Portland to Tillamook in Near Future.

BUILDING SOON TO START

How a Few Zealous Citizens Have Accomplished What for Years Past Has Seemed Hopeless Task.

Interest in the beginning of the Portand, Nehalem & Tillamook Railroad Company, and the manner in which it was organized and brought to the present stage, where the actual building of the road seems assured, has been aroused by he publication of authentic details of construction plans. What a few zealous citizens can accomplish is demonstrated by what has been done in this case.

George T. Myers is deemed the real author of the movement that is now about to result in linking the coast valleys to Portland by a short line of steel rails. William Reid, who is attorney, secretary of the company and acting general man-ager for the construction period, declares that credit for organization is due to Mr. Myers, who one day four years ago met him in the Oregonian building and urged that the time was ripe to resuscitate his enterprise having the valleys of Nehalem and tributary to Tillamook Bay as its objective. During the panic of 1893 the project had collapsed after the 18 miles of the Seaside road from Astoria had been built and was in operation and 17 miles more of grade from Astoria to ward the Nehalem, with eight miles of grading done also near Hillsbore. With an investment of $166,000 sunk in the enterprise; Mr. Reid was, perhaps, a little inclined to be pessimistic, and responded to Mr. Myers' suggestion that people of Portland could not appreclate that territory, notwithstanding that he then had the grades referred to completed and surveys made, compiled and ready for construction representing an additional value of $41,000. What money do you need?" asked

Mr. Myers. "Five thousand dollars to make necessary additional surveys, pay preliminary expenses and float bonds in New York or Europe," was Mr. Reid's reply, and he was taken at his word.

In company with C. F. Pearson, Mr. Myers promptly started out to raise the necessary money on 5 per cent preferred stock ranking as a security next to the bonds, and repayable on 30 days' notice. Among the stockholders they secured were 50 of the most substantial men of Portland.

Then began attempts to obtain traffic agreements with either the Northern Pacific or the Southern Pacific, which proved fruitless for three years, while at the same time negotiations were carried forward in London and New York for placing the bonds. The now famous "gentlemen's stood in the way of making any satisfactory arrangement with either of the railroads for a connection into Portland, although a market was found for the bonds, pending such an agreement

Last Winter appeal was taken to the Legislature, and the law was enacted compelling any railroad to permit any new line or branch road to make a trackconnection at any station of railroads already having lines in this state rates for transporting freight between state points jointly over lines so connect-This bill was opposed by the railroad interests, but became a law, and thereupon the bonds were placed without further difficulty and construction contracts entered into. That is a brief hishas been developed to its present where the men who have placed their enterprise seem assured of compensation for their effort.

CONTRACT FOR ROAD IS LET

LEWISTON AND GRANGEVILLE TO BE JOINED IN A YEAR.

Electric Road, to Cost $3,000,000, Will Be Rushed to Completion as Fast as Possible.

LEWISTON, Idaho, July 4.—(Special.)-We have let the contract for the construction of the electric railway between Lewiston and Grangeville, with a branch line to Nez Perce City. Work will be gin just as soon as the contractors can gather equipment and come on the ground," said J. A. Manley, chief consulting engineer of the Lewiston & South. eastern Electric Railway Company, who returned to the city tonight from a ride over the line with President Spofford. Secretary Randolph and H. F. Wells, who represents the contractors. The staterepresents the contractors. The state-ment was confirmed by Mr. Wells. Con-tinuing Mr. Manley said: "Charles E. Loss, of San Francisco, will build the road. He is one of largest rail-road contractors in the United States. The contract includes the construction of the big power plant and in fact every de-tail relative to the construction of the road. We have had a most excellent trip.

and Mr. Wells is extremely well pleased with the country," When asked for the terms of the contract, Mr. Manley stated it was a matter of private consideration, but that esti-mates made show that the line will cost in the neighborhood of $3,000,000. He stated that the party drove to Gifford in response to the invitation of the people of that vicinity, and that it was practically de-termined that a spur would be run from the main line to that point. Mr. Manley stated that since the road was now financed and contract let that every means would be used to rush work as fast as possible and complete the road by June 1, 1967,

Annual Versus Deferred Dividends

PORTLAND, Or., July 3 .- (To the Editor.) -H. G. Colton, in your issue of June 27, takes the editor to task for expressing a doubt as to the annual dividend plan of life insurance being the only correct method. annual dividend companies are doing this very same business when they write endowment contracts on the 20-year plan, the premium of which is about double the amount required for a life policy, however, if the insured dies before the 26-year period matures his family receives only the same amount that they receives only the same amount that they would have done had they paid one half less than they did pay. Life insurance which at first was issued only to protect the family from loss by reason of premature death, has of inte taken on a broader aspect, and now as issued by the largest and most progressive companies, meets fully the three great exigencies of life. First, loss by reason of death: cies of life: First, loss by reason of death second, financial loss from loss of position, sickness, etc. (by loans), and third, want in inter life.

The deferred dividend plan covers these three points in the highest degree, and while it is true that if the insured dies before the completion of his term his family does lose a few dollars of dividends, the loss is so small that it is of little consequence, and then if he lives, and eight out of every ten insuring in the younger part of life do live, these dividends, compounded and enlarged from other sources, amount to something considerable and augment the endowment fea-

BAILIFF AS THE GUEST

MITCHELL JURORS SPEND DAY ON FAIR GROUNDS.

Take Glen Bushee With Them Appreciation of His Courtesy During the Trial.

Glen Bushee, of Pendleton, was the guest of the Mitchell jury yesterday while the jury was the guest of the Lewis and Clark Fair. The 12 men who were entrusted with the task of determining the guilt of Senator Mitchell, like veterans after the battle has passed and the war is gone, were reluctant to part and spent the day together, visiting the city and the Fair. Glen Bushee, the bailiff who Fair. ministered to their thirst with water, to their headaches with tablets and to their desire to smoke with cigars of a 5-cent brand, had also become en-deared to the 12, and yesterday morning was kidnaped and taken for a urney of pleasure lasting throughout the day. After the verdict had been rendered on Monday night, the men returned to the Argyle, on West Park and Mor-rison, where they had been quartered by the Marshal, and went to bed. Yesterday morning they were up early and ready for the first day of freedom coming to their lot for two weeks. The members assembled at the office of Captain Sladen early in the forenoon and received the money for the service upon the jury, after which plans were laid for spending the day together. It was decided at last that the best thing to do would be to see the Expo-gition in chorus, and a start was made in that direction. Having been so On the way out to the ground the President Is Commended for Hi Efforts in Behalf of Right and Combinations of Capital Are Deplored.

"We, the members of the Grand Army of the Republic and of the Women's Relief Corps, assembled in camp in the Sell-wood Park, Portland, Or., for the purpose of celebrating the National birthday. adopt and herewith send our greetings to President Roosevelt, as follows:

"Inasmuch as there has been a tendency within the past few years in the history of this country toward the formation of trusts and plutocratic combinations for the accumulation of colossal fortunes. largely through oppression of the many and the laboring classes, for the benefit of the few; that there has been corruption in high official places, through the failure to enforce the laws of the land; combinations of the railroads of the country under central management, destroycompetition and oppressing the masses of producers; and

"inasmuch as President Roosevelt, with matchless energy and fearlessness has attacked the unlawful trusts in an effort to break up the combinations of capital for unlawful purposes subverting the rights for which we fought in the late war; and as he has engaged in an effort to enforce the law against all offenders, in high and low places, without fear or favor to any, and also seeks to regulate the railroad rates within reasonable

"Therefore, we send our greeting and hearty support to the President in all his efforts along these lines, and believe that he should have the support of every patriotic citizen of the land in his efforts to preserve the fruits of the war which saved the Union from dissolution in the Civil War, and for which the boys in blue' gave freely their lives in the '00s."

The foregoing was authorized to be sent to President Roosevelt by the members of the G. A. R. and women's auxiliaries. at the general celebration held in the Sellwood Park in the forenoon. It was an impromptu celebration, but was well attended, and full of enthusiasm. The platform, erected a short distance from the tents, was decorated with flags and flowers. Ex-Department Commander B. r. Pike was chairman of the day. The programme was opened with a patriotic solo by M. J. Morse, when Rev. D. A. Thompson read the Scripture and deliv-ered the invocation. Miss M. E. Pease, a the Declaration of Independence.

Rev. Henry E. Barden, ex-department chaplain, delivered an eloquent address fitting to the occasion and surroundings. After speaking of the development of the country, Mr. Barden said:

"There are peculiar, dark things that have come since the war, but in no instance are they the fruits of the war. The Union Army put away slavery and cleaned up the Nation in other respects. Never was the work of reform and cleaning up ing under the watchful eye of a chaperone, it was decided not to be proper for them to attend the Fair without an escort, and Glen Bushee was surrounded and taken along as the ex-officio guide of the party. and other things did not come in the night | dered by Secretary of the Interior Hitch and glorious morning the Union Army ushered in upon the Nation.

"The spirit of the trusts is the spirit of greed. The amassing of the millions upon millions is the spirit of the hog. The spirit of grafting is the spirit of the thief, and such spirit does not belong to our civilization, and has not part in it. They have no love of country, and no sympathy and regard for humanity. I believe that there should be a limit placed on the lib erty of the man who would get wealth out of the rights and earnings of the poor people. No man should be permitted to have and control such wealth as some hold in their greedy grip in this country. There should be National laws enacted prohibiting the accumulating of untold wealth that by right belongs to others. No man should be allowed to thrive or prosper on the downfull of his neighbor. The spirit of lust and avariciousness In the evening the men watched the sapped out the lifeblood of the Roman reworks, though some left on the Empire, and the government died. The same spirit has begun its awful glutton-ous eating in this country. The people see and feel its effects. "Public opinion and the spirit of liberty like a mighty storm, will rise and sweep over the land, and the accursed evil will be swept away, and our Government will live on after the body and spirit of trusts their graves. I have faith and confidence that we shall not go down, but that we shall as a people and Nation rise higher. But I do feel that these daring evils will be put down, not by war and by the shed-ding of blood, but I believe that the time is at hand when it will be a disgrace to any man to live and revel in the luxury of untold millions that could not have been legally accumulated. Public opinion and honest industry will look him in the face and shame him out. Yes, our country must be the home of the brave and try must be the home of the brave and the free. It must be the home of the poor man as well as the rich man."

After a patriodic song M. L. Pratt spoke on "This History of the American Army," and Comrade Adams made a short talk on "The American Navy," when the exercises were concluded by singing "America," A basket dinner then followed, and the day was spent in a general reunion. On the ground were members of the G. A. R. from nearly all the Northern States.

> PEEL RIGHT When You Feed Right.

You know one always feels "very fit" when the head and nerves swing along peacefully and with that certain sens-of power that is unmistakable. But when overwork or anxiety breaks down the soft gray matter in the brain and nerve cells (anxiety will do it quicker than overwork) faster than the food you have been using re-places it, then to save yourself from that horror of darkness, nervous pros

That's the mission of Grape-Nuts, made of the selected parts of wheat and barley containing the natural phosphate of potash which combines with albumen in the human body and makes the soft gray filling of the brain and nerve centers.

Another thing to be considered that Grape-Nuts is "processed" in making and the starchy parts convert-ed into a form of sugar, exactly as the process of digestion in the body. So Grape-Nuts has really passed the first act of digestion and therefore the food is quickly assimilated in the most perfect manner by babe of athlete.

while visiting a Klondike exhibit at the Lewis and Clark Exposition Monday afternoon. Sprague saw a fortune in gold atternoon. Sprague saw a fritune in gon nuggets passing him in a flume and evi-dently became selzed with the idea that part of the collection would appear to better advantage in his pocket. Follow-ing out this line of reasoning he queltly transferred a chunk of gold to the inside pocket of his coat.

It happened that an attache of the exhibit noted the transerrence and immediately called a guard. Sprague, pro-testing his innocence, was held until a secret service man arrived and was ther searched. The nugget, worth $15, was found in his pocket and he was taken to the lockup on a charge of robbery.

KELLY AND MORE KELLYS

Appreciative Sketch of Historic Pacific Coast Family.

PORTLAND, July 4-(To the Editor.)-In order to correct the somewhat mistaken idea that the Kelly clan is composed wholly or principally of the descendants of Father linton Kelly, the honored pioneer of 1848. desire to say that the first Thomas Kelly of whom we have pecord, born near Philadel-phia. Pa., in 1730, is the common ancestor or fountain head of this now numerous fam

The father of this Thomas Kelly was born in Ireland, and his ancestral home we have pretty conclusive reason for believing was Castle Kelly, Roscommon County, or the neighboring County Galway. While yet young man Thomas Kelly was taken aboard an English ship, during the Revolutionary War, but to escape impressment into the British service he jumped overboard during the night and swam ashore, making his way o Virginia, where he was sent to the fron tier to fight Indians and later he had cond mand of a military post in that state Thomas Kelly's children were: James, John Samuel, Isaac, Ellas, Abijah, Melly, Lean and Rachel. It is unnecessary to trace the descent and marriages in full, but suffice say that the majority, but not all, of the Pacific Coast branch are descended from Thomas Kelly's third son, Samuel.

Clinton Kelly and family, accompanied by his brothers, Albert and Thomas, left Ken tucky for Oregon in 1847, the Bichardsons, Emericks Catlins and Weichs being in the train, but at Lone Elm, Albert Kelly's oxen were lost as the result of a stampede and he was obliged to wait over till the next year. Clinton and Thomas Kelly arrived in Oregon in 1848, settling finally in East Port land on property which now includes Wav-erly, Kenliworth and a portion of Ivanhoe Thomas later moved to North Yakima Wash, where at his death about two years ago he left a family and valuable estate.

Albert Kelly who came the next year with his wife, formerly Nira C. Bingham, and their family, settled at what is now known as Hillsdale, near Portland, and conhis death at Yakima, over 30 years ago. Gilmore Kelly, another brother, crossed the plains and settled at Powell's Valley, where he died some years ago, leaving a family all of whom were married. Clinton Kelly as well as his brothers Samuel, Gilby and Albert, was a minister, and held appointments at Portland, Oregon City, Milwaukie. Mount Tabor and other places. It is to emulate the examples of these God-fearing men and their noble wives that the family neets annually and stimulates in the hearts eacher of the Mount Tabor School, read of the young the motto that "A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches and loung favor than silver or gold."

As the organization now stands, all Kelly by birth or marriage, descended from the sriginal Virginia, Kentucky and other East and welcome at all reunions. The officers are: Chieftain, Plympton Kelly; executive committee, Mrs. A. H. Manley, Mrs. O. P. S. Plummer, Mrs. John Shaver; historian, Miss Neille Fawcett; secretaries, Misses Agnes Plummer and Agnes Kelly; treasurer, Dr. Richmond Kelly. M. AGNES KELLY,

REMARKABLE CURES . BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"I suffered with eczema on my hands for two years, but was at last cured with the Cuticurs Remedies. The disease commenced by small, watery pimples breaking out on the back of my hands, which itched, burned, and my hands, which itened, purious pained awful, as if an electric battery pained awful, as if an electric battery battery body. My was being held against my body. My hands would swell until I could hardly use them. Then they would get dry and scaly, then break out again and be the same thing over. I was treated by our family physician, but did not get any better. Then I tried every kind of ointment I ever heard of, and every home remedy any one recommended.

"I then went to another doctor, who helped them some, but after being treated by him for three months my hands were not well and the treatment was so severe it was almost worse than the disease. I had often seen Cuticura advertised and concluded to try it. It just took two applications of Cuticura Ointment to take the soreness out of my hands. I commenced by putting it on three times a day, then just in the evening, and when I had used four boxes of Cuticura Ointment, one cake Cuticura Soap, and three vials of Cuticura Resolvent Pills, my hands were well, and much softer and smoother than ever before. Thanks to the Cuti-cura Remedies. You's respectfully, Mrs. G. L. Heston, Lucas, Iowa, May 29, 1905.
