

W. W. COTTON FOR FEDERAL JUDGE

Senator Fulton Announces That He Will Probably Be Appointed.

SAYS OFFER WAS MADE

Prominent Attorney Has Made as Condition to His Acceptance That He Be Not Required to Qualify Before Fall.

Senator C. W. Fulton announced last night that W. W. Cotton, in all probability, will be the man appointed to occupy the United States District Judgeship for the District of Oregon left vacant by the death of the late Judge C. R. Bellinger. He has been urged both by Senator Fulton and by Attorney-General Moody to accept the nomination for the place, but up to yesterday had refused for reasons of private business. Yesterday afternoon, however, he agreed to accept the place if he would not be required to qualify for the place before September, and Senator Fulton at once wired the Department of Justice that such was the case.

Mr. Cotton's name was in the list sent by Senator Fulton some time ago as being eligible for the position. This list included the names of Supreme Judge R. S. Bean, of Salem; John L. Hand, of Baker City; Judge T. A. McElreath, of the Fifth District; Judge J. R. Webster, of Portland; W. W. Cotton, also of this city, and perhaps one or two others. Out of the list it is understood that Mr. Cotton was the choice of Senator Fulton for appointment.

W. W. Cotton, who, Senator Fulton announces, will probably be appointed Federal Judge.

According to the announcement made by Senator Fulton yesterday afternoon he was authorized to tender the nomination to Mr. Cotton prior to the visit of the latter to California about a month ago. Mr. Cotton at the time considered the matter, and while in California telegraphed the Senator that it would be impossible for him to accept, owing to business connected with his present position, as well as his private affairs. When he returned to Portland the matter was again taken up with him by Senator Fulton, and again he stated that he was impossible to accept the honor at this time.

A few weeks ago the question was again broached to Mr. Cotton, and it was said at that time he could accept the nomination if he were given until September to settle his affairs and qualify for the place. The place if the Senator's decision and answer was made that it could be arranged as desired by him. In the meantime, however, Mr. Cotton had considered the matter further and had made up his mind not to be a candidate. He told Senator Fulton so and the latter again telegraphed the department that he was not a candidate.

Thursday afternoon another telegram was received by Senator Fulton from Attorney-General Moody, asking if the decision were final, and the Senator again went to talk the question over with Mr. Cotton. Yesterday the attorney made a final decision and agreed with the Senator to accept the place if the Senator would consent to wait until September before requiring the qualification to be made. Attorney-General Moody was notified of the late decision before Senator Fulton left for Astoria yesterday afternoon.

"I have reason to believe," said the Senator in talking of the matter, "that Mr. Cotton will be appointed. From assurances I have received from the Department of Justice, I do not think there is any doubt of it. He has been urged to take the place both by myself and by Attorney-General Moody, and I think that there is but little doubt of his appointment."

Mr. Cotton is perhaps one of the best-known attorneys in this state, and in Washington, having been for years the chief of the legal department of the O. R. & N. and in that capacity having taken an active interest in promoting legislation favorable to that railroad and defeating legislation opposed to it. He was also associated with the late Judge Bellinger in the codification of the Oregon laws, known as Bellinger and Cotton's annotated laws of Oregon.

CLASS OF FOUR GRADUATES

Commencement Exercises Held at First Congregational Church.

A class of four was graduated from the Allen preparatory school last night, the commencement exercises being held in the First Congregational Church. Although the class was comparatively small, the two young ladies and two young men who composed it had friends enough to fill the large auditorium of the church, which had been tastefully decorated with palms and greens for the occasion. The graduates were: Clara Emily Jones, Lovetta Showers, James Howard Huddleston, Jr., and James Andrew Miller. Mrs. Allen, in presenting their diplomas, paid them the highest tribute which a teacher could offer to pupils, saying they had been more than ordinarily intelligent, most industrious and had during the four years of their school course been a good example and an incentive for good work to the rest of the school.

President H. L. Campbell of the State University, delivered the class address, taking for his topic "Responsibility and Opportunity." He pointed out many opportunities which present themselves in the every-day life of the student which are ordinarily overlooked and a responsibility in a more favorable light than the average individual is inclined to regard it. His advice to the graduates was timely and well put, and his good wishes for their future school life, which they all will soon enter, was most sincere and heart-felt.

The musical numbers provided were especially good. Miss Margaret Hallen, who is but a little girl, gave a most acceptable number on the violin, showing a wonderful interpretation and fine bow work.

Miss Evelyn Hurley and Miss Helen Barstow were the soloists, both in splendid voice. Miss Hurley's number was "Were My Song With Wings Provided" (Reynaldo Hahn), and Miss Barstow sang Nevin's "Rat Song" and "The Song My Mother Taught Me" (Anton Dvorak). Great quantities of flowers were presented to the graduates by their friends, and these were distributed at the close of the interesting programme and congratulations offered. Mrs. Allen's school has proved unusually successful this year, and she is justly proud of the good work her students are accomplishing.

LATE STREET-CAR SERVICE

Exposition Causes Change Which Gives Better Facilities for Travel.

Portland can be thankful to the Exposition in the future for late car service over the greater number of the lines running from the heart of the city to the various residence districts. Since the opening of the Exposition the Portland Consolidated Street Railway Company has been making an effort to perfect a later schedule than has heretofore been run. As a result the time has been changed on practically all of the lines running through the central part of the city.

All of the East Side lines, with the exception of the Woodstock service, now runs out from town at 12:30, while in the case of that car the time is 12:25. The Richmond, the East Ankeny and Montaville, and the Mount Tabor, the Brooklyn, and Lower Albina cars all leave the central part of the city at 12:30. The Woodstock car leaves at 12:35 for the barn, at 12:40 for the Upper Albina cars at 12:35, the East Ankeny and Twenty-eighth street line leaves at 12:35.

On the west side the "S" line leaves the Fair grounds on the last trip south at 12:07 o'clock, and is due at Third and Morrison at 12:35 for the southern end of the line. The thirty-third-street line leaves the foot of Washington street for its last run at 12:11, running from there to the barn.

The change in the service gives the residents of Portland from ten minutes to half an hour longer to catch the last cars for their homes when down town at night. Heretofore the last cars have been leaving at the greater number of instances at midnight. The change has been made effective during the course of the Exposition, but it is the opinion of those interested in the service that no change will be made after the close of the Fair.

DEATH OF J. M. ROBINSON

He Was a Member of Captain McDonnell's Company, Second Oregon.

Jesse Moreland Robinson, a Second Oregon volunteer, died Thursday night in St. Vincent's Hospital, after a long illness of several months. He was 47 years old and native-born, his birthplace being in Clackamas County, and his parents being well-known pioneers. He lived for years in East Portland, and was engaged in the bicycle business in Portland. Several years ago, in order to demonstrate his extraordinary endurance as a wheelman, he wheeled through the West Side with the Sunday Oregonians, sometimes covering over 100 miles in a day.

He was among the first to join the Second Oregon Regiment, and went to the Philippines, where he had several narrow escapes. He was with Captain C. S. McDonnell's company. Since returning he had been constantly falling ill. His funeral will be held tomorrow at 2:30 P. M. from Dunning's undertaking chapel, East Sixth and Alder streets, and the interment will be in Lone Fir Cemetery, where "tags" will be given by Captain Robble. Services will be conducted by the Second Oregon Spanish-American Volunteers, and all members of the Second Oregon Regiment are invited to attend. It is expected that Chaplain W. S. Gilbert will officiate.

FEDERATION BOARD MEETS

Court Officers and Newspapers Asked to Assist Reformation.

At the monthly meeting of the Federation Board of Women's clubs yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. Samuels, Mrs. C. B. Baker, Mrs. A. L. Dimick and Miss Emma Butler were appointed a special committee to wait on the Judge of the Juvenile Courts and the managing editor of the Portland papers to secure their co-operation in carrying out the real purposes of the Juvenile Court. This committee will communicate with the chief of Police for the purpose of the object of this movement is to secure as far as possible and practicable names of children and their parents from publication where the former are arraigned for their first offense, and before they have become criminals.

The corresponding secretary was instructed to ascertain if lists of the names and addresses of the officers of the Federation and presidents of the affiliating clubs may be placed in the Oregon building on the Fair grounds, and in the principal hotels of Portland. The object is to make it possible for visiting clubwomen from abroad to be placed in immediate communication with the officers of Portland women's clubs on their arrival, should they desire to see them.

Miss A. L. Dimick was appointed delegate to the convention of Public Charities and Corrections, which will be held in Portland in July.
