CHAUTAUQUA PLANS

Willamette Valley Body Outlines an Important Session.

JOHN M. THURSTON SPEAKS

Dr. William A. Quayle Will Give His Famous Lecture on Abraham Lincoln Before the Association This Afternoon.

Patriotic and attractive will be the opening day's programme of the 12th annual assembly of the Willamette Valley Chautauqua Association, which will be Chautauqua Association, which will be convened at Gladstone Park this aftermoon. The day has been designated as "Patriotic day" by the Chautauqua management, which has included on the programme an address along patriotic lines in the afternoon by ex-Senator J. M. Thurston, while in the evening Dr. William A. Quayle, of Chicago, will give his famous lecture on "Abraham Lincoln." Patriotic music will also be rendered by Parsons' Orchestra. The programme promises to equal in interest that of any other day during the 13 days' session other day during the 13 days' session.
In securing ex-Senator Thurston to deliver the opening address, the Chautau-qua officers are exceedingly fortunate. Recognized as a lawyer and statesman of great ability, Senator Thurston was brought into added prominence as coun-sel for the defense in the land-fraud cases at Portland, by reason of which public interest in him has been greatly increased, especially on the Pacific Coast. The opportunity to hear this orator will be embraced by many. Dr. Quayle, pas-tor of St. James' Methodist Episcopai Church, of Chleago, is an crator of Nauonal reputation, and his lecture on "Abraham Lincoln" is considered his mas-terplece. On Wednesday afternoon Dr. Quayle also lectures, his subject being being in doubt as to their jurisdiction.

besides the lectures already mentioned a grand musical concert Wednesday evening, lectures by Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher and Homer Davenport, readings by Professor Kemp and an operatic can-tata. "The May Queen," under direction of Professor Frederick W. Goodrich, on aturday evening.

ADVANCE SALE TODAY.

T. Daniel Frawley in "Ranson's Folly" at Marquam Theater.

This morning at 10 o'clock the advance sale of seats will open for T. Daniel Fraw-ley, who comes to the Marquam Grand Theater next Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. July 13, 14 and 15, with a special matinee Saturday, in Richard Harding Davis' comedy-drama, "Ranson's Folly." The great popularity which the book attained induced Mr. Davis to make a dramatization of it, and it was produced with much success by Robert Edeson, who is also starring under Mr. Harris. The comedy should less none of its value through its transfer to Mr. Pharts. urday nights, July 13, 14 and 15, its value through its transfer to Mr. Frawley, as theatergoers are well acquainted with the splendid talent of this actor, who should make of the role of "Ranson" a most impressive one. Mr. Frawley is supported by an excellent cast.

LICENSE COMMITTEE.

Reicker's Case Goes Over, Pending Court Proceedings.

A special meeting of the liquor li cense committee of the City Council was held yesterday afternoon, and in addition to routine matters, listened to an explanation from the attorney of Paul Reicker, proprietor of the German roof garden near the entrance to the Exposition grounds, whose application for a license is in danger of being dented on account of the ugly stories that have recently emanated from that direction, Lawyer John F. Logan stated that his client had been mad- the victim of a con-spiracy, and that the criminal pro-ceedings against Reicker, which are to come up this morning in the Mu-nicipal Court, would develop this fact. He was willing to lose his license in case of conviction. The committee de-cided not to take snap judgment in Judge Bennett led the witness to say that he would have sold the claim for $1000 if he had found a chance and that Geaner could not have done eny-thing to him for it. The witness re-fused to say, however, that there had fused to say, however, that there and not been an implied contract with Gesner. There had not been a written contract, but accertheless the witness had felt under obligations to sell to Gesner when the claim should have come into his hands.

"When you made that affidavit you were swearing to the truth?" asked Judge Bennett. "I don't know," was the answer.

were swearing to the truth? asked Judge Bennett. "I don't know," was the answer.

"You believe it to be true yet don't you?" "If I did once, I do now," the witness replied.

"Did Neuhausen tell you that you had perjured yourself when you made this affidavit and that they could indict you for it?" "No, sir."

"He didn't threaten you with indictment?" "No, sir."

"Didn't he tell you that he was after bigger fish than you?" "No, I don't think he did. No, sir."

"Didn't he threaten to indict you for perjury or put you in jail if you did not swear to suit him? "No, sir."

"When you talked with Biggs before you came to the grand jury was not there some talk about your being indicted? "No, sir."

"Didn't he ask you about the contracts and didn't you say there was no contract?" "No, sir."

"Didn't Gesner tell you," asked Mr. Heney, "toat if you would sell the lends to him that he would furnish the money and would take a mortgage for a short time until you could get a title, when he would give you $75 for the claim?" "Yes, sir."

Didn't you believe at the time you signed the affidavit that you were under an obligation to turn over the lands to Gesner If he put up the money?" Yes, sir."

John S, Watkins brought Mr. Williamson into the case more closely than he has been up to this time. The williamson into the case more closely than he has been up to this time. The williamson and Gesner were wanting men to file, so Biggs had told the witness, upon lands in the Horse Heaven country. They would furnish the money and give $500 for the claims when patented. The witness had then gone up into the timber to see the land and file. There he had met Williamson and Gesner in the timber surveying.

Thirty first-class passengers went in the steerage because there wasn't an inch of room for them in the staterooms. It is the tickets for the trip sold in the East that fill the list days before the scamer is ready to sall. Yesterday over 1000 persons holding tickets entitling them to the trip from Portland to California reached the city. Nearly all wanted to go on the Columbia Saturday. The list for the Columbia is already full, with a long line in waiting. But regardless of the capacity of the steamers or their number, the Eastern Harriman offices are continuing to sell tickets whose purchasers are obliged to wait or take another steamer when they reach Portland. The local office of the San Francisco & Portland Company has been trained. the matter, but give Releker an opportunity to establish the truth of his contentions.

ASTORIA, Or., July 16.-(Special.)-The indications are this evening that the schooner Jennie Stella, which has been delayed here since Saturday on account of her crew refusing to go to sea in her, will be able to sail tomorrow. The schooner is making about one inch of water an hour, and yesterday the plan was to hold a survey on her. Today Captain Petterson received instructions from the owners to pay off the crew. This he did this evening, and also shipped a portion of the new crew. He expects to complete the complement in the morning and put to ses tomorrow. The Jennie Stella is on the way to San Francisco with a cargo of lumber from Vancouver, Wash.

Miss Sadie Robinson, 4 Rand street, Malden, Mass., writes:

"Peruna was recommended to me about a year ago as an excellent remedy for the troubles peculiar to our sex, and as I found that all that was said of this medicine was true I am pleased to indorse it.

"I began to use it about seven months ago for weakness and nervousness, caused from overwork and sleepless-ness, and found that in a few days I began to grow strong, my appetite in-creased and I began to sleep better, consequently my nervousuess presed away and the wenkness in the privice organs soon disappeared and I have been well and strong ever since."

This he refused to do, and two cashlers were sent to the Animal Show and the Gay Paree to collect the gross receipts of the two shows. Mr. Jabour would not allow the cashiers to sell tickets, whereupon the Exposition guard was called and the two shows closed standing that I was to be allowed to open on Sundays," said Mr. Jabour last night. "I conferred with Mr. Wakefield in St. Louis, and we agreed on a certain percentage. He asked me if Sunday opening would not be worth considerable to my business. I told him yes, and the per centage was raised from the original fig-ure to 25 per cent of the gross receipts. I paid him $500 in St. Louis, and canceled all of the engagements of my carnival company and brought the Gay Parce and the Animal Show to the Exposition.

"On reaching Portland the contract was presented, but it did not specify that the Trail would be open on Sundays. I asked Mr. Wakefield, and he stated that the ministers were objecting, but he assured me that the concessionaires would be alen. Then I signed the tract.
