CALIFORNIA HAS RECEPTION

It Is Given in Honor of Governor Pardee.

One of the most delightful social events that have occurred at the Exposition was the reception yesterday afternoon at the California building in honor of Governor Pardee, California's Chief Executive. The invitation list was large and the afternoon was as delightful as California hespitality can make it—which is saying much. The reception occurred in the pallery, which was converted into a typical California garden with masses of flowers and subtropical plants. Last Day of Innes' Band.

Tomorrow marks the last day of the Innes band at the Exposition. The four weeks' engagement will be at an end and Liberati's band will make its pearance for the second four weeks daily concerts. While the lines band has proved an exceptional musical or-ganization and has won all Exposition visitors by its delightful concerts. the incoming band is well fitted to take its place, being one of the famous bands of the world.

Mr. Innes and his musicians will give a farewell concert tomorrow evening. It will be held on Gray's boulevard, if the weather is favorable, otherwise in the Auditorium. A programme suitable to the occasion has been selected. Leaving Portland the band will tour Washington. Montana and Idaho and will then make Topeks and finish the season with week stands in big Eastern and Southern cities. The Liberati band is now en route bere from the East and is due in Port-Its first concert in set for Thursday afternoon.

Seventy-five schoolteachers from the State of Iowa arrived in town last night and apent the day in visiting different points

Lewis and Clark Exposition, and before coming here, went to the south and paid short visits to Santa Barbara and Santa pected here in the first part of July, on their way to the Fair. They are from Toronto. Canada, and will travel in a special train consisting of baggage-car, diner, coach and four sleepers. They will be under the guidance of Mrs. E. M. Cuthbert, and she calls it her "house party.

"Parsiful" Is Repeated.

Selections from "Parelfal" were played for the second time by lunes and his band at the Exposition Auditorium last night before a good crowd of musical enthu-siants. The hall was well filled, and the various numbers on the programme proved themselves very popular.

Mr. Innes gave the first of his "Parsifal" programme a week age last Sunday, and received so much favorable mention that he resolved to repeat the concert last night, which was equally successful.

Inner Band will leave the Fair on Thursday, and the last concert will be held Wednesday evening, when farewell selections will be on the programme,

SEATTLE, June M .- (Special.)-Colone Prank Wilkeson, a former members of the Washington Legislature and one of the survivors employed on the Northern Pa-cific construction days has returned from Kannas with the story that thousands of farmers in that state will go to Portland to visit the Fair as soon as the wheat crop is harvested.

opened under the concession so granted, were in running order. I published, as ovidence of good faith, a personal guarantee in the three Portland papers, to stand behind all transactions, to correct abuses, rectify mistakes, in measuring or fitting eyes, and give ample satisfaction to all patrons. And I have kept my word. What has been the results? Out of hundreds of cases of eyes fitted, there have been a half a dozen or so of complaints registered. In several of these, I have, made slight but satisfying changes in the lenses prescribed, and in others I have returned the money paid. A notable case of the latter settlement was that of a woman so extravagantly misstated by a woman so extravagantly missiated by the "Fifth-street barber." So far from paying 210.00 for a bettle of "cureal." as mallelously reported, this "particular victim" secured three pairs of glasses and Fair, Issued in my name and conducted under my auspices. I believe in justice to myself and those who awarded the concession that the time is ripe for a categorical reply to my accusers and defamers. In order that this reply may be thorough, comprehensive and final, it will be necessary for me to refer back to conditions existing before the opening of the Exposition, while the opical concession was under consideration, but had not yet been granted to any of the numerous bidders.

EXPOSITION ATTENDANCE, 13,101. The crowd of sightseers at the Ruposition yesterday numbered 12,281.

Ex-United States Senstor George W. McBride is to be the president of the Lewis and Clark jury of awards. The place was offered him yesterday morning. and it is believed he will announce his acceptance at an early date to President Goods. The position is one of great im-portance, and the selection of a suitable man has been under consideration for several weeks.

When Director of Exhibits H. E. Dosch, submitted to President Goode and the executive committee on Saturday afternoon a draft of the rules and regulations. covering the making of awards for meti-torious exhibits, it was accompanied by the recommendation that Senator McBride be appointed, but owing to the lateness of the hour no action was taken until

Two Divisions of Jury.

There will be two divisions of the jury, as provided by the rules and regulations. The executive committee or jury of awards will make final adjustments and consider the work of the examining jurors, of whom there will be 100.

The personnel of the jury of awards will include President Goods, Exhibits pri-rector Dosch and Senator McBride. The other two jurous have not yet been decided upon, at least not so far as cm. be learned. The power of appointing one be learned. The power of appointing one of them rests with the representatives of foreign countries which are participating in the Fair. The state commission will have the naming of the fifth.

The 108 jurous will be recruited from among the various Government officials and attar representatives at the Fair. No one who has a competitive exhibit or any interest in one will be permitted to serve. merve.

Work of Jury.

The work of the jury will begin next The work of the jury will begin next menth. Entry blanks have already been provided and are now being distributed among exhibitors. Nearly a hundred were applied for yesterday by different classes of exhibitors, and the forthcoming work of the award jury is the matter of general discussion among those who have displays in any of the various buildings. It is provided in the rules and regulations that there shall be four classes of awards, a gold medal, a sliver medal, a bronze medal and a diploma of honorable mention. In addition there is provision for a special award in the event the jurors find an exhibit article of excepsion for a special award in the event the jurors find an exhibit article of excep-tional merit. This will be known as the grand prize or diploma of highest award. The jurors will extend their field of in-vestigation to every article which is en-tered. The 100 jurors will be grouped and upon making their findings will report to the executive jury or jury of awards. Awards will not be made on articles ac-cording to their state of perfection in cording to their state of perfection in comparison with other similar exhibits at the Fair, but upon real merit. Hence the exhibitor who has the only exhibit. of its kind at the Fair will stand no better chance of gaining an award than the man who has a hundred competitors,

Paid Staff of Experts.

While the jurors will receive no com-pensation, it will be necessary to secure a paid staff of experts to decide on exhibits paid stair of experts to decide on exhibits where an analysis or special test must be made. These experts will be named as their services are needed.

The work of making awards will continue from the latter part of next month until the close of the Exposition. It is to compete for these awards that a majority of exhibitors enter their wares, and thus the very highest class of articles is secured.

Dayton Week at the Fair.
