PACIFIC COAST LEAGUE,

SEATTLE, July 5. - (Special.) -Charley Hall was given the worst bumping of any Seattle pitcher this year. He started out like a four-time winner, retiring the side on strikes. Beginning with the second inning came his troubles. The climax came in the eighth inning, when, with one man seven men in a row hit safely. With the bases full, Mitchell drove out a long three-bagger and it was all over but the shouting.

Desperate Spurt of Americans at Henley Falls to Wear Out British Crew.

HENLEY, July &-The Leanders de feated the Vespers, of Philadelphia, in the second heat for the grand challenge The Englishmen won by a length

The weather clerk provided splendid weather for the keenly anticipated struggie between the Vespers and the Lean ders. This was the first race of the day and the widespread interest taken was evidenced by the great crowds which thronged all the vantage points along the ourse and congregated in the vicinity of the winning post long before the hour fo the start. The slight breeze toward the Berks shore gave the Leanders, who had the Berkshire side, a little advantage in position. The Americans, shortly before the time set for the race, rowed up to the starting line, but the Leanders' shell was brought up by outsiders, the British crew driving up to the starting point in carriages and embarking thence. In the second heat of the finals for the grand challenge cup the Belgians beat the endon Rowing Club by three lengths. As the boats came up to the line preparatory to the start, the British oarsmen seemed the more composed of the two crews. The boats got away together, but the nervousness of the Philadelphians was shown by the splashing which marked their first half-dozen strokes. The Leanders started with a stroke of The nose of the British craft forged slightly to the front, but there was not much to choose between them when they passed Temple Island in the record time of 47 seconds. The Philadelphians, how-ever, soon began to give signs that the hard work was telling on Leanders dropped their stroke to 37, but the Vespers could not get in the lead, as the Leanders had half a length. They increased this to a full length. When three-quarters of a mile had been covered the Leanders again slowed down their stroke to 34, but they always maintained a safe lead. In the last quarter the Vespers made desperate spurt, and they gradually forged up until only three-quarters of a length separated the two prows. Their effort, however, was futile. The Lean-ders had plenty in hand. They responded to the spurt of their opponents and passed the winning post a full length ahead.

Both crews finished strong.
