MEDICINE TO BE EMPLOYED

More Time and Study, Southern Call fornia Scientist Declares, Should Be Given to the Protection of Teeth.

Dr. William Bebb, of the University of Southern California, a scientist in dentistry, delivered a lecture before the Lewis and Clark Dental Congress yesterday, making the prediction that dentistry would eventually lose a great deal of its present mechanical necessi-ties and would be a matter of prevention rather than cure. Dr. Bebb had many slides illustrating his lecture, supplementing a collection of 1000 skulls which he has on display in the drill hall in the Armory.

Dentistry will become a matter of medicine rather than of repairing some time not long distant, according to Dr. Bebb, but the great body of some time not long distant, according to Dr. Bebb, but the great body of dentists today are so much taken up with actual work that they cannot experiment, so the science of dentistry would languish were it not for a few men who devote themselves to the study of means of protecting teeth. Dr. Bebb is undoubtedly one of these, though modest about admitting it. A number of technical addresses were delivered before the congress yesterday afternoon. The speakers were: James G. Sharp, William A. Bryant and Charles H. Bowman, sil of San Fran-cisco, and John S. Marshall, of the cisco, and John S. Marshall, of the United States Army.

Clinics were held all yesterday afternoon. Those in charge were: Los Angeles and Portland Porcelain Clubs; Alice M. Steeves, Boston; M. L. Rhein, New York; William Bebb, Los Angeles; P.M.
