BAD DAY FOR THE FAVORITES

Talent Upset at the Races Run on the Irvington Track.

FRANK BEATS SPRINTERS

Jockey's Poor Riding and Judgmen Spoil All Chance of Cascade of Diamonds Winning in the Third Event.

J. O. Toole's H. L. Frank, when he tiptoed his field in the Pommery handicap yesterday, hung up the track record for the distance and now has the honor of holding the track record for both the five and six furlongs. Frank started in the five furiong sprint race on Saturday, raced his field into submission, smashing record then and yesterday he came right back, meeting a lot of the fleetest sprinters quartered at the track, broke another record and maced the field behind him dizzy, winning by four lengths. He raced the distance in 1:13% and all that T. Clark had to do was to sit still and let the rest of them fight it out

The bookies took great liberties with H. L. Frank-took them because he has been known to have been left at the post His owner has dumped a cartload of money on him at various times and because he did not deliver the goods he has been in bad repute. Those who have been watching him, however, took achance with him yesterday and eagerly grabbed a bundle of the 4 to 1 that was slated against him. Misty's Pride was made favorite. She was off in front and stayed there until Clark set to work on Frank at the half-mile post. All the boy had to do was to shake him up a little and he ran away from Oregon's pride, and he won in a buck jump, with his head in the boy's lap. Misty's Pride beat Judge, who was slow to begin, but closed with a rush, by a length and a half. Toupee might have done better with a stronger boy up. Laidiaw, a big striding fellow with speed to burn, found the turns too short and in consequence he ran a bad race.

Tenordale's Smashing Race.

I. Powell made a mess of the third race. He had a leg up over "Tobe" Ramsey's newly acquired Cascade of Diamonda, and, but for the boy's wretched performance, the little chestnut might have won. As it was the race was won by Tenordale, who was off last and ran a smashing race. Powell came within an ace of hoisting Arestallator and League over the infield rail. He fulshed second with Cascade of Diamonds, but the judges with Cascade of Diamonds, but the judges very promptly put him last. Arestaliator was a hot 1-to-2 favorite and Loague had him in a nice place when they rounded for the wire. Powell must have been crazy with the heat, for when he saw Arestaliator coming, he swung Diamond toward the rall, leaning over on him as he was about to pick up gold close to the raft. Longue saw there was plenty of room to get through, but just as he made his move. Powell swung his mount over and he had to pull up. In the meantime Butler was hustiling Tenordale along and he got up in time to win by a nose. When Cascade of Diamonds was discunlined. of Diamonds was disqualified

Arestallator third.

The first race on the card brought together was won by Silver Heels. Yesterday Silver Heels had a boy up that knew something. He avoided the early jam and in spite of the fact that he went to the post a bit sore, Loague took him to the front at once. After that there was nothing but heels for the rest of the party, with Loague sitting still waiting for the end of the journey, which was finished four lengths in front of Standard, who beat the favorite. Sacredus was pinched out of it after the start, and although he made up some ground and finished gamely, he did not have the foot to catch the leader.

Seventy and Agnes Mack both had a case of tangietot and were sadily messed about shortly after the start, and if they ever had a chance, it was killed off.

Some of those who were on the inside made a little clean-up on Dixelle, who won the fifth race. The numbel-footed daughter of Sir Dixon opened at 16 to 1. When the money began unloading, the half who the post, she had been backed down to 7 to 1. B. Powell took her to the front right after the start, and made a show of the field. Going down the back stretch Dixelle was ten lengths in front, and when the boy passed under the wirehe had the mare all but pulled up. Badly Used received a big play, but there was too much speed in front of him. He closed with a rush the last part, and was second by two lengths. Penance, a B-to-1shot, was third. ### Dotterel Repeats Success.

Dotterel, who won the opening race on the first day, was a repeater in the last race. She won the seven furiong event in a romp, with Libble Candid, the second choice, nowhere. Loague took Dotterel to the front at once. She was chased by Holly Berry, and when she killed her off there was nothing to give her a contest

Holly Berry, and when she killed her off there was nothing to give her a contest for the money. Wistaria began running at the last quarter, and closed stoutly. Blue Ridge bolted as the barrier went up, and was practically left.

Between the fifth and sixth races, Sergeant Hogeboom journeyed to the track with warrants sworn out for A. R. Diamond and seven of the bookmakers. All of the warrants were shown to Mr. Diamond, and he at once gave Sergeant of the warrants were shown to Mr. Dia-mond, and he at once gave Sergeant Hogeboom $80, the necessary cash bond demanded by the police officer. The war-rants were sworn out by Captain E. W. Spencer. who, while he was waiting to see what would happen, stood hanging over the fence from the upper turn during the last three races. Following are today's entries:

Owing to the great volume of business in the Municipal Court, it will be impossible for the cases to be tried today, and it is probable that all will be continued for several days. Arraignments may be made this morning.

A peculiar feature of the case is the fact that, aithough City Attorney McNary but a few days ago rendered an opinion to the effect that the municipality could not stop bookmaking, he issued the complaints when requested to do so.

Perhaps the most interesting match of the day, and the most closely contested, was that between Miss Pording and Miss King. Both were up to their game, and some of the pretriest rallies ever seen on Multinoman Field were the result. Their long, forehand drives were things of beauty and excited the envy of more than one masculine onlooker. ### Makes Second Appearance.

Takaki made his second appearance on the courts and again demonstrated his skill. His is largely a back-line game, but his strokes are swift and accurate, and his lobs are high and deep. His next match will be with Busch of San Francisco, and this will be worth going a long way to see, for Busch has much good tennis in him. He was the 1900 champion of Montana, and is playing up to his form.

Bellinger won from Nunn, 6-1, 6-2, and Forbus defeated Sargent in two closely contested sets.

In the men's doubles, four matches were scheduled, but only one was played. The committee has been rather lenient thus far in regard to suiting the convenience of the players, but hereafter will be more strict and must insist that players be on hand at the time appointed, or they will be defaulted. Rosenfeld and West encountered Leadbetter and Kerr, and won in two straight sets, 6-9, 6-1.

Ladies' Singles, Best Matches.

The ladies' singles brought forth the best matches of the day. Miss Fox and Miss Josephi met at 19 o'clock in what the river for trials and to become accilproved to be a very pretty contest. Miss Josephi succeeded in winning the match but not without some hard work. At 3 o'clock Miss Fording and Miss King came together in the best match of the day. To those who have watched with something of disappointment the lack of progress hitherto in the ladies' game this exhibition was excellent. It showed marked progress during the last year.

The ladies' doubles were very interesting in spite of the one-sided scores. Mrs. Cook and Miss Carstens defeated Miss Sutherland and Miss Schaefer in two sets, 5-0, 5-1. Both Mrs. Cook and Miss Carstens defeated Miss Carstens played strong games. Mrs. Judge and Mrs. Raley went down to defeat before the Misses Fox by the score of 5-2, 5-0.

Only one match in the mixed doubles was classed.
