WASHINGTON, July 26 .- Whether there is to be peace in the Far East or a continuance of the war will be practically decided at the first business meeting of the Washington conference, which will convene at the Navy-Yard, Portsmouth, N. H., about August 5. Baron Komura will on that occasion communicate to M. Witte the essentials of Japan's peace terms for further negotiations. This, it is declared, will not be done in a spirit of defiance, indeed, there are many evidences in the possession of the neutral governments that Japan is coming to the Washingconference, not imbued with a desire to humiliate Russia, but only to exact terms which will insure a lasting peace, and in a measure compensate Japan for her financial losses.

unnecessary tedious negotiations. "W? are not going into the conference to write into the law of nations a new chapter," said a nigh Japanese official recently. For this reason the Japanese plenipotentiaries will adopt the pro-gramme of at once laying on the con-ference table those terms, the accept-ance of which without modification they are instructed to insist upon as a basis for further negotiations. Little progress has been made in the direction of an armistice. London has not seen its way clear to aid the President in his efforts to this end, and Japan has in the most determined manner indicated her unwillingness to consent to an armistice until her plenipotentiaries have met the Russians ic onference. The object of this, it is explained in an authoritative quarter. is because Japan wishes to be assured hat Russia is prepared to negotiate in seriousness for peace before the Japanese commanders yield any of their ground in the field or give the Russians

Information has reached here, however, that the President has not ceased his efforts in this direction and it is believed that, in case Komura goes to Oyster Buy in advance of his formal presentation, it will be for the purpose f discussing this phase of the negotiations. Some doubt is expressed by diplomats, however, about such a visit and it is the opinion of more than one diplomat that, should it take place, etiquette will require a similar informal visit by M. Witte before the conference of the plenipotentiaries and infection their presentation by the President to

In one of the skirmishes District Attorney Heney, had the better of the argument, while in the other Judge Bennett received the palm, Jefferson D. Evans was the first witness called, and told the same story related by him at the first trial. He was more emphatic, however, in regard to not having signed any note for the money advanced to him by Gesner, and contended that he did not remember the note which had been produced in court at the first trial by the defense, and had never seen it before, to his knowledge. This testimony was in direct opposition to the testimof Biggs at the first trial, when the defends ants had told of drawing the note for. Evans upon the request and with the approval of the applicant. During Evans' testimony Mr. Heney produced the note in question and asked the witness if he had signed it, or if ha remembered it, to both of which questions emphatic denials were entered. "I would like to ask," said Mr. Evans, after the note had been placed once more in the care of the court stenographer, "if that note is to go back to Dr. Gesner? If it is, I would like to have it canceled, because I gave back the check for all the money I ever got of him, and I don't want to have any suit brought to collect the note, which I don't remember having signed or given." The witness was assured that it was not probable that any such action would be taken.

On the cross-examination of the witness the first conflict of the day oc curred. Mr. Bennett was asking Evans various questions relating to conversations he had had with outside persons bearing upon his conduct in taking up his claim, when Mr. Heney interrupted. "Do you consider that to be competent evidence" he asked. "If you do." he continued, "I want to prove a lot "It is competent if you don't object."

the preliminary negotiations. The amount is still a secret, but it is based cost of the war and will be accompanied by a more detailed statement. showing the method by which the actual figures were computed. It will not fall far short of $1,000,000, according to advices reaching here from well-informed sources,

What Russia Must Yield.

Beside the indemnity, it is believed Japan's other essentials to the continuance of the negotiations are the cession to Japan of Sakhalin, the transfer of the lease of the Line Tung Peninsula and of the railway as far as Harbin, the recognition of Japanese predominating influence in Cores and the return of Manchuria to China.

If the Russian plenipotentiaries are prepared to accept these essentials, the officials here are confident that the basis will be laid for negotiations sure to lead to the signing of the treaty of Washington, bringing peace in the Far East.

May Follow Cuban Precedent

At for the subjects remaining to be discussed, a testious one, it is believed, one on which Russia will be disposed to negotiate with the greatest caution, is the programme for the restoration of Manchuria to Chinese con trol. Because of the confusion and the general disorder likely to ensue in the province on the withdrawal of the foreign armies, Japan believes that a certain time will be required in which to restore public order and the establishment of a regular system of Chinere police administration. During this period Jaran will insist that she remain in control of the administration of the province, at the same time giving a definite pledge finally to evacuate as soon as China shall be in a position to take up the reins of government there policy to be suggested by Japan in this matter will not be unlike that of the Washington Government in reference to Cuba, troops being withdrawn from the island as soon as a stable government was in control of the situation

A second subject to settle will be the surreader of all the Russian ships now interned in neutral ports. Some are inclined to believe that this demand will form one of the "essentials," while others claim ground for believing that Russia may Induce Japan to take these in part payment of the indemnity.

Europe believes Japan will demand the neutralization of Viadivostok. The Washington Government does not share in this belief. Indeed, in official cir-

It is known that Japan will demand an indemnity that will approximately cover the cost of the war to date. This cover the cove liminary negotiations. New Methods Effective.

The infection of the original focus seems to be dying out, as fewer new cases are being reported there, which is a hopeful sign, indicating that the modern methods have been effective. The work now is to locate the new foci and treat them in the same manner. Physicians are now reporting all cases of fever, and wherever there is the slightest suspicion rigid sanitary rules are applied, with the result that up to now there has been no spread of any case from any of these new foci. Those which are developing are all traceable di rectly to the original focus in the Canalstreet quarter.

There are three foci above Canal street and one in Algiers, These cases have all been directly traced to the French Market vicinity, and up to this morning there were no reports of cases traceable to the outlying section.

After this pleasantry the defense turned its attention to the existence of a timber craze throughout Crook County at the time the filings mentioned in the indictment had been made.

"Oh, the Government is willing to oncede that Eastern people wanted the timber," interrupted Mr. Heney,

"I am glad of it," said Mr. Bennett, oking benevolently and surprisedly over his glasses at the District Attorney. "I didn't know you would concede anything. I thought you were trying this case on the theory that no one had any right to any timber in that ountry at all."

Judge De Haven interrupted the colloguy by stating that he did not see that the defense was entitled to go into all of the questions being asked unless for the purpose of controverting the memory of the witness, and Mr. Bennett stated that was his purpose in asking the questions.

Two Attorneys Clash

The real trouble of the day arose in the afternoon over the word "probably" and in this Mr. Bennett came out of the mix-up with the cool end of the poker. On the cross-examination of Christian Feuerheim Mr. Bennett asked the witness if Feverhelm had not stated in his previous testimony, during the first trial, that Gesner would probably buy the land in event of patent being gained
