much in evidence in the wholesale district yesterday. They made some purchases, but probably not extensive ones. They bought beavily on last week's big receipts, expecting to sell more than they did, and consequently carried over a sunsiderable quantity of their purchases. Today and tomorrow they will doubtless be in the market again and another active spurt can be looked for, but what the effect will be on values will depend on the available supply.

Questions given on Front screet yesterday varied widely, according to the amount of stock miried by the different dealers. For the average run of hens, asking prices ranged from 12% to 14 cents, with some good-sized soles known to have been made at 124,813 cents, figures, 100, ta 20 cents. NEW YORK, June 14.- The dead level of NEW YORK, June 14.—The dead level of dullness in today's shock market was not relieved by any noticeshive involvent of interest. The professional traders who look to a movement of prices as a medium for earning their daily bress, tried during the morning to extend yesterday's decline. They succeeded in wiping out the opening advances which had been made in sympathy with the firmer tone of the London market, but at that point the harrow dimensions of the market again americal themselves. It was seen that the immediate selling riquirements had been met in yesterday's market and traders thereupen worked for an advance. As they had the market to themselves, they met with some success.

Conditions in the Northwest Favorable for Spring Grain-Slump at Minneapolis Depresses Chicago-Corn Lower.

CHICAGO. June 14.—Weakness in the wheat market was in evidence from the start. Not withstanding higher prices at Liverpool. Institut quietations here showed losses. July heling down a shade at 86%. The main factor in the situation was the continuation of excellent weather conditions. While there were slight rains in different portions of the Southwest, the precipitation was not sufficient to delay harvesting. The area of operations was vaid to be extending rapidly in the Northwest, weather was favorable for the development of Spring wheat Cropreports were conflicting and had a tendency greatly to restrict the volume of business. Vealings was conflicting and had a tendency greatly to restrict the volume of business. The market closed weak with July down $60.00. mt Stilec.

at 80%. Gentiment in the corn pit was decidedly bearish. A number of factors entered into the situation to account for the selling pen-sure. One of the main influences, however, the situation to account for the selling pres-ware. One of the main influences, however, was the liberal acceptances by farmers of bids zent out by cash houses. In addition, re-ceipts were larger than estimated, and the shipping demand showed signs of abstement. The market closes at the lowest point of the day, July tip down, at 52 pc. Onto were weak in sympathy with other grains. July closed half to lower, at 30% 8500s.

Provisions were a trifle easier as a result of the weakness of corn. A fair demand from packers for lard, however, prevented any material degline. At the close September pork was off a shade, but was unchanged and ribe were up 25c

CALIFORNIA HOP OUTLOOK

CROP IS MUCH IMPROVED, WITH WEATHER WARMER.

At Least an Average Yield Is Now Expected-Spring Wool Near-

san FRANCISCO, June 1s.—(opecas.)—Although most growers are holding out for 30 cents, spot hops in the local market are lower at 206221/cents. Contracts for the 1805 crop are quoted mominally at 18621 cents, but not much business is passing. The weekly crop service report just issued says California hops have made great improvement with warmer weather and now give sometime of at least an average crop. All Spring week is now cleaned out of the

LORD WANTS QUICK TRIAL

Motion for Immediate Hearing Is Denied Him.

At the opening of the United States District Court yesterday morning, Charles F. Lord, a local attorney, who was indicted by the late Federal grand Jury for complicity with ex-United States District Attorney John H. Hall, ex-Captain Harry L. Rees, Private Detective Henry P. Ford, Deputy Sheriff John Cordano, former Sorenson juror John Northrup, George Sorenson and Attorney Joan H. Hitchings in an at-tempt to defame the character of Francis J. Hency, created somewhat of a sensation by excitedly demanding a speedy hearing of the charge against

Judge De Haven asked District Attorney Huney if he was ready to pro-ceed with the Lord case, and in reply Mr. Honey observed that inasmuch as there was more importance attached to the cases against Senator Mitcaell and Congressmen Hermann and Williamson by reason of the fact that the people of Oragon were being deprived of their Congressional services through the delays that have already occurred. and because the state would have no proper Congressional representation until the question of the guilt or innocence of these members had thoroughly established, he would have to object to any proceeding that would have a tendency to prevent a speedy trial of Senator Mitchell and Congressmen Hermann and Williamson, it being understood all along that the trio of National lawmakers should have cedence over all others in the matter of immediate trial. Judge De Haven took this view of the situation and denied Lord's request. The incident is important as demonstrating that the Government is perfectly willing to accord Sanator Mitchell a speedy hearing on the charges brought against him, and it is therefore believed that both sides will be ready for trial next Tuesday.
