crops indicates an extraodinary demand for currency to effect their movement and the stimulating effect on business and industry in general is reflected in a growing demand for credits in the West, which promises the full normal requirements on this center. The supposition is taken account of also that yes-terday's conference of prominent Jewish bankers with the Russian peace envoy may have the effect ultimately of paving the way for a participation on the part of the New York bankers in a future Russian loan. While the resent view of the prace conference is that a favorable outcome will result, there is the reserve caused by the possibility of failure, which would unquestionably have some de-pressing effect on the stock market. The weekly crop bulletin of the Weather Bureau was regarded as giving every encour-agement to the high hopes now entertained for great yields for the grain crops. The ok on the cotton crop was shown to the favorable. The beginning of investigation by the interstate Commerce Commission of the charges against the various rallroads and private car lines, which are charged with violating the regulations for the uniform rates, was something of a weight on the list of railroad stocks which were most affected by the pre-sure to sell. The corn-carrying roads were relatively firm, except for the railring sales in Missouri Pacific and Atchison. New York Central was the most influential railroad stock to make headway against pressure, and specu-lative favor turned for the most part to the Industrials and specialities again. Of the high-priced stocks, Great Northern preferred alone continued the upward movement, sustained by professed belief in an early disposal of its iron ore lands to the United States Steel Cor-stating that ['prospects are not so flati-ring for a large crop as a week ago. Red spider and mold appearing."

Conflicting reports regarding conditions of the hop grop are received by the Weather Bureau. The growth seems to be uneven and the indications are not favorable for a large 2 feld.

The bureau's correspondent at Aurora, Marion County, reports: "The present indications are that the attack of lice and continued hot weather have caused a severe sethack to the crop, and the yield will surely fail far below the estimates of two or three months ago perhaps one-fourth and possibly one-third." The correspondent at Pedee, Polk County, writes: "A notable feature of the hop situaion is a wide range in the size of the burr, which in a very large percentage of the hills varies from mere bloom to half-grown hope. This condition, so near the close of the growing season, gives little hope for a full grop. Lice are doing no harm." Another correspondent at Aurora says the yield will be no larger than last year's.

CANTALOUPE MARKET BREAKS.

Receipts Are Heavy From All Sources-Oregon Watermelons Unsatisfactory.

The cantaloope market broke hadly yester day. Receipts came in heavily from all directions and prices went to places. There were iwo full cars on the track, one from Payette and one from Excist, Cal. One hundred and fifty crates also arrived from The Dailos, and even Coachella cants were again seen on the stract after a long absence. Prices had a wife range, the hulk of the selling being at $1.50 to $2.25. Some fairly good Ore gon nutmegs sold as low as $1.10, while on the other hand fancy Coachelias brought $2.50, The watermelon situation was better. Stocks were not overplentiful and the demand was fairly good. The Oregon watermelons now coming in are not as good as they should be. Two of the last cars were small and green, and this is causing more attention to be turned to California melona

Peach receipts were lighter than usual yesterday. Grapes were plentiful and sold from $1 to $1.50, the top price for Rose of Peru. Plums were also abundant.

Local tomatoes are now - coming in freely and are selling at the public market at sog 50 cents a box, unpacked.

Clackamas County Hops Short.

OREGON CITY, Or., August 15.-(Special.)-Present indications are that the Clackamas County hop crop this year will be one-third county my tean average crop. An unusual number of missing hills and the harmful ef-fects of lice warrant this prediction, although the lice have practically disappeared in con-sequence of the several days of continuous warm weather. There have been planted 200 arres of new hope in the county during the past year, increasing by perhaps 100 acres the effect and the market of recovery.

Sherwood Growers Pay by Weight.

SHERWOOD, Or., Aug. 15.-(Special.)-The hopgrowers of Sherwood and vicinity met on August 12, pursuant to call, and organized with J. P. Young as chairman and W. F. Young, secretary. There were represented at the meeting about 40 grow-ers. The subject of discussion was the fair-est and best method of picking hops. The conclusion was finally reached that picking by weight was fairest to both grower and picker, and it was unanimously voted that they would pay this year 00 cents per 100 pounds, and do away with the old system of measuring by the box.
