WILL STAY AT THE PALACE

Complete Reason for This Action Is Not Given-President's Daughter Enjoying Trip With All Father's Enthusiasm

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., July 5 - (Special.)-For some unexplained reason, Miss Alice Roosevelt has withdrawn her ac-ceptance of the hospitality of Mrs. V. H. Metcalf, wife of the Secretary of Commerce and Labor, during her stay in Callfornia on the way to the Philippines. Miss Roosevelt was to have been the guest of Mrs Metcalf at the Lamors her beautihome in the Piedmont Hills, back of Oakland. The proposed receptions and luncheons have been canceled by Mrs.

The supposition is that Miss Roosevelt found that it would be impossible for her to take part in the scheduled festivities unless she had apartments in San Francisco. Mrs. Dubois, the wife of the Sena-tor, will act as her chaperon. Colonel J. C. Kirkpatrick, of the Palace

Hotel, has received a telegram from Colonel Clarence R. Edwards to reserve rooms for Miss Roosevelt, and nine rooms on the third floor have been set aside for her. Colonel Edwards is chief of the Insular Bureau, and is conducting the Taft party the Philippines. His telegram to the daughter also stated that she would share them with two traveling companions, her chums, Miss Mabel T. Boardman, daughter of Mrs. and Mr. William J. Boardman of Washington, D. C., and Miss Amy Mc Millan, daughter of the late Senator from Michigan. The three young women have maide

Miss Roosevelt and her two traveling apanions are included among those of the party who are to pay their own way. The Taft party includes 160 people. About half of them will have to pay their own expenses. Miss Roosevelt's ordinary ex-penses for the trip, like those of the others who have to pay, will-average be-tween $60 and $70 a week. At Shanghai the Viceroy is to present the freedom of the city to the visitors. While at Hongkong Miss Roosevelt and the other women of the party are to be the guests of Sir Matthew Nathan, the Governor and representative of King Edward. A month is to be spent in the Philippines. Ten days of that time will be devoted to Manila. The party is due back in this port October 1.

The Taft party is due in San Francisco at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening. The offi-cial headquarters will be in the marble room of the Palace. Miss Roosevelt is to meet Luther Burbahk here. Burbank has accepted the invitation of President A. W. of the California Northwestern oad, and United States Judge Morrow, to be one of the guests in the party with Miss Rooseveit and Secretary Taft and other distinguished people on the oc-casion of their visit next Thursday to the blg redwoods in the famous Bohemis

SCHRECK WINS BATTLE

Terrific Mill at Salt Lake Causes Severe Punishment.

SALT LAKE CITY, July 3.-Mike Schreck of Chicago, tonight knocked out Dave Barry, of San Francisco, in the twentieth round. The fight went to withing 30 seconds of the full 20 rounds. nearly every round Barry stood up under terrific punishment and showed wonderful recuperative power. Until Schreck landed the right swing on the neck which put Barry down and out, neither man went to the mat. In every round it was flerce, hard milling, and the fight was pro-nounced the best ever seen here.

In the first five rounds neither man had any advantage, both leading and both blocking and covering cleverly. The sixth round was Schreck's. In the five rounds following, Schreck forced the fighting, and both the eighth and ninth ended with Barry in distress and hanging on to avoid punishment. In the tenth Barry was groggy under a shower of blows rained on his head and neck, but when he seemed all but out he staggered Schreck with a right swing to the jaw. The eleventh, twelfth, and thirteenth were not so fast, both men showing the effect of the hard slugging. In the fourteenth Schreck fought Barry to a standstill, landing repeatedly rights and lefts to the head and neck, and opening up a gash under Barry's left eye. The round ended with Barry but beaten, but Schreck lacked the steam to put him out.

Again in the sixteenth Barry was groggy, and was wabbling when the bell ended the round. In the seventeenth, eighteenth and nineteenth Barry was on the defen-sive, but with wonderful gameness stood up and landed hard blows to the head, neck and wind that made the Chicagoan

The twentieth opened with both me tired and Barry in distress. Schreck rushed and both awang wildly. After a clinch Schreck sent Barry's head back with a right to the jaw and sent right and left to the head. Barry swung wildly, but went down under Schreck's rights and lefts to the head, and for a moment hung helpless on the ropes. Schreck for the moment could not deliver the knockout blow, and Barry, recovering, came back at him wildly. Schreck again rained rights and lefts on the head of the Pacific Coast champion, and Barry, again groggy went down and out under a right swing to the neck, rolling under the ropes. After his second carried him to his corner it was a full minute before he recovered. From Reno, Marvin Hart sent a telegram challenging the winner, waiving all conditions and agreeing to fight within

> The body arrived at the station of the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Railroad a few minutes after 10 o'clock and, escorted by troop A of the Oho National Guard, was taken tot the Chamber of Commerce, where it will remain until 9:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, when it will be taken to Wade Chapel in Lake View.

President and Cabinet Going.

Word has been received by the local emmittee that President Roosevelt and members of the cabinet who are to act as honorary pallbearers will arrive over the Pennsylvania Railroad at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning. The President will be driven directly to the Chamof Commerce and the funeral corteg will start for the cemetery within a few minutes after his arrival. Immediately after the conclusion of the services, the President will return to his train and will on his way to Oyster Bay at 3 o'clock.

Immediately the car came to a stop, the committee, marching two and two, en-tered into a line in the rear of the car. Under the command of Lieutenant Otto Miller, of Troop A, four Sergeants of the troop, together with two corporals, one of the leading specialists of the common that the common to the car, the members of the committee gave way to the detail of sioned officers, who advanced to the end of the train and received from the under-takers' assistants the casket.

Those out on the street knew nothing of the dramatic scene which was taking place in that brightly-lighted room. There hearts were throbbing, nerves were strung with that awful thing, suspense. It seemed an age from the time that that small white envelope was read by the court and handed to Captain Sladen, another age seemed to whirl by while his eyes ran over its written contents. He was ready now to read, but a sudden burst of explosives outside roared through the open window and he paused. Then slow-

Slowly the full meaning seemed to creep into the minds of those who heard the word "guilty." Senator Mitchell seemed suddenly turned to stone and for fully a second he sat without moving. He never took his eyes from the jurors. He acted like a man who had heard in-credible news, and it was not until Judge Bennett rose from his seat that he moved Half hopelessly, he glanced at the Court and then towards Judge Bennett. At this juncture ex-Senator Thurston, accomcourtroom, and took a seat close to the Senator. Ex-Senator Thurston arrived just too late to hear the reading of the verdict and as he took his seat, Senator Mitchell leaned over towards him and whispered "It was guilty." The news visibly affected Mr. Thurston and as he shook his client and former colleague by the hand, he whispered words of en-

Mrs, Thurston Lends Sympathy. Mrs. Thurston was first to reach the Sonator's side. She was seated directly behind him and as soon as Judge De Haven excused the jurors from further duty, she patted him affectionately upon the shoulder and almost in tears herself, told him to be brave and that she still believed him innocent. Judge Carey and several others surrounded the Senator and also spoke words of encouragement Quietly the crowd had allowed away disappeared almost as mysteriously as it came, and the Senator, supported on either side by ex-Senator Thurston and Judge have been with a masterful effort that the Senator controlled himself. As he reached the open air he seemed to gain strength and when he bade Mrs. Thurston good night, his voice was quiet and firm. He said in parting: "I'm going home to sleep and take a good rest." Judge Bennett accompanied him to his apartments. On the way there he was asked if he had anything to say for publication, but he waved his hand hopeles ly and said; "No, no. Not anything."

The moments were tense while the jury waited for the coming of the court and the victim of the justice of the law. One by one the lights were turned on in the silent courtroom and those who had gathered from the streets with the seeming instinct of the birds of the desert, grouped notselessly inside the barriers. It was not time to think whether or not the rule of the court permitted their presence, what their rank or their privilege. It was the moment when the people of the State of Oregon and of the United States listened to hear the verdict of 12 men. THREE-DELIBERATION

Just as the drunken second hand overtook its steadler companion of the dial and marked the hour of 11, Judge De Haven resumed his place upon the bench and the jury filed into the seats filled by its members for two long weeks or more. Senator Mitchell crouched in his chair with trembling hand and suffused

How Salem Viewed Verdict.

SALEM, Or., July 1 .- (Special.) -- News of the verdict of the jury in the trial of Senator Mitchell was received in em with expressions of surprise from all. It has been the universal opinion here that the jury would disagree. Not Mitchell's warmest friends expected an acquittal, for they admit ed that the case was a strong one against the Senator. Those who were most pro-nounced in their view that the evidence warranted conviction believed that or two men out of the 12 would be won by the pleas of Bennett and Thurston, and in that way the verdict would be made impossible.
