Dodging behind trees in the political woods are patriots who have fox eyes on some office or other, which the people of Oregon will parcel out to the faithful next year. The Republican aspirants are almost as the sands of the seashore for puttitude while the Democratic aspir gnts are as the dwellers at a deserted Summer resort for fewness; in fact, only two or three of the unterrified host have yet come over the mountain such as George E. Chamberlain, who will be renominated for Governor, and Robert G. Smith, of Grant's Pass, who will prob-ably run for Congress in the First dis-

The fattest plums to be plucked are the offices of State Treasurer and State the candidates for printer are inclined to keep in the shadows yet awhile. Since the job of Secretary of State has been stripped of its princely fees and perquisites, the scramble for the place it not so fierce as in years gone by. Many of the stalwarts are legging a sharp race for Governor, or more correctly, they are limbering up for the preliminary heat, yet only two of them have proclaimed their candidacies—Dr. James Withycombe, director of the Experiment Station at Corvallis, and C. A. Johns, Mayor of Baker City. Another bright cluster of first magnitude stars are blinking at the job of Representative in Congress in the First district, the aforesaid plum now being in the possession of Binger Her-In the Second district, however, the catalogue of avowed aspirants for Representative is scant.

Aspirants Reluctant to Talk.

'Tis rather early for the patriots to be getting busy; that's what most of them when cross-examined on the subject their heart throbs. For example, has not been smoked out the question whether he is going to run for Governor or United States Senator Dr. Andrew C. Smith doesn't know Dr. Andrew C. Smith doesn't know whether he would like to be Governor not; Henry Ankeny doesn't know bether he would either; and as for Robert Eakin and H. L. Benson, Judges of the Circuit Court, theirs are shy booms, sprung of their own accord. W. Howe, State Senator for Yambill County, has been in Portland several days looking after his boom and getting his friends to send out feelers over the

Withycombe has been longest in the field, for he proclaimed his candi-dacy as long ago as last Winter. Many young men, in all parts of the state, who have attended the State Agricultural College, are said to be organizing in his be-half a movement that will control several thousand votes. Some talk has been go-ing the rounds for Robert Eakin, Cir-Judge of the judicial district com-ng Union and Wallowa Counties and for H. L. Benson, Circuit Judge of the district comprising Klamath, Lake, Jack-son and Josephine Counties. The argument in their favor is that they w less from factional discord than

Intense Partisan Not Desired.

In order to elect a Republican to the Governorship it will be necessary to weld together the party factions, for Chamberlain will be hard to heat; this is conceded by the most sanguine chiefs of the party. Republican leaders agree that the safest nominee for Governor would be a man who has not been an intense partisan in any factional camp. Just now a search is on foot for such a man. It need not be said that the hunt is a long one and diffi-

For Secretary of State the leading candidates are P. S. Malcolm, of Portland, and Claud Gatch, of Salem. Hitherto, the office has been one of the three most lucrative of the state government, but the auccessor of the present incumbent, is to receive only a flat salary of $4500 a year, and fees and perquisites which heretofore have found their way into the pocket of the Secretary of State are to go into the state treasury.

Interest on Funds Still Perquisite.

The rich plum of the State Treasurer. however, has not been disturbed, and the interest money on deposits of state funds will continue to line the pockets of that official as heretofore. Thomas Ryan, one of the aspirants, is County Judge of Clackamas, and has desired the Republican nomination for some time E. W. Haines is a banker of Forest Grove and State Senator for Washington County. E.

in Ashland and is State Senator for Jack son County. Ralph Hoyt is cashier of the Merchants' National Bank in Portland, and John M. Lewis is Treasurer of Multand John M. Lewis is frequency of Municipal Property of Marion and County. W. H. Hobson is a merchant of Stayton and State Benator for Marion and Linn Counties. His vote for Kuykendall for President of the Senate last Winter is understood to have secured him pledges of support for State Treasurer. J. H. Aitkin, a merchant and banker of Huntington, has come forth into the political limelight in the last few months. R. Alexander, a merchant of Pendleton, was one of the aspirants for the Republi-can nomination in the last State Convention, W. T. Wright is a well-to-do resident of Union, interested in a large number of financial enterprises in his part of the state.

Ways and Means Committee Is Decided in Views on Power to Act.

WARFARE ON MAYOR OPENS

Reports Back Ordinance for Adoption Amended to Create Office of Plumbing Inspector, With Two Officials.

Open rebellion was proclaimed against Mayor Lane at the session of the ways and means committee of the City Council yesterday afternoon. Councilman Bennett sounded the keynote of warfare when the question came up relative to the adoption of an amendment to an ordinance referred to the committee at the regular meeting of the body two weeks ago, which provides for the appointment of Thomas E. Hulme to be plumbing inspector, with Harry Woodhouse for dep-

The charter grants the Council privi lege to "create the offices and define the duties of plumbing inspector and of boiler inspector." It is claimed that inas-much as the present incumbent was appointed by Mayor Rowe before the new charter went into effect, and has held office ever since, that in reality the posttion has never been created, at least by the Council. Hulme was appointed under the provisions of a state law, but, with adoption of the present charter, this statute was wiped out, hence the office has practically been up in the air ever since, to all intents and purposes.

It is evident that some of Mayor Lane's scouts put him wise to the situation, and that the action of the municipal Civil Service Commission in declaring the offices of plumbing inspectors and their under civil service rules was part of a well-arranged programme to steal a march on the Council, say major-ity members of the ways and means commiftee, and it was announced openly that about 14 members of the Council are in sympathy with the idea.

In accordance with this analysis of the case, Councilman Bennett moved that the ordinance introduced at the last meeting of the Council providing merely for the appointment of Hulme and Woodhouse to be plumbing inspector and dep-uty respectively, should be amended by the insertion of a creative clause for the office. One or two members of the commttee felt a delicacy in augmenting feeling between the Council and Mayor Lane, but Bennett explained that the latter had taken the initiative in trying to put the plumbing inspector under civil service rulek after being aware of the ordinance introduced to continue Hulme in office, and might also take a notion to appoint someone to the place without further consideration, thus involving matters in technicalities. It was agreed unanimously that the amendment should be favorably reported. It will undoubtedly be adopted. An ordinance was also recommended making provision for payment of the bills guisitions, amounting to $1100, and which had been held up by Auditor Devlin.

A resolution was passed recommending the employment of four additional la-borers for the crematory at $60 a month. The ordinance appropriating $500 for the entertainment of visiting fire chiefs of the Pacific Coast Association of Fire Chiefs, which convenes in this city Sep-tember 12, was amended to appropriate $300 for the purpose, and will be so re-

Plans for High School Ready.

At a meeting of the City Board of Education last night it was announced that the plans and specifications for the new East Side High School would be ready for submission to bidders ear-ly next week. Director Wittenberg did not want to assume the responsibility of indicating upon what street the structure should face when it was erected, hence it was suggested that a special meeting of the Board should be called soon to consider the question. The matter of allowing full pay to the janitor of the Shaver School on account of extra duties went over until the next meeting, although it is probable that it will prevail, a majority of the directors favoring the idea.

It was also recommended that an ordinance should be adopted suppressing the sale of fruits on the streets by hawkers on Sunday, and a resolution was passed to the effect that the ordinance now in existence permitting street per-formances or exhibitions where a charge is made for admission, should be abol-

LIQUOR LICENSES COME UP

REICKER'S PERMIT REVOKED, BUT LOMBARD IS REFUSED.

Many Transfers Are Made and the Committee Hears Arguments for and Against Petitions.

There were lively prospects of international complications for awhile yesterday when the liquor license committee of the City Council came to consider the question of granting a license to Jacob Reisch, who wanted to start a saloon at 1944 Macadam road. Accompanying his application was a petition signed by 45 residents of the neighborhood, vouching for his reliability, and requesting the committee to grant his application, while on the other hand the members had to contend with a counter petition signed by 30 persons, in which all sorts of uncomplimentary remarks were made about the applicant. Relach proved to be a good advoque for himself, while Tom Malone was equally at home in presenting arguments why no other establishment dispensing liquid re freshments should be located near enough to conflict with the Malone interests. For a while both men were on the floor at the same time and talking at once, but Reisch won out, and will be permitted to go into business there.

Licenses were granted also to Erik Lind, southwest corner Sixteenth and Savier streets; John Sourpas, in conjunction with restaurant at 49 North Second street, and C. Curran, 781 Mississippi avenue. The latter application was refued at the previous meeting of the license committee, but was reconsidered Jack Chesterfield, the prisoner in the King County Juli who exploded a charge incurred by Superintendent Robinson of that a large percentage of the population of dynamite in his cell and attempted to the garbage crematory without proper adjacent to the location were willing that

This is the place made famous by Paul Reicker as a German beer garden, and Lombard, one of the owners of the property, was on hand to urge his claims. Apparently Reicker held the key to the situation, until the committee took the matter into its own hands and revoked the license. The joy of Lombard at their action was short-lived, however, as the committee refused to grant any new license, claiming that it had done a good job by getting rid of the one already Recommends Delay in Improvements.

EXECUTIVE BOARD SESSION

Proposition to Allow the Portland Consolidated Railroad the Use of Chapman Street for Cars Subject of Protest.

Consideration of the question of awarding the contract for improvement of East Stark street, from the east line of East Ninth to the west line of East Twentieth, occupied the greater portion of the atten-tion of the street committee of the Exscuttre Board at its special meeting yesterday afternoon, and resulted in the en-tire matter being referred back to the Executive Board, with a recommendation that all bids be rejected as irregular and the City Council be requested either to discontinue proceedings, or e things in such a way that the or else arrange should bear a portion of the cost of making the improvement

This is the second time the bids have been held up on account of excessiveness, which in some instances amounts practically to a confiscation of the property, on account of heavy fills along the thor-oughfare. The Concrete Company bid $19.363.08 for the entire work, while J. R. O'Neil bid $6900; Joplin & Meeks, $6704.10. and K. G. Lundstrom, $7141.49 each for seven blocks. Various technicalities were found in these bids, and upon the advice of Auditor Devilo, they were thrown out.
About 50 property-owners were on hand to protest against the awards, and in the course of the discussion that followed, it was shown that the street is known as the Base Line road, and is the main thoroughfare leading from the eastern portion of the county into Portland; also that it has already been improved to considerable extent, in consequence of which it was the general opinion of those present that the city ought to stand at least a of the expense of the proposed improve-ment out of the repair fund.

Councilman Sharkey said that he in stigated the proceedings to have the street improved, and stated that it had been a thoroughfare for at least 20 years, and that the merchants and business men of Portland had greatly assisted in wearing out the road. He thought it was no more than right that the general public should assist in paying for it, and that the money could properly be taken from the repair fund.

Councilman Bennett spoke in the san vein, while Thomas Paulsen, C. A. Bigelow, W. H. Moser, H. Moys, Elwood Wiles and Mr. Matthews likewise favored this view of the situation.

The opinion of Citv Attorney McNary was read, in which he expressed himself as being in favor of a rading contracts to the Warren Construction Company for the improvement of Second street, between Morrison and Glisan, and Couch street, from First to Fourteenth. This was an aftermath of the warfare between the shall raving companies upon the bituthe rival paving companies upon the bitu lithic question, and it is now up to the Barber Asphalt Paving Company to make the next move in the game, as the com-mittee recommended the acceptance of the Warren people's bids. Another matter that aroused interest was the proposition of allowing the Consolidated Railroad Company the privilege of running its cars along Chapman street from Jefferson to the carbouse. This was formerly the route to Portland Heights. but the tramway from the carbouse has been removed and the road practically abandoned with the exception of the effort There was a general display of pyro-chnics when J. R. Wilson attempted to the morning. Sometime ago J. A. Vehr-ung and 33 other property-owners protested against the corporation's action, holding that it had caused a deterioration in property values to such an extent that it was difficult to rent any of the residences along the route at any price by reason of these conditions.

On account of this alleged unfair treatment, the petitioners wanted the Executive Board to take steps either to compel the street railway company to operate its cars along the route, or else forfeit its franchise and pull up its tracks, and this was the substance of a motion by Mr. Fleischner, of the committee. C. F. Swigert appeared for the company and admitted that the problem was direcult of solution, and also that the property-owners were justified in their demands. He suggested several ways out of the difficulty, none of which appealed very strongic to them, however, and the resolution referred to was the outgrowth of the agitation on the subject.
