Great Strategic Movement Against Floating Poolroom Ends in Capture of Only Fourteen Out of 200 Excursionists.

CHICAGO, Aug. 2 .- Gamblers intent apon playing the races and policemen determined to prevent all racetrack betting on the high seas furnished to day on Lake Michigan an unique and spectacular gambling raid. The police and gamblers raced around the lake, first into Michigan-water, then close to the shores of Illinois and then into the jurisdiction of Indiana; the one seeking to escape and the police determined to capture them at all hazards. The net results of the day for the police were the capture of 14 weary marine gamblers, who floated ashere ht South Chicago in a launch. All of the others, after a hot chuse by the police in a lumbering fire tug, escaped to Indiana harbor, Indiana, and made their way ashore outside of the jurisdiction of the Chicago police.

Chief of Police Collins maid today that he would no longer permit the op-eration of the floating poolroom. He eration of the floating poolroom. He asserted that he would arrest all the gamblers when they attempted to board it, claiming that they were about to commit an illegal act, which brought within police jurisdiction. gamblers circumvented the Chicago pe-lice at the outset by causing the stemp-er City of Traverse to be run out inte the lake.

It was the expectation of the authorithat the betting fraternity would Jeave Chicago on the City of Traverse, but instead of this, a small excursion steamer, named the Eagle, had been chartered, and the gamblers, walking past the police, embarked and started for the City of Traverse, which was rolling around in midlake. The police were powerless to intercept the "ex-cursionists," as they called themselves, and with deep chagrin watched them sail away to place their money on the TRCCS.

The announced programme of the managers of the floating poolroom was that all passengers would be landed at the foot of Ninety-second street, in South Chicago, where the Calumet River empties into Lake Michigan. Chief Collins, balked in his attempt to prevent the sailing of the gamblers on the Eagle, transferred his force to Ninety-second street and posted them along the shore in such a manner that it would have been practically im-possible for any man from the City of Traverse or the Eagle to set foot on the shore and escape arrest.

by the bridge, and no possible chance of a safe landing on shore, the case of the gamblers for a time looked desperate. The Eagle circled around and around in the tooling its whistle in frantic fash-r the bridgetender to turn the bridge so it could steam back into the lake. The police stood on the shore and laughed, feeling confident that it was only a question of time before the passengers of the Eagle would be in their power.

A small, insignificant mud scow happened along at this critical moment, how-ever, and blew its whistle as a signal for the bridge to open. The bridgetender was compelled to swing the bridge, and the Eagle, planting its bow squarely in the stern of the mud scow, crowded in closely as it passed through the bridge, and then made a run for the open lake and freedom.

As soon as the police discovered the an reach of the mud scow and saw that the Bennington Court of Inquiry Hears bridge must open, they made a rush for the fire tug Yosemite and by the time the Eagle was entering the waters of the lake the tug was tearing after it, loaded down with policemen. The Eagle, however, steadily drew away from the tug, and, after a run of ten minutes, the police gave up the chase. The Eagle landed at Indiana harbor, its passengers returning to Chicago by train.

According to this official, the trouble with the exclusion law is that it is not sufficiently clear as to what Chinamen should be admitted, while it sets forth explicitly the classes that are not entitled to admission. The State Department would like to see this matter cleared up, but in view of the known antagonistic attitude of the Senate in regard to any exclusion treaty whatsoever, it is not anticipated that any effort would be made in the near future to make such a treaty with the Chinese government.

Is the joy of the household, for without it no happiness can be complete. How sweet the picture of mother and babe. angels smile at and commend the thoughts and aspirations of the mother bending over the cradle. The ordeal through which the expectant mother must pass, however, is so full of danger and suffering that she looks forward to the hour when she shall feel the exquisite thrill of motherhood with indescribable dread and fear. Every woman should know that the danger, pain and horror of child-birth can be entirely avoided by the use of Mother's Friend, a scientific liniment for external use only, which toughens and renders pliable all the parts, and work. By its aid thousands of women have passed this great crisis in perfect safety and without pain. Sold at $1.00 per value to all women sent free. Address bottle by druggists. Our book of priceless BRADFIELD REGULATOR GO., Atlanta. Sa.
