AN OBITUARY THAT WAS NOT PUB-LISHED.-W. B. Hall, a well-known resident of East Portland, was a deacon in the Second Baptist Church a dozen years ago, when "Rev." J. C. Reed was pastor of that church and when he took his big swim to Moline, Ill. The incidents of that event were called to mind by Mr. Hall yesterday as he read in the Oregonian that J. C. Reed was released from the asylum. "Come to think of it," said Deacon Hall yesterday, "my only literary strempt was in the form of an oblinary of Reed We had been drawding the of Reed. We had been dragging the There was a sorrowful crowd at the river all day expecting to see the body of the preacher brought out. I went home filled with sorrow over the drownof a valued pastor, and after sup-sat down to compose an obituary of per sat down to compose an obituary of Mr. Reed. I was so overcome with sorrow for the man that it was nearly 12 o'clock when I had finished my obitu-ary, which was intended for the Pacific Baptist. There came a knock at my door when I received a message from Moline, Ill., stating that Mr. Reed had reached ce. It was almost a knockout threw the obituary into the stove, and the next morning, remaining quiet about the telegram I had received, I sneaked down the back streets to where the river was being dragged, and stopped that work at once. The Salem correspondent says that Reed was a weak preacher. That is a mistake. Few men were more able or elequent than Reed in the pulpit. I have often wondered since whether Reed was not another Mr. Hyde and Dr. Jekyll all the time he was

GAMBLERS HELD TO ANSWER-ISAAC Gratton, Frank Bennett and Peter St. Mary, of the Milwaukie Club House, waived their preliminary examinations, when arraigned yesterday morning be-fore Justice J. W. Grasley, at Milwaukie, charged with gambling, Jesse A. Keck was also arraigned on charge of falling as an official to file information of violation of the law. Keck had been Recorde up to a few weeks ago, when he resigned to take a place at the clubhouse. All the desendants were held to answer in the sum of $300 each. W. S. U'Ren, of Oregon City, represented the state at the prosecution. Arrests were made at the raid on the clubhouse Saturday night, and it was reported yesterday the house was

BLOCKS WERE LAID IN TAR -In laying the wood blocks on the East Side approach to the Burnside bridge, rapidly going to pieces, it is now stated that the blocks were laid in tar, without any asphalt being used. The result is that the blocks have become so loose that daily they are pulled out of place. On the south side near the middle of the the south side near the middle of the approach the bridge tender has resorted to laying planks, taking up the shriveled and broken blocks with a shovel. There is nothing to hold them in place, and they are moved out of place by horses'

BOARD OF OPTOMETRY.—The Oregon State Board of Examiners in Optometry held a business session in this city Mon-day, Dr. C. W. Lowe presiding, Herman W. Barr, secretary, and E. O. Mattern were present. The Board decided on a course of examination and will hold an course of examination and will hold an examination at an early date, notice of which will be given later. One hundred and fifty practicing opticians have sent in their applications, which have been passed upon by the Board.

STREET IS OBSTRUCTED.—There is much complaint that East Burnside street, between Union avenue and East Third street, has now been torn up by the street railway company for more than two weeks. The south side of the street had AND THE BARBER weeks. The south side of the street had been kept reasonably free of obstruction until yesterday, when loads of gravet were dumped on the narrow roadway left for the public. The company completed its heavy new steel curves on the intersection of Union avenue and East Burnside street some time ago. The network of tracks has been left open, where new track is being isld to the Burnside bridge.

What Then Followed.

Whereupon the Sheriff knew he had followed the right scent, for here before him was the very man who had declared him a renegade. What ensued has various coloring, according to the imaginings of the spectators. Some say that the Sheriff had hig hand on the pocket which contained the shooting-iron and that the three barbers in the shop were ready at nce to carve his brawny arm ere he should emay to draw the weapon; others that the Sheriff had no intention of pulling the weapon and that his hand was resting on it merely from habit, for it is the custom of the Sheriff, they say, to walk the streets in that pose. "What have you got against me?" de-manded Mr. Word. "I never hurt you."
"Nothing personally, but I don't like you politically and I've got a political knife that long," showing his arm up to the albay. "for you."

"Well, you ought not to talk that way about me."
"See here," said the tonsorial artist, as he paused from rubbing his rator on the hone. "I've been in Oregon eighteen years and in all that time only one Demograt has been slected to office and that was Pennsyer. The rest of the bunch have been all renegades and you're one This brought the debate to a climax and the Sheriff exclaimed:

"Well, you can't hurt me, so what's the use of talking!" "That's what you think," replied Phillips: "but I'm going to fight you all the way down the line, and a lot of other Democrats are going to do the

And the Shelff Whisked Out.

With that, the Sheriff whisked out of the shop, leaving a smoking wake. The day before, Phillips was shaving Deputy Sheriff Martin and had then applied the term renegade to the Sher-iff. He jocularly remarked to Martin that the latter's tenure would end next year, and the reply was that Word would serve yet two more terms at least. Phillips offered to bet $250 that Word would not be re-elected, but Martin shied off and trotted away to tell his chief what Phillips had said. Phillips is one of the rock-ribbed stal-warts of the local Democratic party, and has a large following.

and has a large following.

The foregoing episode exemplifies the discontent prevailing in the Democratic camp of faithfuls, over appointments which have been made, not only by Sheriff. Word, but also by Mayor Lane. The faithful are walling loudly, for of the nine deputies in Word's office but two are reputed to be Democrats, and the tax-collecting department of the Sheriff harbors so many Republicans Sheriff harbors so many Republicans that hungry Democrats on the outside are gnashing their teeth.

And even Mayor Lane, who has boasted himself a Democrat on many oc-casions, has not made a fair distribution of the loaves and fishes, say his election supporters, and they complain that when they go to him for jobs, he replies that the Civil Service shuts them out and makes him impotent,

SURGERY IS DEDICATED

Exercises Held at Good Samaritan Hospital to Celebrate Event.

Dedicatory services celebrating the open-ing of the surgery at Good Samaritan Hospital, one of the most modern and scientifically equipped in the United States, was held yesterday. Well-known physicians, clergymen, medical students and members of the board were present to listen to addresses and to inspect the surgery which has just been opened. The equipment was given to the Hospital by nembers of the Couch family. Superintendent Miss E. L. Loveridge made arrangements for the exercises and after an invocation by Bishop Wister Morris, Dr. S. E. Josephi and Dr. George F. Wilson delivered lectures. Dr. Josephi spoke on the history on the institution, while Dr. Wilson spoke briefly on the progress of surgery.

The surgery is located in the west wing of the newly constructed building. Am-ple provision has been made for light, windows being placed every few feet. An amphitheatre has been erected for students, and all the latest sanitary methods have been employed in building the surgery room. Apartments have been set aside for instruments and lockers.
