Hobb went to the hotel last night about 2 o'clock, and this morning just before 7 o'clock began throwing furni-ture from the windows to the street. Several persons narrowly escaped being struck.

Then he began firing, using a shotgun. He placed $50 and $100 bills in the muzzle of the weapon, and fragments of the paper were scattered all over the street.

The first person he hit was shot at about 7:15 o'clock. A big crowd quickly gathered, and hundreds of men were prevented from passing the place by fear of being killed. Street-car traffic was entirely auspended after one car had been fired upon and its windows broken.

At 2 o'clock Lieutenant John Green, of the police, rushed a strong squad to the scene, among the officers being five members of the crack riffe team of the department. They, were unable to accomplish anything, however, as the maniac was strongly intrenched in his room and appeared to have an unlimited amount of ammunition.

It was determined that Lobb must be captured, dead or alive, and all the rooms adjoining the one he occupied were quickly filled with armed officers. a lively fusiliade was begun through the door, transom and walls of the madman's stronghold, to which he responded with remarkable rapidity. The ing walls and the police were soon covered with the white fiakes and nearly blinded by the lime. Officer Kassine attempted to peer through the transom, when he received a charge of shot which disfigured his face and completely riddled his helmet. Then Officer Hutchins descended from the roof to the room window, while the other n made an attack in force on the

When Hutchins saw the maniac's at tention was diverted, he gave a pre-arranged signal by firing his revolver. Hearing the report from an unexpected quarter, the murderous lunatic rushed to the window, which was open, and literally blew off the top of his own head, the brains and fragments of the skull flying through the air, to the horror of the thousands of spectators who had assembled in the neighborhood, which is near the heart of the city.
