The regulars, the Exposition Guards and the bluejackets, defenders of their country's honor and integrity of this modern age, bared their heads yesterday afternoon at the fair when the battle-scarred veterans of the Civil War flocked through the gates after the reunion at the Armory.

It first began with a few patriotic soldiers who raised their caps upon the appearance of a veteran. It spread like contagion, and all during the afternoon the soldiers and the sailors could be seen baring their heads to the members of the G. A. R.

Many a tear glistened in the eyes of the old men when they saw the younger generation of the boys in blue with caps aloft. Some of the veterans were so affected that they could hardly keep from breaking into tears. The majority of them insisted upon grasping and shaking the hands of the soldiers and bluejackets. It was not an infrequent sight to see a group of the veterans and soldiers, the old telling of the great battles they had survived in the Civil War. When the old men had finished their narratives, the younger men would tell of their experiences in the Spanish-American War.

The old soldiers were particularly interested in the Government exhibit at the Exposition, and spent hours examining and inspecting the various features and displays. They also took in the Trail, where they were royally entertained, most of the concessions instituting a special rate for the veterans.

The old soldiers were given a reception in the Washington building by the hostesses, Mrs. H. L. Mead, of Centralia, and Mrs. W. M. Urquhart, of Chehalis, and their assistants. Several hundred old veterans, with their wives and children, were entertained. Punch and wafers were served as refreshments. C. D. Spencer, of Centralia, gave an exceedingly interesting account of his experiences in the Civil War.

The visitors to the Washington building yesterday were presented with souvenir flags, which were distributed by the hundreds. The building and parlors were beautifully decorated in honor of the members of the G. A. R. Flags and bunting literally covered the ceilings and walls. There was also a lavish display of flowers and evergreens.

Yesterday was also "Chehalis Rose" day at the Washington building. Over 2000 roses had been expressed from Chehalis, and these were all given away. Today Chehalis souvenirs will be presented to callers at the building. The Centralia hostesses will present souvenir cards to visitors. There has been a musical programme at the Washington building every day this week. Miss Kate Martin and Miss Laura Taylor, assistant hostesses from Centralia, are talented musicians and have assisted in the entertainments.

Will Establish California Bureaus.

Information bureaus are to be established immediately by the Lewis and Clark Exposition management at San Francisco and Los Angeles. Another is being planned for Seattle. Henry E. Reed, as director of exploitation, has decided upon this course, owing to the general demand for information regarding the Fair at the points in question. The bureaus will undoubtedly reach thousands of Coast visitors. Colin R. McLennan, chief of the excursion bureau, left last night for California to establish the two bureaus. The one at Los Angeles will be in charge of F. L. Duchesne, who has been connected with the Exposition press bureau for the past six months. The San Francisco office will be conducted by J. G. Cayrell. Large quantities of printed matter bearing on Oregon and the Exposition will be consigned to the bureaus at once.

Trip for Press Associations.

Arrangements are fully completed for the entertainment of the California Press Association and of the Utah Press Association by the Portland Board of Trade. Today they will be given an excursion on the Columbia River. The steamer Undine has been chartered, and will leave the foot of Taylor street at 7:30 o'clock this morning. The trip will extend into the gorge of the Columbia, the terminus being at Collins Hot Springs, where dinner will be served. The steamer will be tastefully decorated and everything will be arranged for the comfort of the guests. Some impromptu program will be given on the boat. On the return those who desire can leave the boat at her usual landing and the remainder will be carried free of charge to the Oaks.

The Governor of California and his family will be guests, as will also the California commissioners. Many prominent persons have been invited, and have signified their willingness to go.

Reception to Naval Officers.

The reception and ball in honor of Rear-Admiral Goodrich and the officers of the Portland Squadron at the American Inn tonight promises to be one of the distinct social events of the Exposition. More than 1200 invitations have been sent out. The guests will include the visiting members of the Congressional-Frigate party. The reception line will consist of Rear-Admiral Goodrich, Exposition President Goodie, Captain Moore, of the cruiser Chicago; Commander Niles, of the Boston; Lieutenant Niles, of the torpedo-boat destroyer Perry, and other officers of the vessels in the harbor. The Inn is being handsomely decorated for the occasion. There will be dancing and an elaborate supper in the European dining-room.

Hostesses for Olympia Day.

OLYMPIA, Wash., June 21.—Mrs. A. H. Chambers, Olympia hostess at the Lewis and Clark Exposition, has named the following as her assistants: Mrs. H. E. Hadley, Mrs. Wallace Mount, Mrs. O. V. Linn, Mrs. G. E. Phley, Mrs. A. S. Ruth, Mrs. H. H. Carlson, Mrs. J. N. Bodgath, Mrs. S. A. Madge, Mrs. Hugh Rose, Mrs. W. L. Bridgeford, Mrs. J. R. Mitchell, Miss Moore, Miss Oppenheimer and Miss Will Sobey.

Dr. Wright Will Preach.

Rev. Merle St. C. Wright, of New York City, will preach at the religious exercises in the Exposition Auditorium tomorrow afternoon. The services will be conducted by Rev. William S. Gilbert, of Portland, and special music will be given by the Boyer quartet, composed of Judge Harry W. Hogue, J. H. Boyer, Dom J. Zan and W. A. Montgomery. Mr. Wright is one of the well-known ministers of New York, and has come to Portland especially for the services tomorrow at the invitation of a committee on congress and conferences.

LOHENGRIN SUNDAY.

Wagner's Exquisite Romantic Opera to Be the Feature of Tomorrow's Music at the Fair.

"Parsifal," the wonderful religious drama of the Knights of the Holy Grail, was the delight of thousands who listened to its music last Sunday evening. The opera Lohengrin, which is to be given tomorrow by Innes' band, tells the story of the return to the world of one of these noble knights to aid the beautiful Princess Elsa. The tender music cannot fail to charm.

Following are the selections which will be heard tomorrow: Yorpsel, Wedding Scene, Procession to the Cathedral; The King's Prayer; Elsa's Dream; Verandlung's Music. Soloists, Mrs. Partridge, soprano; Mr. Paul Wessinger, baritone.

Those unfamiliar with any of the selections are welcome to call at our store at any time today and become acquainted with them by means of the piano. Mr. Bruce, manager of the piano department, is prepared to play them, and to offer explanations to those interested. Music rolls of this opera, as well as of the opera "Parsifal," can be procured for either orchestral or piano. Ellers Piano House, 251 Washington street, corner Park.

SEATTLE'S DAY AT EXPOSITION

Thousands From Puget Sound Metropolis Will Be on Grounds.

FEATURES OF OCCASION

All the Visitors Come to the Fair With a Spirit to Join in Boosting the Centennial at Portland.

EXPOSITION ATTENDANCE, 15,878.
The attendance at the Exposition yesterday numbered 15,878. Today will be Seattle day, and a large crowd is expected to be on the grounds.

The Lewis and Clark Exposition belongs to Seattle today, as the citizens of Portland have only too willingly relinquished their rights of possession in favor of the thousands of eager and enthusiastic excursionists from Puget Sound, who have been pouring into the city in hordes to celebrate "Seattle" day. The whole of the Exposition and the whole of the City of Portland have been turned over to the visitors.

COL. SHANNON AT THE FAIR

IS THE SON OF ONE OF THE EARLY EXPLORERS.
His Father Was With the Lewis and Clark Expedition to the Pacific Coast.

Colonel W. R. Shannon, of Fowler, Cal., son of George Shannon, who accompanied the Lewis and Clark expedition, was an interested and interesting visitor on the fair grounds yesterday. With his wife, Colonel Shannon arrived Thursday evening. They

"WHAT COULD OUR NAVY DO IF—?"

This Question Will Be Completely Answered in the Sunday Oregonian.

At this time, when one of the most absorbing questions before the country is that of a larger Navy, and everybody has been asking his neighbor, since Topog's great victory, "What could our own Navy do if—?", no article could be more timely than one to be published in the Sunday Oregonian tomorrow.

It gives a complete answer to the query now on the tongue of all good Americans; it tells just what our own Navy is; how it has quadrupled within the last seven years; what ships are now building; the enormous number of big guns we shall soon possess on our floating fortresses; and much more information along the same line that the majority of us are ignorant of and will be surprised to learn. No article written within recent years about the Navy gives such a clear idea of what our Navy really is as to ships, guns, personnel, and that most important feature of a good navy—marksmanship.

Watch for it in the Sunday Oregonian, Tomorrow

itors from Seattle, who have left their homes to join hands with their neighbors in the Exposition to honor the two famed explorers, Lewis and Clark.

It is just the same as though the Exposition stood on Seattle soil, as Seattle will dominate everything at the fair today. For weeks the citizens of Seattle have been awaiting with the utmost anticipation the day that they could attend the Exposition in a body to present to the world an example of the Seattle spirit, which has become a part of the growing and progressive city. Mayor R. A. Ballinger issued several proclamations to the residents of Seattle, urging them to attend, if possible, the Lewis and Clark Exposition on the day set aside for their entertainment and enjoyment.

Heavy Attendance Assured.

As a result the attendance from Seattle is great, and far exceeds the expectations of those who interested themselves in bringing a large representation to Portland. It has been estimated that there are fully 6000 Seattle visitors in Portland, but others place the figure slightly below. There arrived in Portland yesterday afternoon two special trains which contained at the lowest estimate 1500 visitors. For days the travel from Seattle to Portland has been unusually heavy. Yesterday the trains leading from Seattle to Portland were crowded to their utmost capacity, and all along the line extra coaches had to be added.

Mayor Ballinger said last night that the citizens of Seattle were taking as much interest in the Exposition as the Portland residents. He said they were "boosting" the Fair in the same spirit as they "boost" their own city. Mayor Ballinger has been a staunch friend of the Exposition from the very start, and the large representation in Portland from Seattle is partly due to his own efforts. Besides Mayor Ballinger, the Seattle contingent contains many of the most prominent public men and citizens of the State of Washington.

Exercises for Seattle Day.

The exercises for "Seattle" day will be held in the Washington building at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The upper story of the structure has been reserved for the ceremonies. President H. W. Goodie will deliver the first address, welcoming the visitors from Seattle to the Exposition on behalf of the corporation. Mayor Williams will extend greetings to them in the interest of the City of Portland. Mayor Ballinger will deliver the responding address. The other speakers will be: United States Senator Samuel Piles, Judge

HOLDS SESSION OF DISORDER

St. Louis Commission to Report.

Senator Thomas H. Carter, of Montana, arrived in Portland yesterday by invitation of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition Commission to assist in completing the commission's final report to the President on its stewardship of the $5,000,000 appropriated to the use of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition Complex, under certain conditions, among which was that the Government's commissioners should share responsibility in making the awards. There was a disagreement between the Exposition Company and the commission as to the meaning of this clause, and a breach of relationship resulted, which has never been healed. Although awards were made, certificates were issued upon which the names of the Government commissioners did not appear. The incident was caused by the failure of the commission by submission of a report to the President and Congress.

Good Roads Convention Seems Like a Veritable Pandemonium.

For three hours pandemonium reigned in the Exposition auditorium yesterday afternoon, when Col. R. W. Richardson claimed that he had been elected president of the National Good Roads Association, and President W. H. Moore contended that he had not. So stormy grew the interlude that the delegates finally elected Judge John H. Scott, of Salem, chairman of the convention, and gave him power to appoint a committee to settle the matter.

Richardson Is Declared President, but Afterwards the Whole Dispute Is Referred to a Committee to Report Today.

Several times during the proceedings, the debates grew so hot that the delegates almost came to blows, and the report courteous rapidly transformed itself into the roar of a battle. The principal contention was over the meaning of the constitution, which provided that the president should be elected by a majority of the delegates.
