RELEASE CLEALUM WATERS

Engineer and Employes of Washington Irrigation Company Charged With Destroying Dam of Union Gap Works.

WORTH YAKIMA, Wash, Aug. 18 .-Special)-The attempt of men employed the Washington Irrigation Company to blow up the dam of the Union Gap Irrigation Company across the outlet of Lake Clealum yesterday morning is looked upon as a high-handed piece of business by the water users of Yakima Valley, R. F. Tiffany, of Ziliah, engineer of the R. F. Filmany, or Zhian, engineer of the company, and five other men were caught in the act of setting off dynamite under the dam and were arrested and placed in the Clealum juil. They were later re-leased under $2500 ball to await a hearing next week. Information of the attempt to blow up the dam was given out by Tiffany as soon as he arrived at Cleslum. This was communicated to H. H. Lombard and Frank Horsley of this piace, and they immediately set about to catch the men. Officers at Cleshim were notified. They went to the lake and lay in ambush and when the men set off the first charge of dynamite placed them under arrest. The logs of the dam were raised up by the force of the explosion and water let out. The dam was built last winter by Lombard and Horsley and raised the water two feet in the lake. The flood water was stored and the natural flow was not interfered with. Mr. Lombard said today that they did not intend to use the water this year, but would next year. He said be would have gladly turned the water into the river if anyody had asked it for use. Walter Granger, superintendent of the Washington Irrigation Company, would confirm nor deny the story today. The a across the Yakima River at the intake of the reservation was destroyed Monday night and the next day as in-junction was applied for and served to event the government from rebuilding this dam. It is stated by the government employes that employes of the Washington Irrigation Company committed the crime Monday night. It is said by Mr. Lombard that some of the officers of the impany will be arrested, including Mr. Blaine, of Seattle,

The petition for the appointing of a receiver holds that the company's business is being mismanaged, that the property is being taken from the state and the managers of the company are trying to merge the business into another company and render the stock of a small value in order to force out the present owners, that the trustees have the books of the concern out of this state and in the State of Illinois, City of Chicago, and that the plaintiffs have no opportunity to examine them and ascertain the financial condition of the company. SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 18 .- (Special.)-Two half-breed sons of Henry Detrich, Alaska Commercial Company agent at Bethel on the Kuskokwim River, and four natives lost their lives by jumping overboard from a small steamer on the Kusko. kwim about July 10. The men whose experience on board steam vessels was limited, were frightened out of their wits by steam escaping from the safety valve of the little craft and fearing an explosion the two Detrich boys and five native passengers jumped overboard into the swift current of the river. One of the natives was rescued with difficulty by the crew of the boat, but aix were swept away and drowned. At the time of the accident the little river boat, whose name was not men-tioned in the advices received in Seattle from the North yesterday, was going up the Kuskekwim with the cargo of the schooner Volante, which struck and went to pieces at the mouth of the river July 5. amount to many thousands of dollars.

The origin of the fire is a mystery, but the flames were first noticed coming from a bunkhouse, and before the place could be reached had gained such headway that it was impossible to stop its destruction. Fifteen hundred sacks of grain tying in the field were destroyed, and hundreds of acres of pasture land were made bare. The wheat was insured.

FACTORY IS BURNED.

Newburg Handle Manufacturing

The plant of the Gregon Handle Manufacturing Company burned down tonight, making one of the fiercest fires Newberg has experienced for many years The fire evidently started in the boller room shortly after eight o'clock and had made good headway before the alarm was given. The wind made the flames hard to manage and the fire companies with difficulty saved the waveroom of the Company. Buildings in the vicinity of the burning plant were carefully guarded, including the big new public school building now in course of lindies.

The flower buds of the capparis spinosa, a plant which grows on the walls in Southern Europe, are commonly known as caper. These are chiefly imported from the wind made the flames hard to manage and the fire companies with difficulty saved in some parts of France. The cloves of commerce are the unexpanded buds of targophyllus aromaticus, a small evergreen native of the Moluccas, but cultivated in many narts of the East and West Indies.

NEW SYSTEM COSTS LESS

STATE SAVES MUCH IN TRANS-PORTING INSANE.

Attendants Bring Patients to Salem for About One-Half That Was Formerly Paid Sheriffs.

SALEM, Or., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—After almost three months' operation under the new law governing the transportation of ne, it is found that the new system costs practically one-half as much as the old. Under the former system the Sheriff or a deputy brought insane persons to the asylum, receiving a per diem of $2 and all traveling expenses. Under the new system the insane asylum authorities send an attendant from the asylum to the county seat to bring the patient to Salem In some instances the cost of transpor tation has been reduced to one-third o what it was formerly, while in other cases the reduction is less than one-half. Thus, it cost under the former laws $18.73 to bring a patient from Portland, but now it costs only $6.79. From Clatsop County, which furnishes a large number of pa-tients, the former cost was about $45, but now it is only $15. Marion County, which also supplies a large number of insane, formerly cost the state $6.69 for transporting patients, but this has been reduced to $1. In the case of patients from distant counties, like Baker, Coos. Tillamook and others, where the railroad or stage exenses are heavy, the saving is not so

The figures given are not exact, for no exact account can be kept of the time of attendants who are sent out after patients. The attendants who are employed in that work render some service at the institution, and spend some time bringing back patients who have escaped. The saving, however, when all allowances are made, will be from 60 to 50 per cent.

They escaped from the Indian school yesterday, took local train at Salem and laid over in Albany.

FLOWERS AS FOODS.

Made Into Salads, Jellies, Curries, Cloves and Capers.

South China Post, Though the fact is well known that flowers are used extensively as a medicine, it may come as a surprise to many that tone of delicate flowers are regularly used as food. In many parts of India the flowers of a saponaceous tree, bassia latifolia, or man-wah, form a really important article of diet. These blossoms, which are succulent and very nourishing and numerous, fall at night in large quantities from the trees and are gathered in the morning and eater raw. They have a sweet but sickly taste and odor. They are likewise dried in sun and sold in the bazaars. The Bheels dry them and store them as a taple article of food. An ardent spirit like whisky is distilled rom these flowers and is consumed in from these flowers and is consumed in large quantities by the natives of Gu-zerai, etc.; swetmeats are also made of them. A single tree affords from 200 to 800 pounds of blossoms. In Malabar and Mysore another species of the tree abounds, the flowers of which are used in a similar manner by the natives.

The flowers of the Judas tree have an agreeable acrid taste and are sometimes mixed with salads or made into fritters with batter, and the flower buds are pickled with vinegar. The flowers of the American species are used by the French Canadians in salads and pickles. The flowers of the abutilon esculentum are used in firstil as boiled vegetables. The flowers of the hogseradish tree are eaten by the natives of India in their curry.

The young calices of dillenia scaratella and D. speciosia, which are swollen and fleshy, have a pleasantly acid taste and are used by the inhabitants of Chittagong and Bengal in their curries and also for making jellies. The large, showy flowers of the nasturtium are frequently used along with the young leaves in salad They have a warm taste and not unlike that of the common cress, and it is from this similarity that the plant has gained the name of nasturtium. The hill people of India are fond of the flowers of the rhododendron arboreum, and even Anglo-Europeans use them for making jelly. Yet poisonous properties are ascribed to the species of this genus, and it has been said that the R. ponticum was the plant from whose flowers the bees of Pontus gathered the honey which produced the extraordinary symptoms of polsoning described as having attacked the Greek soldiers in the famous retreat of the Ten Thousand.

The flower clusters of the cauliflower which form themselves into a firm cluster or head, varying from four to eight or more inches across, become the edible Plant Destroyed.

CAPT. HARTMAN ACQUITTED

OFFICER OF SIGNAL CORPS IS FOUND NOT GUILTY.

Trial at Vancouver Barracks Attracted Interest in Army and Social Circles.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.-The War Department has been informed that Captain Carl F. Hartman, of the Signal Corps, U. S. A., who was court-martialed at Vancouver Barracks, Washington, "accused of conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman," has been found not guilty an dacquitted.

ECHO OF CAMP ATASCADERO

Charged With Allowing Liquor Handled in Post Canteen.

VANCOUVER, Wash., Aug. 18.-Captain Carl F. Hartman was tried before a general court-martial at Vancouver Barracks on charges of conduct unbecoming an officer and gentleman, the specification being that he had knowingly made false reports to a superior officer. While in the Department of California, Captain Hartman was in charge of the post ex-change at Benicia Barracks, and at the temporary camp at Camp Atascadero. It was charged that he had knowingly permitted the sale of beer in the camp, and that when questioned in regard to the matter by Major Wiser, the inspecting officer, he had stated that no liquors had been sold. For a time there had been considerable drunkenness among the enlisted men at the camp, and it was sus-pected that liquors had been purchased at the post exchange.

The leading witnesses against Captain Hartman were Lieutenants Goodale and Kent. The testimony at the trial brought out the fact that both these officers har-bored considerable resentment towards Captin Hartman, because of reprimands which he had given them. Under Cap-tain Hartman's charge was an automobile intended for military use. He had issued an order forbidding the use of this maorder was disregarded by Lieutenants

Goodale and Kent, for which both of them were given a reprimand. Among the firms from which post exchange supplies were purchased was a San Francisco concern who are agents for the Rainler Brewery, and it was a transaction with this firm upon which the prosecution relied to a considerable extent. An invoice of goods had been purchased from them for which the bill was sent simply as merchandise. When this bill was returned for correction, it was returned firemized as beer. This was not noticed for some time, but when it was discovered, the invoice was again returned, and when finally corrected called for root beer, which it was afterwards shown was the article purchased.

The evidence also indicated that at all times Captain Hartman had used every endeavor to prevent the introduction of liquor into the camp or its use by the enport to Major Wiser, he had no knowledge that liquor was being brought into camp. Some time after making his report he was informed by Lieutenant Goodale that such was the case,

A GARDEN FOR THE POOR Philadelpha Woman Lets Children

Play in Her Lot.

New York Tribune A playground for the children of the byways has been opened in Philadelphia. It is a bit of hot-weather philanthropy of the most practical kind, encouraging evi dence of what one woman can do if she has both the money and the inclination. Miss Rebecca Coxe, while she is away for the Summer, has thrown open to the children of the poor the garden of her home in Spruce street, near Fifteenth street, in the heart of the aristocratic district of the city, yet right on the edge of the slums. Tom, Dick and Harry and their sisters can romp and roll on the grass of this playground till there is no grass to romp and roll upon. Such is the order of Miss Coxe. The garden was opened after she went to her Summer home in Drifton Pa., and on the second day the caretaker, seeing the effect of many feet upon the recently planted sod, wired to know if he should keep the children off the grass. Miss Coxe's decision was prompt; and since then the grass has been gradually disappearing.

There is a box hedge lining the that encircles the playground, plenty of green foliage, and many flowers, holly-hocks, forglowes, marigoids; a half dozen white benches, with arbor backs, rising nearly to the top of the red brick wall, and at one end a little pool and a drinking fountain. The caretaker's most strenuous duty is to prevent hot and dusty urchins from plunging into the pool, and many a time when the guardian's eyes have been turned one of them, according to his own defence, has been "just pushed in, sir-so don't put me out-for 't wasn't
