Fresh from a seven-day encampment at Gearnart Park, the Oregon National Guard arrived in Portland last night about 6 o'clock. The Goldsmith tract, converted into a city of white tents. They will remain there during the three days' encampment at the Exposition. There are about $40 officers and men in the 16 battalions now in camp. The soldiers are in excellent trim and look forward to the dress parade of Friday and the sham battle of Saturday with much pleasure and anticipation. much pleasure and anticipation

Dress Parade Friday.

Friday afternoon the dress parade will be held on the Lewis and Clark Boulevard, and 1400 soldiers are expected to participate in it. Besides the National Guard there will be several companies from the Tenth United States Infantry. The Fourth Infantry Band, which is filling an engagement at the Exposition, will be asked to mass with the Administration Band in the rendition of martial and patriotic music. The dress parade will be almost as important and as interesting as the opening day parade.

The snam battle on Saturday after-noon is among the most important vents of the entire Exposition. It will be given on the bluffs overlooking Guild's Lake and the only place it can seen from advantage is from the Exposition grounds. Nearly $1000 will the expended in rifle ammunition and the cost of the firing of the cannons of the artillery will be enormous. The military bodies that will participate in the snam battle are the infantry, artillery and cavalry of the Oregon Na-tional Guards and two companies from tional Guards and two companies from the tenth United States Infantry. It is planned to have the battle start promptly at 5 o'clock in the afternoon and last about an hour.

It was learned yesterday that the man-agement of the new exposition enterprise has been tendered to Commissioner Flicher, who has performed meritorious service as Lewis and Clark Commissioner from California. Mr. Flicher has not yet accepted the profier, however.

Mr. Taussig, who is directing the exploitation work at this time, is one of San Francisco's prominent men and is being urged to strip for the mayorality race. The position appears to hold no allurements for him, however, and he has stated he will do his best to keep out of trouble, which is the term whereby he designates politics.
