Associated Press Employees Beg Money.

Sidney B. Vincent, correspondent of the Associated Press, has issued a circular warning all persons who may be approached by any one calling himself a representative of the Associated Press. Persons on the Exposition grounds have been solicited for money, by men who made great promises in return for a small cash present. Credentials signed by Mr. Vincent, and other Associated Press employees, were without effect. Vincent, representative of the Associated Press, the circular says:

"The Associated Press does not accept money or other consideration for disseminating news, nor does it seek advertising patronage of any kind. Beware of the person or persons who claim to be Associated Press employees who seek to obtain money for any purpose whatsoever. Such persons are cheats and frauds."

Money and Watch Gone.

At police headquarters yesterday William Bolges, a boatman from the cruiser Marklehead, reported the loss of $30 in money and a great watch. He received his discharge papers the night before, and came ashore with a shipmate named "Boles" who was without a watch. Bolges was without a watch, while his shipmate was with a watch. Bolges was without a watch, while his shipmate was with a watch.

WHITMAN COUNTY HAS A FAIR DAY

Informal Reception and Exercises in Washington Building.

MRS. IVAN CHASE HOSTESS

Addresses Are Made by J. M. McLean, James B. Upton and Homer Davenport, Telling of the Resources.

ADMISSIONS 11,484.
The attendance yesterday at the Exposition was 11,484. From the present indications the officials think the average attendance for this week will exceed that of last week by a good majority.

Whitman County formally took possession of the Washington building at the Exposition yesterday afternoon with exercises and an informal reception. The home of the Washington visitors to the Fair is now under the management of the Whitman County ladies, that is as far as the social events are concerned, until Saturday night. The exercises were to have been held Monday, when Mrs. Ivan Chase, hostess for Whitman County, took charge, but were postponed and delayed until yesterday. Mrs. Chase was assisted in receiving by Miss Emma Davenport, of Colfax, Mrs. J. M. McLean, of Oakeside, Mrs. W. W. Stevens, and Mrs. W. H. Harvey, of Pullman, and also by the Misses Wiseman and McLean.

The exercises consisted of addresses by J. M. McLean, of Oakeside, and James B. Upton, formerly of Colfax, but now of Portland. Homer Davenport, the cartoonist, was to have participated in the exercises, but was absent from the city, being delayed by a train, he did not appear. Mr. McLean stated in his address that Colfax was the wealthiest city in the United States per capita, which was shown by the reports of the banks. He also said that Colfax was surrounded by 200 acres of the richest and most productive agricultural lands in the world. Mr. Upton talked on the early days in Colfax and Whitman County, touching on the many hardships that had to be endured by the settlers. He said it had been a battle of the survival of the fittest and as a result Colfax had only the most beautiful women and the strongest and most intelligent men. Miss Edith Wiseman, of Portland, but who formerly resided in Colfax, rendered several excellent vocal solos, which were well received.

Following the exercises punch and cake were served to the large audience that had assembled in the reception rooms to listen to the speeches and the exercises. The affair was entirely informal, the ladies wearing street costumes, and all who attended greatly enjoyed the wholesome and hearty hospitality extended them by the hostesses and their assistants. The Administration band gave a concert on the veranda shortly before the exercises. The hostesses of the Whitman County ladies will distribute special flag-day badges in addition to their other attractive souvenirs. The reception rooms of the Washington building have been decorated with flowers of all varieties, including abundant displays of sweet peas and grape vines. Mrs. Walter Burrell, of Portland, gained the evening's best prize by supplying the sweet peas which were used in decorating. Other Portland ladies were also kind enough to contribute flowers.

DEDICATION FOR ILLINOIS.

Building Is a Replica of Lincoln Home at Springfield.

Commissioner F. W. Hand, of Illinois, President Poland today made arrangements for the dedication of Illinois' building at the Lewis and Clark Exposition. The building is finished and the furnishings are nearly adjusted. What work remains to be done can be accomplished in a very few days. The building is a reproduction of Abraham Lincoln's Springfield home. The architecture is quaint and all building stands out in pleasant contrast to the classic structures about it. It has a historical value, for the Lincoln home has been closely copied, even to the interior finishing. A few feet from the door has been planted a tree in the same relative position as Lincoln planted the first tree on the original grounds. The Lincoln bedrooms have been reproduced on the second floor and the furnishings are precisely the same as Lincoln used.

Illinois will do much entertaining, making a very small exhibit. The dedication exercises and attendant reception will undoubtedly be one of the important social events of the Fair.

Excursion From Walla Walla.

WALLA WALLA, Wash., June 13.—(Special.)—A train of 15 cars will leave here at 9 o'clock tomorrow for a day-light excursion to the Exposition. It will be under the charge of J. R. Neagle. One chair car will be reserved for the graduates of the Walla Walla High School, who will go on a special class excursion, in charge of Miss Dorell, the principal.

Advices from Dayton, Waburg and Prescott say large crowds will go from those places.

Fine Display of Fireworks.

The fireworks at the Exposition tonight will be the most elaborate and extensive of the displays held since opening day. The pyrotechnic displays have created much interest and attracted large crowds, and as a large attendance is expected for the Exposition today, the management has ordered that a feature be made out of the fireworks exhibition. They will start a few minutes before 9 o'clock.

Big Excursion From Salem.

SALEM, Or., June 13.—(Special.)—Southern Pacific officials say that the excursion from this city Salem Day at the Lewis and Clark Fair will be the largest excursion from any city. Over 200 tickets have already been sold and it is practically certain that 600 more will be sold.

When you suffer from sick headache, dizziness, constipation, etc., remember Carter's Little Liver Pills will relieve you. One pill is a dose.
