Technicalities Brushed Aside, Work of Getting Jury Will Start.

GOVERNMENT CASE

What Heney Will Seek to Show Well Outlined, but Plan of Defense Is Kept Concealed

From All.

Today Senator John H. Mitchell will at last be brought face to face with the charge made against him by the Federal grand jury, that be has violated the trust reposed in him by the people of the State of Oregon and has used his position for his personal gain.

A long interval has elapsed since the adjournment of the grand jury and the cessation of its sensational disclosures and allegations. The dilatory plea of abstement, the demurrer to the indictment, the contention concerning the manner of drawing the trial jury all have come before the notice of the court and have been settled, and yesterday morning Senstor Mitchell, in answer to the summons of United States District Attorney Heney, appeared before Judge De Haven in person and entered a plea of not guilty person and entered a plea of not gullty the charge of the crime alleged in the

Two Hundred Veniremen.

The summons have been served on the 200 men throughout the state who are to compose the list from which the trial jurors are to be drawn. Many of those summoned have already reached the city, though a large number are yet to come and will perhaps appear during the session of the court today. The usual percentage of the total is ready to enter reasons why it should be excused from duty, and the court has set today as the time for hearing and deciding upon the validity of these excuses. summons have been served on the ity of them excuses.

The court will convene this morning at 10 o'clock, when the work of selecting a jury will be at once commenced. How long it will take to find 12 men who know nothing of the merits of the case about to be tried, who are not acquainted with the Senator or his attorneys or who have formed no opinion and have no shade of bias either for or against the defendant, is a matter of uncertain conjecture. It may be possible, if the men come right, that the 12 who will decide the case can be secured during the first day, but in view of the greate interest that has been taken in the case from the first, it is hardly thought probable that the last man will be selected and the jury sworn much

The Government will have many witnesses in tracing the cridence of its case from the first to the last. Of there Production A Kribs and Judge A. H. Tannes will evidence of its case from the first to the last. Of these Froferick A. Kribs and Judge A. H. Tanner will, without doubt, be the two most important and the most damaging to the cause of the defense. W. A. Richarda, Commissioner of the General Land Office, reached the city yesterday and will, it is presumed, tell of the efforts supposed to have been made in behalf of Mr. Kribs by Senator Mitchell before the Land Office. Harry C. Robertson, former private secretary to Senator Mitchell; the bookkeepers at the banks in which were deposited the accounts of the Mitchell & Tanner law firm, the senographers in the office, and many other persons have been subpocused by the Government and will be examined and cross-examined. The part of the defense is not expected to be so long, but the whole will occupy the major portion of the control of the control of the companion of the companion of the complainants at this time, and care to act on the verbal reports of a number of persons who cannot substantiate their charges.

by indict.

Army and convention of the Women's Relief Corps of the State of Oregon will convene at Oregon City and be in session during Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week. The committee on credentials of each order will meet at 5 General to at 10 and the first business session will convent at 10 and the first business session ment that Senator Mitchell, his partner, A. H. Tanner, and Prederick A. Kribs en-tered into an agreement by which the firm was to expedite and bring to patent various timber land claims held by Kribs and under suspension in the Land Office. According to the allega-tions of the Government, Senator Mitch-ell was to do the work necessary in Washington. while Tanner transacted the Portland end of the business. In purguance of this, it is charged that Sena-ter Mitchell through his influence, caused a number of claims to be passed to patent then they were fraudulent, and that for Pebruary 13, 1902, $1000 June 14, $500 September 20, $555 January 4, 1904, and $200 October 8, 1904. It is further alleged that this money was put to the firm account, was afterwards divided and half of the net remainder placed to the private ac-count of Senator Mitchell.

The Government will attempt to prove these assertions by the testimony of Tan-ner, who it is supposed, will tell of the sgreement made, of the work done and of the money handled by him. In support of this, it is expected, will be introduced the testimony of Kribs who will tell of the contract made and who will identify the checks paid by himself to the firm and tell for what particular service they were given. The bank books and records are expected to show the deposits and the subsequent division of the firm receipts into the private accounts of the two artners. This with corroboration, will all probability be the Government's

Defense Is Reticent.

What line the defense will adopt to unknown, though it is supposed that every technicality available will be taken advantage of in an effort to pick a flaw in the prosecution Neilther Senator Thurston nor Attorney Bennett will drop a hint as to what they will do for their client. It is thought that Senator Mitch-ell will take the stand in his own behalf in an effort to explain away the charges made against him, but this is uncertain, inasmuch as the attorneys will make no statement as to their plans. They have not consulted about the matter, so they say, when questioned, thus leaving the point in darkness. By the end of the week, and not before, can anything be told with certainty of the attitude of the

Mr. Stanley is interested in the irrigation question and is well acquainted with the country which will be traversed. He will serve to a degree as the guide for the party.

The road will be a costly one to construct and operate, as the country is rugged, and the grade will in some places reach 125 feet to the mile. Careful calculations will be made, therefore, before any recommendations are made, but the residents of the district are confident that they will be able to demonstrate the practicability of the proposed line with such effect that it will be built in the nea future.
