The closing of doors by a painstaking establishment of the magnitude represented by the Olds-Wortman-King Store, for even one hour of the business season, is at the moment a matter of a huge amount to the city. This shop, we realize, is an integral part of the mechanism of the busy city—a most important part. It is one of the great institutions around which rapid and important business wheels revolve. When this business ceases to function the city’s very life—in the sense of all business or activity in the human body. It is an event of extreme importance, then, that could interfere with this shop’s operation, at a financial loss of thousands of dollars, perhaps, to sales. That event is at hand, and it has been the task of this store to act in itself and finally to its position the very best to effectually prevent. We hope things will work out as they have. We have received the most cordial and enthusiastic expressions of the wish of the store’s managers to the effect that the Olds-Wortman-King employers to the effect that the Olds-Wortman-King store not be erected in America today.
