ONLY ONE DISCORDANT NOTE

Russian Papers Mourn Hay, but One Denounces Him.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 4.—The press, especially the Liberal organs, continue to pay high tributes to the late Secretary Hay as a man, as a scholar and as a statesman, praising the almost ideal plan on which his diplomacy was based. The Novoe Vremya expresses the only unkind note regarding the deceased statesman, saying:

"As China's wet nurse, as the enemy of Russia and as the encourager of Japan, he was mainly responsible for the check administered to Russia's dream of Empire in the Orient."

MEN OF THOUGHT NEEDED

Educational Convention Also Hears Advocates of Common-Sense Mathematics, Trade Schools and Science Teaching.

ASBURY PARK, N. Y., July 4.—Incoming trains brought more delegates to the National Educational Convention today. Meetings of many departments were held.

Mayor George B. McClellan, of New York City, spoke to an audience of 200 on "The Standards of Local Administration." He said in part:

"I take it that the subject which has been assigned to me means educational administration, therefore education itself. It may be that I am old-fashioned, but I believe that school exists for man and not man for schools. The teachers must be men, not mere automatons. The three R's of yesterday may not necessarily be the three R's of today. But there are certain fundamental subjects that every one must know and know well. If success in life is to be hoped for.

The chief purpose, for that matter, the only purpose, of public education is to make good citizens. We are not here to open our doors wide open to the people of the whole world, but we are here to open our doors to the people of our own country. We are here to give them an additional duty which we cannot shrink from. It is to give them a sense of duty. The three R's of yesterday may not necessarily be the three R's of today. But there are certain fundamental subjects that every one must know and know well. If success in life is to be hoped for.

Spirit of Unrest Abroad.

We suffer from the spirit of unrest, which frequently prompts us to ill-considered, impulsive and thoughtless action, often merely for the sake of doing something. We are inclined to applaud the man who does not do much because he accomplishes anything useful as because he accomplishes something. It is good, bad or indifferent. This spirit of unrest, sometimes our whole national life, social or educational. He who is content is content. He who is ambitious is ambitious. He who is ambitious and happy is happy. He who is ambitious and unhappy is unhappy. We are here to give them an additional duty which we cannot shrink from. It is to give them a sense of duty. The three R's of yesterday may not necessarily be the three R's of today. But there are certain fundamental subjects that every one must know and know well. If success in life is to be hoped for.

Mathematics Up to Date.

In the course of an address on "Correlation of Mathematics and Science," Clarence E. Comstock, professor of mathematics at Bradley Polytechnic Institute at Peoria, Ill., said:

How can courses in mathematics be organized to better meet the needs of science, agriculture and industry?

First—By stripping them of artificial scholastic methods and giving a common sense mathematics.

Second—By an early introduction of the results and methods of higher mathematics, especially of analytic geometry and calculus.

Third—By the consideration of real scientific problems instead of the manufactured riddles of the books.

Fourth—By the actual handling of physical phenomena through observation and experiment.

Need of Trades Schools.

Charles F. Warner, principal of the Technical High School and the Evening School of Trades at Springfield, Mass., said in a paper on "Industrial Training in Public Evening Schools":

What we need is trades schools similar to those of France and Germany, but suited, of course, to our conditions and needs. Our manual training high schools can never become trades schools, nor can they enter very far into that field. The American people have built and equipped a considerable number of manual training and technical high schools and they will go on multiplying such schools. It is a fair question to ask whether the influence depends more upon what he is than upon what he knows. He should be like those people who do not only know every subject not comprised in the three R's as 'fads and frills.'

GLORY FOR VESSPER

They Beat Crack English University Crew.

MAY WIN CHALLENGE CUP

Today's Race With Leander at Henley Will Decide Whether America or England Shall Hold Grand Challenge Cup.

HENLEY, England, July 4.—The crew of the Vesper Boat Club, of Philadelphia, celebrated Independence Day in England by winning its heat against the best university crew competing at Henley this year, and by making the best time of any eight. Indeed, all Henley seemed to be celebrating the Fourth of July. American flags were flying all over pretty Thames-Simonds, and as the American boat swept on to victory the Stars and Stripes were waved from all parts of the grandstands.

The shores were filled with a record gathering of Britons and American visitors. The great contest between the Vespers and the Leanders tomorrow unquestionably will be the most intensely interesting event, from the international as well as the oarsman's viewpoint, ever known at Henley. The most expert critics of rowing differ in their opinions, and the Englishmen hold that the American style cannot prevail over that of Leander, on the ground that the Americans use a sculling style, and fall to put in body weight. In today's results, however, when the Club Naticque, of Belgium, beat the Thames Club, using much the same style, with short oars, the blades of which are small, similar to those of the Americans, the theories of the rowing sharps were upset. Consequently tonight there is much guessing over tomorrow's struggle, which unquestionably will decide who will be the winner of the Grand Challenge cup, though the successful crew will row against the Club Naticque.

Coach Dempsey, of the Vespers, said to the Associated Press tonight:

"I believe the American style to be much better than the British."

His belief is strengthened by observations of today's racing. Mr. Dempsey is confident of success, and said that none of the men were the worse for today's contest.

The Belgians won an easy victory over the Thames Rowing Club. Then came the big event of the day, the heat for the Grand Challenge Cup, in which the Americans completed a punishing finish, with the advantage of a full boat's length in the best time of the three heats. Both crews showed the effects of the sharp struggle.

Great enthusiasm was manifested on the crowded banks of the river throughout the entire race, and both crews were warmly cheered.

The first heats were decided as follows:

Leander beat Jesus College, Cambridge, by a length and three-quarters. Time 7:26.

The Belgian crew beat the Thames Rowing Club easily. Time 7:16.

The Vespers beat Christ College, Cambridge, by a length. Time 7:12.

France and Germany Almost Agree.

BERLIN, July 4.—The French and German governments are not far apart in regard to the proposed Morocco conference. Prince von Radolin, the German Ambassador at Paris, has telegraphed to the Foreign Office that Premier Rouvier, at their meeting, showed him a provisional draft of France's reply to Germany in which France says she will accept the Sultan of Morocco's invitation, although with certain understandings or reservations. These conditions, the Associated Press was informed at the Foreign Office, offer no great delays in the way of a complete preparatory agreement between France and Germany. Some days are likely to elapse before France formally defines her position.

Revivalists' Harvest in London.

LONDON, July 4.—The American Revivalists, Rev. Reuben A. Perrey and Charles M. Alexander, tonight concluded their five months' revival campaign in England. Fourteen thousand converts were made since the evangelists came to London.

POISONS HIS TWO SONS

Says They Were Not Bright and Were of No Use to Him.

DOYLESTOWN, Pa., July 4.—After being subjected to a severe examination by detectives, Gus Klosson, of Morrisville, Pa., confessed that he had poisoned one of his sons and attempted to kill the other in the same manner.

Walter Klosson died Sunday, June 18. Klosson was flagman at the railroad station at Tullytown, and was about 60 years old. He poisoned the boys because they were not very bright and there was no chance they would ever be of any use to him. There was $250 insurance on the boy.

Morton's Latest Reform.

NEW YORK, July 4.—Paul Morton, chairman of the board of directors of the Equitable Assurance Society, has abolished the finance committee, next to the executive committee the most important working body of the society.

Business Suspended at Manila.

MANILA, July 4.—All public business was suspended today in honor of memory of Secretary of State John Hay.
