Van Waters, who has so far forgotten his dignity as to charge Dr. Morrison with 'pique' in this affair, is himself, no doubt, an excellent judge of what noise and bealows, mean 16 Dr. what pique and Jealou an. If Dr. Morrison had resorted to clever acheming, the result might have been entirely differ at. But he absolutely refused to enter to any compact or deal in regard to the 4111 flection in the bishop-coadjutorship, "It has been our purpose to avoid per-consisties in the discussion of a matter dential nomination, was warmly received by the delegates, although it developed in of such vital importance to the church in Oregon, and we are not the ones who in-troduced such personalities into the discussion. The church in Oregon and in the United States is quite able to settle this matter on the best grounds."

the immortal Susan B., read the "Declaration of 1548," which was adopted by the first Woman Suffrage Convention ever held, at Seneca Falis, N. Y., she being the last living person present when the declaration was adopted. The declaration was signed by 69 women and 32 men, and is an interesting who followed her sister's reading of the his-toric document, with some interesting facts bearing thereon, stated that women had gained everything they had asked for

HEADAOHE, DIZZINESS, BEARING DOWN PAINS.

Woman Tella How She Has Become Well and Strong after Years of Misery Due to Irregular Functions.

The fact that one woman is brighteyed, rosy-cheeked, strong and cheerful, while another is pale, weak and depressed, is due more often than otherwise to the regularity in the one case and the irregularity in the other of the functions that are peculiar to the sex. When these are disturbed everything goes wrong; pain and discomfort are felt all over the body; the sensations are often terrifying.

"For four years." said Mrs. Davis recently, "I suffered indescribable misery from sick headache every month, accompanied by fainting spells, shortness of breach and severe pain in my left side. There were also bearing-down pains, at times so acute that I could not stand up, and my head was full of ringing sounds. It seemed as if everything was going to hit me in the eyes. I was compelled to lie down with closed eyes for hours to get a little relief. When I attempted to arise everything would whirl around and it would grow so dark that I could scarcely see any object."

"Couldn't your doctor help you ?"

"Five doctors in all treated me, but I got no lasting benefit. Besides I used a lot of advertised remedies. The only medicine, however, that had the desired effect was Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and they are truly a godsend to women. I did not have much faith in them when I began to take them. I found myself, however, so much better after using two boxes that I began to believe in them. They checked right away the decline into which I was going. My troubles kept lessening and finally disappeared altogether."

"How long did it take for a cure ?" "After I had used several boxes my health was all right. I had taken on flesh and was strong and hearty. I feel today in spirits more like a girl of sizteen than a woman of my years."

Mrs. C. H. Davis' address is Carme Maine, R. F. D., No. 2. Dr. Williams Pink Pills are confidently offered to women for the cure of ansemis, chlorosis, painful and irregular periods, and all forms of weakness. They are sold by every draggist.

By means of long persuasion, Mrs. Dodgson was willing to wait until morning, when her husband had promised he would come to the Rever spartments and breakfast, to meet his wife and talk over their matters. The rebut, unknown to the Revers, she re-gained possession of it, and took it rith her when she and Dodgson left later.

Story of the Trouble

The story of events leading up the tragedy are clearly related by Mrs. Bessie Rever, who is regarded as Mrs. Dodgson's best friend. "Mrs. Dolgson came to me yesterday and begged me and my husband to do something toward effecting a reconciliation," said Mrs. Rever. "She had been staying at my sister's resilence, 349 North Fourteenth street. invited her to remain with me through the night, and together with my husband we talked matters over. Finally my husband went out to the Fair grounds, where Dodgson worked, and persuaded him to meet Mrs. Dodgson our rooms.

"Mrs. Dodgson remained all night. and in the morning her husband came. He was inclined to treat her coldiy, but she begged him on bended knees to return to her, telling him she would die unless he would. During break-fast we talked of various things, and when we finished they agreed to go for a stroll, saying they would return after a while and we would go out to the Oaks to spend the Fourth. They left our rooms and never returned."

Only Best of Intentions.

When I arranged for that meeting, I had only the best of hitentions," said Mr. Rever. "She was anxious to take her husband back, and I had reason to think he was willing to return to Some people had been carrying tales to both of them, which separated them. I thought if we could but get them together they would agree to fo the past and start life over. We feel ferrible because of this thing, but we did was what we thought would be for the best."

Among those who witnessed the pooting were Mrs. D. Hart and one of her sons, who reside at 465 Northrup street. Their front porch overlooks the court of the Hotel Northern and affords an unobstructed view of the scene of the tragedy.

"I was standing on the front porch. saw the couple walking east on Northrup street," said Mrs. Hart, "He was ahead of her. Suddenly the woman drew something from the folds of her skirt, rushed up behind the man and there was an explosion. I thought she was trying to frighten him with firecracker, but saw him fall to the ground and knew it was something awful happening. Instantly she turned the revolver-for I saw she had oneand fired a second shoi, then dropped to the ground. I ran in, for my heart failed me. My son saw the same things.

Police headquarters quickly learned of the shooting through the agency of R. G. Banks, proprietor of the Hotel Northern. Captain Gritzmacher, com-manding the day relief of police, dispatched a patrol wagon to the scene, with Detectives Hariman and Vaughn and Policemen Wendorf, Quinlan and Gruber. When they reached the scene, Dodgson was dead, but Mrs. Dodgson was alive. She was conveyed imme-trains and coast steamers arriving her today brought delegations to the 22d an nual Christian Endeavor Convention which is to be formally opened in this city tomorrow. It is expected that by to morrow 30,000 visitors will be here. All the evangelical churches and many residences and business houses have been decorated in honor of the convention, which will be in reaston five days. The sessions will be held in Armory which has a seating capacity of auxillary meetings will be held in Lyric Hall, with seats for 4000.

There will be little routine business to transact during the convention, and the only meeting of that kind will be held to morrow morning in the Hotel Belvidere, when the annual business meeting of the United Society of Christian Endeavor poration will take place. At this meeting the officers and trustees of the United Sosort of thing, they do him a great unkindciety for the ensuing year will be elected, the annual reports of the officers and business agents will be made, and other business transacted. This meeting probably conclude the routine business of convention.

The regular opening of the convention will take place in Armory Hall at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, with Dr. Prancis E. Clark, president of the United Society presiding. Addresses of welcome to the delegates will be made by Governor Warfield, representing the State of Maryland Mayor Timanus, representing Baltimore City, and others. At night there will be an international festival of praise with a chorus of 2500 voices.

There is already in progress here a lively contest for the next convention, the con-testants being Los Angeles, Seattle, Min-neapolis, Kansas City and Indianapolis, and literature and badges in behalf of these is being freely distributed. The contest will not be decided until next Mono

Dr. Morrison's Statement.

Dr. Morrison yesterday made the fol wing statement:

"As chairman of the recent diocesan convention, I desire to make the following announcement to the public, and especial-by to the members of the Episcopal church, who are vitally interested in the controversy which has recently arisen re-garding the churchmanship and educational qualifications of the Rev. F. E. J. Lloyd, hishop-coadjutor-elect of the Dio cese of Oregon:

Not a High Churchman

"The majority of those who signed the protest against the confirmation of the election by the bishops and standing com aittees of the general church, and many others for whom the protestors were acting, have been convinced by positive statements made by the bishop-elect to a number of these who opposed him, that he, Dr. Lloyd, is not a high churchman. I have been further assured by the bishopelect that he is a churchman perhaps no higher than I am myself, and that he has egarded the late celebrated Bishop Phil-ips Brooks as one of his heroes, and that so far from being a ritualist he is ignorant regarding even the simpler forms of cere-monial and their significance as sometimes practiced in our church; that, if any him to be a man given to that Rejoices at Result.

"After such solemn assurance, I am much rejoiced that the standard of Oregon churchmanship is absolutely safe in his hands. My people and many others of our communion in this diocese who were filled with apprehension because of the reports which were circulated after the election by certain clergymen who voted for Dr. Lloyd, and who were pronounced high churchmen, to the effect that the bishop-elect was 'high church.' feel that the necessity of a protest no longer exists, and it is hereby withdrawn. I have no apology to make to anyone for the action taken by me as chairman of the late convention, nor as a clergy-man of this diocese. Those who know me will believe that I and the others with ne have been actuated exclusively by a desire to do justice to men who voted for Dr. Lloyd and announced to me that he was not possessed of the qualifications as they believed were represented to them on the floor of the convention. Least of all have I been actuated by any desire to de an injustice to the bishop-elect. A Pleasing Finale.

'It is a strange and pleasing finale t what might have proved a very hurtful and distressing controversy that, although it has been boldly affirmed by our opposing brethren that no statement was made that Dr. Lloyd was a broad church man, directly or by implication, that he is a man after our own heart-broad in his churchmanship and in sympathy with the true comprehensive character of our church.

"It is safe to affirm that abould Dr. Lloyd be consecrated as bishop-coudjutor
