"I refuse to answer," said Kirby. "You may put me in jail, but I will not testify for the man who has a wife who is ill, and I will protect them both at the cost of my own liberty, if necessary."

Judge Cameron explained to Kirby that the latter was unaccountable in his attitude, and that he must answer pertinent questions. Kirby had been ordered to leave town but three days previously. He went as far as Woodburn and returned.

INTERESTING LETTER WRITTEN BY A NOTABLE WOMAN

Mrs. Sarah Kellogg of Denver, Color. Bearer of the Woman's Relief Corps. Sends Thanks to Mrs. Pinkham.

The following letter was written by Mrs. Kellogg of 1625 Lincoln Ave., Denver, Colo., to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. Dear Mrs. Pinkham: I was troubled with a tumor, which kept growing, causing me great mental depression. I was unable to attend to my house work, and life became a burden to me. I was confined for days to my bed, lost my appetite, my courage and hope.

"I could not bear to think of an operation, and in my distress I tried every remedy which I thought would be of any use to me, and reading of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to sick women, I decided to give it a trial. I felt so discouraged that I had little hope of recovery, and when I began to feel better, after the second week, I thought it only meant temporary relief, but to my great surprise I found that I kept gaining, while the tumor lessened in size.

The Compound continued to build up my general health and the tumor seemed to be absorbed, until, in seven months, the tumor was entirely gone and I a well woman. I am so thankful for my recovery that I ask you to publish my letter in newspapers, so other women may know of the wonderful curative powers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it once removed such trouble.

When women are troubled with irregular or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhoea, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, flatulence, general debility, indigestion and nervous prostration, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such trouble.

No other medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Health is too valuable to risk in experiments with unknown and untried medicines or methods of treatment. Remember that it is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that is curing women, and don't allow any druggist to sell you anything else in its place.

GOING TO TACOMA

Portland Loses Freight Traffic Department.

S. G. FULTON RESIGNS

Important Changes in the Western Management of the Northern Pacific Road Announced to Take Place.

Effective August 1, changes of great importance will be made in the freight traffic department of the Northern Pacific Railway. S. G. Fulton, for many years assistant general freight agent at Portland, has resigned to engage in other lines, and headquarters for the freight department will be transferred from Portland to Tacoma under supervision of Henry Blakeley, heretofore assistant general freight agent at St. Paul, who has been appointed Western freight agent of the company.

It is not definitely known whether or not the departments of the general freight office that have been developed at Portland under the direction of Mr. Fulton will be removed to Tacoma, but presumably that is what is decided upon by the traffic officials at St. Paul. In the general freight office and freight claim department, which was originally a part of that office, but segregated a few years ago in order to keep its records separate, as is done at the general offices in St. Paul, there are about 25 persons.

If the offices are transferred these employees will be obliged to remove to Tacoma. It was announced several weeks ago that this change had been decided upon, but was denied, with the explanation that no change would take place immediately, although the subject was said to be under consideration.

S. G. Fulton's Resignation. S. G. Fulton was at that time in attendance at a conference of freight department officials, and it is understood, declined the offer of a position in the East on that account. My relations with the officials of the Northern Pacific Railway Company are very pleasant and I leave the service with the kindest feelings toward them and the kindest wishes for their success.

Recent changes in general agencies in Tacoma and Spokane are now seen to have been a part of the general reorganization of the Western portion of the traffic department of the western department of Mr. Blakeley in charge of the company's business in Oregon, Washington and Idaho, with headquarters at Tacoma. It is understood that the purpose of the reorganization was to concentrate headquarters of the freight department at Tacoma.

Bretz May Come Here. R. F. Bretz, division freight agent at Seattle, formerly connected with the Portland general freight office, it is anticipated, will be transferred to this city, thus substituting a division office and also probably adding a general freight agent in direct charge of the local traffic matters. These details, however, will come under the jurisdiction of Mr. Blakeley, who arrival is expected the latter part of the week.

On the day that he will sever his connection with the company S. G. Fulton completes a period of 29 years of service, during which he advanced through various responsible posts in that department to become assistant general freight agent with jurisdiction over the Pacific Coast territory of the company. His connection to the Portland office for the force consisted of a chief clerk and stenographer, and had been established about a year. With increasing business a freight-claim division was established and maintained for several years in the office and then made an auxiliary department. As an

SWARTZ HELD FOR THEFT

ARRESTED FOR STEALING DIAMOND AND MONEY.

Thought to Be Man Who Broke Open McCredie's Locker on the Ball Grounds.

Harry Swartz, aged 24 years, an employe of an attraction on the Trail at the Exposition grounds, was arrested at 9:15 o'clock last night by Detectives Kerzian and Snow, and lodged in the City Jail. He is charged with grand larceny, and it is alleged he is the man who stole from the locker of Walter H. McCredie, manager of the Portland ball team, $100 in cash and a diamond suit worth over $200.

The robbery was reported to the police by Manager McCredie a few days ago. The diamond suit was removed from the manager's locker at the baseball grounds, the lock being broken. Suspicion was fastened upon two men, one of whom was Swartz. The detectives watched their man for some time, gathering evidence, and last night the arrest occurred when the officers were of the belief that they had sufficient evidence to convict. The arrest was made on a warrant issued Saturday, but which was not served until last night because of the desire of the officers to watch Swartz's actions.

Swartz was arrested at his lodgings, Twenty-fourth and Vaughn streets. He was unable to procure $100 bail, and was forced to spend the night in the City Jail. He will have a preliminary hearing this morning before Judge Cameron in the Municipal Court.

While it looked as though drastic action would be taken by the court officials, but the incident passed without further notice. Caspary kept his seat, advising with his attorneys frequently, but the documents of the prosecution were kept from his reach, and the eyes of several detectives were kept trained on him.

Alexander J. Braut, a tailor, and J. Anderson, a hackdriver, were the two men peremptorily challenged by the prosecution. It was shown that both were on very friendly terms with the attorneys for the defense, and Braut, it developed, is tailor for John F. Watta, of counsel for the defense. Both men were served with processes by Bailiff Goitz. It was shown in fact admitted, by Braut that he had been hanging around the courtroom and police station for half an hour before being served, although he never visited the place on any day. He is a very busy man. He denied knowing anything about the case, but he was excused.

"I saw Braut and Bailiff Goitz while going just outside the room a while ago," said Arthur C. Spencer, "and I see that the efforts of the officer have borne fruit. If the court please, I demand that the new venire be handled by the Chief of Police."

While it looked as though Braut may have had an object in being around to be served, I certainly had no knowledge of it, he said. "I deny having anything to do with such a scheme."

After the jury was secured, the case went to trial. Sheriff Word was the first witness called. He said he saw Caspary at Caspary's establishment, on Irving near Fifth street, and produced all of the documents and paraphernalia seized. He identified all of it, was asked a few questions and excused. The collection represents everything required to operate a scalping office.

The most important witness was M. Anchor, of Manzanita, Minn., from whom, it is alleged, Caspary stole a return-trip ticket. Anchor was on a visit to the city and was investigated. It is alleged, into the establishment said to have been run by Caspary and others, where, it is alleged, he suffered the loss of his ticket.

At 5 o'clock the court adjourned, and the Caspary case will be resumed at 1 o'clock this afternoon. It is probable that more than a week will be required to try all of the cases against various alleged scalpers.

Business is increasing at such a rapid rate that it is said by officials that Portland soon have to be provided with another Judge to assist in the city and state cases that now have to be heard by Municipal Judge Cameron. Yesterday the city alone had 20 cases, the state had 10 and in the afternoon the court held a special session to try the first of the cases of alleged railroad ticket scalpers, a jury sitting also. This morning, for the first time in recent years, the court will convene at 9 o'clock instead of at 10, and will continue to do so for some time at least.

May Williams, colored, arrested by Policeman Carlson on a charge of larceny from the person, was held to the grand jury. This case has caused wide discussion in police circles, and by many the act of the officer is condemned. Chief Grizmanche does not approve entirely of the conduct of Carlson. Judge Cameron last part criticized him, also. Nevertheless, the negro population at this time is causing so much trouble that the court felt obliged to uphold the officer, and the case will be tried out in the Circuit Court. The woman was held under bonds of $100. She went to jail in default.

Policeman Carlson was in civilian attire when, at night, he saw May Williams approaching. He seized intoxicating liquor, fell against a telegraph pole as she came nearer, and played the part so well, he swears, that the woman robbed him of $10, after which she fled. She threw the money into the street, and a dollar of it still remains there, as it could not be found. The woman denies the theft, and also charges that the officer handled her roughly and attempted to make her give him money. Judge Cameron, in deciding the matter, remarked that he did not altogether approve of Carlson's act, but neither did
