The State University and the City of Eugene consolidated yesterday in making Friday at the Exposition one of the most enjoyable and eventful days of the week. The learned professor, the young college student and the business man were all as one resterday in landing and exploiting Eugene and the State University. Many members of the Alumni Association were also there, taking advantage of the rare opportunity afforded to do homage to the Lewis and Clark Exposition and the State University on the same day. Linn County was also represented at the Exposition in a creditable manner, as yesterday was 'Albany' day, and the residents of that thriving and presperous city were in Portland in full force. There were fully 1500 visitors at the Exposition yesterday from Eugene and Albany, be-sides the hundreds of old and young peo-ple who are now or have been students at the Oregon State University.

White College Hats.

The white college hats of the students and the members of the Alumni Associa tion were in evidence everywhere yester-day, as were the lemon-yellow ribbons, the colors of the university. Even the ladies who were interested in making the day a notable one wore the white hats. The Albany visitors all were badges designating their home city.

The "Albany" day exercises, held in front of the Oregon building at 10 o'clock in the morning, were not very elaborate in character, but were short and impres-sive. The address of welcome was made by President Jefferson Myers, of the by President Jefferson Myers, of the Oragon State Commission, and the re-sponse by J. K. Weatherford, for Mayor N. H. Davis, of Albany. The ceremonies were witnessed by a large audience. The State University and Eugene exer-cises were held jointly on the front porch of the Oregon building at 2 o'clock in the efternoon, in the pressure of one of the afternoon, in the presence of one of the largest and most enthusiastic crowds that largest and most enthusiastic crowds that has ever attended any of the dedication ceremonies held on the Exposition grounds. President H. W. Goode was the first speaker to be introduced by Professor F. G. Young, of the State University, who presided at the meeting as chairman. President Goode extended greetings to the visitors in the interests of the Lewis and Clark Community. of the Lewis and Clark Corporation. In his speech he compared the Exposition to a university, as he said the gathering of the exhibite from all parts of the United States and the world served as educator

President Myers' Address.

He was followed by President Jefferson Myers, of the Oregon State Commission, who welcomed the Bugene citizens and who welcomed the Eugene citizens and the State University to the Exposition, urging that they attend the Fair as often as possible. He spoke in glowing terms of the university, as he did of the residents of the City of Eugene. In the course of his remarks he said that the officials were only a small part of the Exposition, saying it was an institution of learning and advancement, made possible only by the money subscribed by the citizens of the State of Oregon and the United States. Both President Goode and President Myers were received with applause. In response to the addresses of the Exposition officials, Mayor F. N. Wilkins spoke on behalf of Eugene and Lane County. President P 1. Campbell, of the State University, delivered an eloquent address. His appearance on the platform was the signal for a spectaneous outburst of application of a spectaneous outburst of application as president in the platform was the signal for a spectaneous outburst of application of the Fair; the service was president for a spectaneous outburst of application and the platform was the signal for a spectaneous outburst of applications of the Fair; the service was president for a spectaneous outburst of application of the Fair; the service was president for a spectaneous outburst of applications of the platform was the signal for a spectaneous outburst of applications of the platform was the signal for a spectaneous outburst of applications of the platform was the signal for a spectaneous outburst of applications of the platform was the signal for a spectaneous outburst of applications of the platform was the signal for a spectaneous outburst of applications.

President Campbell Speaks.

President Campbell said in part: President Campbell said in part:
The University of Occaon recognizes in this great Exposition a powerful co-operating force in the broad field of education. Here is to be found the unconscious insuition of the bighter standards of excellence of all the peoples of the world. Sampaths is broadened and hope is strengthened for the triumph of all that is best in civilization. It is an opportunity of education for the whole people that this Exposition has peculiar excellence. The Lewis and Clark expedition resulted in the expansion of our territory that gave apportunity for material wealth to all classes of our efficience.

The properet must had his chance for 646 area of land. But these pioneers who had note bevolve sacrifices to reach the land of romine were not content for material wealth one, but realized that in the complex life modern cillyination high training was become to give their children equality of operations of the broad life of the intellect and se soul. So they founded educational institutes, the broad milversity in every sense the word, including the public achools and se higher educational organizations of collect and university peoper.

So their dualities and the soul. So their founded educational institutions, the broad university in every sense of the word, including the public schools and the higher educational organizations of college and university peoper.

Equality of opportunity in all fields of human endeavor was their watchword. It is for that that our American civilization sands primarily. Give each man his chance and heave it to each to work out his own desting. The university stands for opportunity and training for the pich and poor alike. In business, in handlewelt, in professional life, each may have his chance to gain the benefit of the experision of all the best that the past has achieved. The standard of preparation for the lichard of preparation for the labour of life is steadily advanting, and it is hardly too much to hope that in the near distant future a university training, its the broader sense of university training, its the presence of university training, its the professional life, each the professional life, sense of the labour of life is steadily advanting, and it is hardly too much to hope that in the professional life, sense of the labour of life is steadily advanting, and its hardly too much to hope that in the professional life, sense of the labour of life is steadily advanting, and its hardly too much to hope that in the profession of the labour of life is steadily advanting.

Bust of Jefferson.

President Campbell also thanked the Exposition officials for the courtesies and attentions that had been extended them by the Exposition officials. W. D. Peulon delivered an eloquent and interesting address, taking as his subject "Thomas Jefdress, taking as his subject "Thomas Jef-ferson." At the close of his speech he stepped aside to a corner of the porch, which was draped with two huge Amer-ican flags. Pulling a cord, the flags fell spart, showing a beautiful bust of the great American statesman, Thomas Jef-ferson. The bust was a present from the Alumni Association to the university. The suddence, the greater part of which we nudience, the greater part of which was sented, arose as one body when the bust was unveiled, and burst into obsers and exchamations of admiration and astonish-

S. H. Priendly, chairman of the execu tive committee of the Board of Regents closed the exercises, thanking the Alumni Association for the magnificent bust. Mr Friendly spoke on behalf of the Board of Regents. The bust will remain in the position, when it will be transferred to the State University at Eugene. Music for the exercises was furnished by the Administration Band.

Following the ceremonies, the Eugene ladies held a reception on the lower floor of the Oregon building and the Albany dies occupied the apartments of the sec-ond floor. Punch was served at both re-ceptions, which were largely attended by Portiand residents. The rooms were bean-tifully decorated with flowers and plants of all descriptions. The members of the Lakme Quartet volunteered their serv-ices and rendered a pleasing and entertaining programme during the reception given by the Albany ladies.

PORTLAND, June 18 .- (To the Editor.) -- As with interest your editorial of today on "Portland Graftera." Now in regard to the number of cherries that can be purchased in Portland just now for a nickel 1 think your estimate of "not many" is incorrect. Two or three days ago I saw a man at the corner of Fifth and Washington streets selling cherries—good, fresh, ripe cherries, at two quarts for a mickel. One could hardly expect more than this, even in the absence of the abnormal conditions due to the Exposition. Ten days in Portland disclosed no reason for complaint against the residents of the "City of Roses" on the score of high prices. As But at other restaurants good restaurants, where the food is well cooked and well served —we had good means for 50 and 60 cents each,

Indeed, the only occasion for adverse criticism we found in connection with the Exposition was in the methods of some of the smaller exhibitors at the Fab. It seems to be impossible to view many of the exhibits without being urgently solicited in purchase. The methods of three exhibitors are most offensive; they are the methods of "absent" second-hand dealers of Baxier airset. They refuse to permit the visitor to inspect the exhibits in confort. They hawk their wares like so many street peddiers, and if a visitor but looks in their direction they pounce upon him like so many cabmen. This was the name Mining Company. This was the name under which Jordan worked his scheme in Portland, and in the City of Destiny a company was called the Jordan Manu-facturing Company.

company was called the Jordan Manufacturing Company.

Kerwin, who was one of the Tacoma victims, stated that Jordan endeavored to get him to give him $6000 down and he at first agreed to pay it, but reconsidered and paid $350, next $1000. Me also turned over some checks: altogether he was out about $4000. Kerwin admitted that Jordan found him easy game, but, pointing to the Portland victims, N. W. Rountree, Dr. S. E. Wright, Dr. H. R. Bieresforf, G. M. Brown and others, he said Jordan had Brown and others, he said Jordan had landed a very respectable-looking lot of suckers in Portland.

N. W. Rountree, who invested $2500 in the International Manufacturing & Min-ing Company, testified that he paid all the bills Jordan owed to trades people, which were many, so that Jordan could go east with a clear head, free from worry, and arrange to put the nut lock on the market. Jordan and his son were each supplied with a return Pullman ticket, and allowed $10 a day expenses. Their reports showed that their expenses averaged 23 a day. Rountree stated that he sent word to Jerdan that there re-mained only 2220.30 in the treasury of the company, after deducting 2200, which was an allowance for Jordan's family. Jordan, on receipt of the advice, at once telegraphed for $220. The witness said he did not know at this time that Jordan was expending the $1500 he received on

Dr. B. E. Wright testified that Jordan endeavored to get Mr. Graham, master mechanic for the O. R. & ... Co., to indores the nut lock, and offered to bribe him to do so, teiling him that with his indoresment he could persuade Fred S. Stanley to invest $20,000 in the scheme. Graham, the witness said, refused, and remarked that Jordan was the worst man he ever met.

G. M. Brown, Warren E. Thomas, Dr. H. R. Biersdorf, Frank Motter, N. W. Rountree and others testified that the reputation of Henry Clay Jordan was very bad. Ralph W. Hoyt, E. E. Miller, Fred E. WIVES ASK FOR DECREES.

Desertion and Cruelty Are Grounds on Which Divorce Is Sought.

Florence Landigan says her husband, John Landigan, has been guilty of cruel and inhuman treatment towards her, and has falsely accused her of unchastity for a share of his property, valued a about $20,000. She also asks for the cus tody of their two minor children. Landigans were married in Los Angeles in 1888, and have resided in Portland for about 15 years. Not long ago they ap-peared in the divorce court, but subse-quently patched up their differences, and

BARNEY BERNARD COMING.

Clever Comedian to Present "The Financier" at Maronam Theater

Barney Bernard, king of all stage comediana in the impersonation of Hebrew comedy characters, is to play an engagement of one week in this city, at the Marquam Grand Theater, beginning next Monday, June 19, with a special matinee

Mr. Bernard's vehicle this season is "The Pinancier," a play written for him by H. D. Cottrell, and said to exactly suit his emple fun-making abilities. In the title-role of this play, Mr. Bernard appears as an old Hebrew merchant, going through both the pleasures of affinence and the pangs of poverty. The humo of the character is ever-present, though there are rare moments of the pathos which makes the whole world kin in the three acts of "The Financier." Everybody will want to see the Belasco company in a magnificent production of the fam play next week. First time Monday night.

Mrs. Fiske in "Leah Kleschna."

The most famous dramatic c n the world are those of Berlin, Vienna and Paris, each city having subsidized theaters supported in part by the government, where permanent companies are maintained. They present a great vaof plays, repertoires ranging from tragedy to comedy. In this way the highest development of the art of acting is made possible. The Manhattan company, which will be seen here with Mrs. Fiske in "Leah Kleschna" is an attempt to carry out, as far as is possible, the plan of the foreign organizations, and of the com-panies made famous here by Wallack, Falmer and Daly, it is a permanent or-ganization, with Mrs. Fiske's New York Theater as its home. A season of five months has only recently been concluded there. Under Mrs. Fiske's direction the Manhattan Company has given perform-ances that have led it to be compared to the Comedie Francaise, of Paris. This company will be seen at the Empire for five nights and Saturday matines, begin-

"Rackett's Wife" bounded into secular favor at the Empire a short time ago and crowded the house to capacity at all performances. So great was the demand that the play will be repeated tomorrow (Sun-day) afternoon and evening and Monday afternoon and evening, making four per-formances in all. This will give those who failed to see it before an opportunity to enjoy a good, long, hearty laugh. It is a play one could laugh at the second or the third time, so complicating are the mix-ups and ludicrous situations. After Monday night the company will rest for the remainder of the week, during Mrs. Fiske's engagement, and reopen Sunday, the 25th, in the great Irish character comedy, "Finnigan's Alley"

Has planned some notable literary features for its Summer numbers. The nevelecties in the July, August and September issues will be written by three of the most distinguished American women authors-Gertrude Atherton. Mrs. Burton Harrison and Molly Elliot Seawell. Mrs. Atherton's story, which will open the July number, is called "The Traveling Thirds," and is a delightful record of the adventures which befall a party of Americans who, for the sake of an experience, travel third-class through Spain.

Mrs. Harrison's novel, "The Carlylea," which will appear in August, is a strong love story of the Civil War-a distinct departure from the author's usual vein. Miss Seawell's "The Chatcau of Montplastr," which will be published in the September number, is considered by those who have read the manuscript to be the author's most humorous work, outranking, in its clever situations and rapid action, this writer's popular "Papa Bouchard."

FIRST STREET BETTERMENT

Property-Owners Object to Paying Assessment While Street - Car Co. Leaves Space Between Tracks Unimproved.

At a meeting of the street committee of the City Council yesterday, an ordinance was recommended assessing the cost of improving Pirat street from the north line of Madison to the south line of Columbia at $538.84. Roswell B. Lamson, one of the prop erty-owners affected, remonstrated against the proposed assessment on the ground that a complete improvement had not been made in that the Portland Con-solidated Bullway Company and the Oregon Water Power & Railway Company, who have car tracks upon that street, had made no attempt to improve the portion covered by their tracks. The matter was considered by the Executive Board at its last regular session and re-ferred to the City Council, with the re-sult, as indicated. The Cousoildated Rallway Company has been alirking the responsibility for mak-ing the improvements in question upon the plea that it did not own the original franchise, but it appears that the blanket franchise given to the City & Suburban Railway Company covers all the points at issue by setting forth the transfer from Graham Glass. Jr., and others to the corporation, which yests the title to the tracks in the Consolidated road. It is the intention of City Auditor Devlin and City Attorney McNgry to take steps this morning to compel the railway comthis morning to compet the railway com-pany to make the necessary repairs be-tween its tracks, and with that object in view, unless there is a radical change in the taotics of the corporation, it is probable that suit will be instituted in the name of the municipality to force a proper observance of its laws.
