ALASKA'S GREAT MINERAL OUTPUT .- J W. Ivey, formerly a resident of East Portland and afterwards United States Collector of Customs for the district of Alaska, is here on a short visit. He came from Alaska to Scattle on business and took a run to Portland to see old friends. Mr. Ivey, since he retired as Collector, has been engaged mainly in mining, and has been engaged manny in mining, and says that never for an instant has he lost faith in the future of Alaska as the greatest gold-producing country on the Continent. "Gold is now pouring out of the Tanana district." said Mr. Ivey, "by every steamer coming to Seattle. There has been nothing yet in Alaska that counts the Tanana district." equals the Tanana output, and I predict that the amount of gold for Alaska this year will be nearly $80,000,000, which is more than California produced in its best days, and it will increase."

Beauty Shop."

It is funny, because Jim Crawford, a ormer Portland man, wrote a lot humor into it, and the joint stars make it a point to do their finest in the funmaking line, so that we may laugh. It is pretty, because the costumes are good and one of the most attractive choruses of recent visitation appears to consider-ble advantage. Miss Mason and Mr. Persse, Mr. Cross and Mr. Dillon vie with Messrs. Kolb and Dill. that the best results may be obtained, and from "My Hongkong Lou." which ensemble number opens it, until the finale marks the close of the plece, there is enough of music and foolishness to please the Summer-time audience.

The bits which do most toward driving away duli July care are the fake boxing match and the impossible auto-mobile explosion. There is no more plot nor connected thread of argument than one is led to expect. No one wants or anticipates anything but frivolity in a show of its character, and from that viewpoint "The Beauty Shop" is enough and plenty.

The burlesque engagement at the Marquam has got under way in an unmis-takably successful manner, and there no longer exists a doubt that it suits the popular taste. Last night's audience oc-cupled every seat in the house and threatened to bulge the walls in its excess of satisfaction. "The Beauty Shop" will run all week, with a patriotic matinee

By A. A. G. An Oregon woman some time since indiscreetly wrote a book purporting to reconcile history and romance as they concern the expediton of Lewis and Clark "The Conquest," as a story which Mrs. Eva Emery Dye had written, was considerably read, and the effort to popularize an important historical episode was to some degree successful. Phil F. Rogoway, a local literary light, conceived the idea of dramatizing the story, and last nigh a distinguished audience saw it at the Be lasco in four acts and some tableaux.

It was "author's night," and both Mrs.
Dye and Mr. Rogoway occupied boxes.
Other seats in the house were largely disposed of by subscription, and a fashionable and discriminating audience saw the first presentation on any stage.

There were parts in it for all the regular members of the Belasco Stock Company, and in addition a large number of supernumeraries were used. insofar as they had opportunity, the several members of the company acted their various roles well. Mr. Ormonde gave us his and the playwright's idea of the manner of man Captain Meriwether Lewis was, and John Sainpolis gave us to understand his conception of Captain William Clark. Miss Moore pleasantly confirmed our preconceived notions of Sac ajawea, and Miss Brissac made her Judith fancock as nearly a human person as the lights of these latter days will permit. Those who attended last night's per-ormance seemed vastly pleased. Applause was frequent, and there seemed to no lack of interest. Mr. Rogoway has given us a series of interesting historical occurrences set to dia-logue, and the Belasco management has splendidly mounted them. The costumes worn by Miss Moore and Miss Gordon represented the careful researching of curie stores which deal in Indian fixings. Taken altogether, the drama of the Lewis and Clark expedition is appropriate and proper for the season. It was necessary that we hark back to the circumstances which surrounded the hardy adventurers on their advance to the Pacific, It was eccessary lest we might forget. The con-luding tableaux, showing the Portland of today and the Exposition, aroused much enthusiasm. "The Conquest" will be re-peated each night during the week, with a matinee today and those eustomarily given on Saturday and Sunday

MAYOR LANE SO INSTRUCTS CHIEF OF POLICE.

Captains, in Turn, Are Instructed to See That Patrolmen Enforce the Law.

One of Mayor Lane's first official acts was to issue an order early yesterday morning directinw Chief of Police Hunt to enforce a strict compliance with the box ordinance, the validity of which was recently passed on by the State Supreme

In accordance with these instructions. the Chief of Police issued the following

To the Captains of Police: Instruct the officers under your command to make report immediately of all places where liquor is served in boxes, booths, stalls, inquor is served in boxes, booths, stalls, private rooms, alcoves or apartments in connection with barrooms, saloons or restaurants. A copy of the ordinance will be posted in the bulletin at the station so that officers may inform themselves. It is expected that strict and immediate attention will be given this order.

"CHARLES H. HUNT. "Chief of Police." The Mayor was in a happy frame of mind immediately after starting the ball rolling in the crusade against boxes, and observed facetiously that strange to relate he had found the ordinance the first thing after arriving at his office, and, although it bore traces of hard usage Art, Fifth and Taylor streets, will be open today. July Fourth, from 2 to 5 knocks generally, besides being covered with colwebs, he believed it was still colors. are days.

I am going to put it into execution anyhow," he said, complacently, "and see how the thing operates."

Mayor Lane was as dumb as an oyster relative to his choice for the different offices at his disposal, and intimated that there was no hurry about a new Chief of Police. "I guess Hunt will get along all right for awhile." he said, "and besides his successor has not appeared yet." He will not announce the committees of the City Council until after he has delivered his message to the body at the regular session tomorrow afternoon.

All day yesterday the Mayor's ante-room was thronged with visitors, and they resented about every class that had given him support at the polls, not omitting quite a few who remembered that they knew some of his ancestors before he

The commerce committee of the Portland Board of Trade has under consideration the adoption of a resolution favoring the conclusion of a commercial treaty of reciprocity between the United States and the principal countries of continental Europe. Since the enactment of the McKinley and Dingley tariff laws those nations following the lead of the United States, have adopted high protective tariff measures which it is recognized by exporters will have the effect of very seriously curtailing, if not actually cutting off export trade to such countries as have been among the good customers for American goods. Attention of the trade bodies of the country has been called to the situation by Eastern exporters and action has already been taken by some of the organizations in Eastern cities, including those of New York, A.
