

RESEMBLES BY DOG COMMENT ON DOG

Assistant Fire Chief Strikes
L. M. Hubert on the Nose.

TWO MEN WERE FRIENDS

Canine Had Fits and Huber Advised
Drowning, Whereupon Landenklos
Attacked Former Companion With His Fists.

"If I had a kaiser like that," said L. M. Hubert yesterday in referring to an unfortunate puppy that had been brought into his livery stable opposite the City Hall to be treated for an aggravated case of fits. "I would amputate its tail about two inches back of its ears, or else hire a small boy to take him down to the river and throw him overboard, because he isn't any earthly use."

"I think any man that would talk in that cruel fashion isn't a blessed bit better than a dog himself," interposed M. Landenklos, Assistant Chief of the Portland Fire Department, who had been attracted to the scene by the crowd that was watching the frenzied antics of the canine.

Opinion differs a little as to what followed. Some incline to the theory that the irate fireman, whose feelings had been hurt by the unkind reference to an animal of which he is exceedingly fond, followed up his remarks with a right hook on Hubert's nasal appendage without any further ceremony, while others maintain that the stableman was on the point of arising from his chair with resentment in his eyes when, by a sudden and adroit movement, he placed his nose against the fireman's face and naturally became an unwilling witness of all kinds of ethereal fireworks and planetary configurations. All accounts agree, however, on the main issue, which is that while some persons were leading the canine past the Fourth-street livery stable of Hubert & Hall, the animal became afflicted suddenly with spasms and was taken in haste by employees of the place and subjected to a cold cascade as a restorative. This was the situation leading up to the scrap between the two men, who previous thereto had been friends of 13 years.

"I just couldn't help it," said Landenklos, in describing the affair afterwards. "That is a tender spot with me, and when I heard Hubert say such unkind assertions about my little dog, that was already suffering enough, I up and hit him, on the spur of the moment."

"He did nothing of the sort," said Hubert, in giving his version. "He hit me on the nose, and I am in doubt whether to have him arrested and then fired from his job, or fired and then arrested, or both at the same time, and I've a good mind to lay the matter before the Fire Commissioners at their next meeting."

Incidentally Mayor Lane figured somewhat in the trouble. He was returning from luncheon and was called in haste by the stableman in the dual capacity of rendering professional services in a way, and also of passing judgment upon the advisability of inflicting summary punishment, legal and otherwise, upon the fireman. After Dr. Lane had diagnosed the case professionally, he took hold of the matter from an official standpoint, in consequence of which the stableman is still at sea as to what course to pursue.

Chief Campbell expressed considerable regret over the matter, and said that he was unable to account for it, as both Hubert and Landenklos were old friends. It is probable the two men will settle the difficulty in some manner mutually satisfactory.

Hulme Will Not Resign.
Mayor Lane is in a quandary relative to the appointment of a plumbing inspector. He wants to put James H. Morrow in that position, but was called in haste by any law that can be used as a leverage in ousting the other man from office.

Yesterday afternoon Thomas E. Hulme, incumbent, was told by the Mayor that it was his intention to put Morrow in the place, but Hulme informed his Honor that he had taken legal advice in the matter, and had concluded not to vacate, so that the situation up to date, and Hulme declares that he will hold the fort until it is shown that the Mayor has the power to give his job to some one else.

Proposed Street Extension.
In pursuance of a resolution of the City Council, adopted July 19, directing the City Engineer to survey and mark the boundaries of the proposed extension of Twenty-eighth street North from the north line of Broadway to the south line of Knappa street, a report has been filed by Captain Wagner indicating the appropriation of $9,894.7 square feet for this purpose. The new street is to be 55 feet in width.

Slow in Getting Licenses.
Suits have been brought in the Municipal Court by City Engineer, Inspector Hutchinson and McEachern against several hundred local merchants who have been backward about taking out licenses. The amounts involved range from $1 to $40, and aggregate a considerable sum.

Petition for Sewer.
John G. Heitkemper and other property-owners have petitioned the City Council for an eight-inch sewer along Hood street, from the dividing line between blocks 81 and 82. Caruthers' addition, to the Woods-street gulch sewer.
