

"STOOL-PIGEON" IS IN CUSTODY

"Bob" Lucas Is Placed Under Arrest by Patrolman Scallen.

ON STREET AFTER HOURS

Suspected of Burglary and Said to Be One of the Informants of Detective on the Police Force.

"Bob" Lucas, reputed to be a "stool-pigeon" in the employ of Headquarters detective Joe Day, was picked up at First and Sheridan streets at 1:30 o'clock yesterday morning by Patrolman Scallen. He was sent to the City Jail by the patrolman, and booked on a charge of being on the streets "after hours."

Yesterday morning Lucas was arraigned in the Municipal Court, pleaded not guilty, and his case was set for hearing tomorrow. Lucas has been in trouble many times before, and each time escaped serious punishment through the assistance of various detectives, for whom he was working as a "stool-pigeon." He has been suspected of doing some burglaries and highway robberies of recent years.

Policeman Scallen states that a burglary was recently perpetrated in South Portland by a man answering the description of Lucas, and it was not far from the scene of that crime that Lucas was found yesterday morning.

"I understand that Lucas is a 'stool-pigeon' for one of the detectives, I believe Joe Day is the one," said Policeman Scallen. "But that cuts no figure with me; I will not permit any man of such a character as Lucas to roam about on my beat at so late an hour, no matter if he is a 'stool-pigeon.' Burglary was recently committed in South Portland, and the man who committed it answered the description of Lucas. I can't see what legitimate business Lucas could have out at 1:30 o'clock in the morning."

Deputy City Attorney Fitzgerald refused to permit Lucas to go on his own recognizance, and Judge Cameron fixed his bail at $50. He had to go back to his cell in the City Jail.

Mud-slinging campaigns of Portland politicians have all been slight in comparison to one which John Mulloy, Herbert Werp and a dozen other young men engaged near a brickyard at East Twenty-eighth and Division streets recently. In the case James Bell, at that time a maker of brick, but now studying time a detective and to get one of the snags on the Portland staff at a high salary, claims to have been hit in the short ribs by a stone and knocked completely out.

Bell did not see the boy who hurled the stone at him, but he had progressed far enough in the school of detectivity to be able to deduce the circumstances from circumstances to tell which boy threw the missile. He saw and recognized John Mulloy and Herbert Werp at the scene, and fixed the blame upon them. He caused their arrest, and his court yesterday declared emphatically that they were guilty. They swore they threw nothing but mud, and Judge Cameron said Bell must produce evidence, or the cases would be dismissed. A continuance was taken.

Process of evolution is rapidly reducing George Marshall to thin air. At first he was arrested by Detective Joe Day for murder in the first degree; later the charge was changed to second degree, man turns out to be simple vagrant. Whether or not a simpler charge will yet be laid by Day is for the future to divulge.

A letter, written on straw paper by some joker, came into the possession of Marshall, one of Day's "stool-pigeons."

"Tipped it off," and Joe split the air running to a given point, where the "pigeon" told him he could find Marshall. Joe thought he had a line on the man who administered poison to Mrs. Van Dran, and it was to jail with the terrible monster.

Later things learned by other detectives proved Joe's great discovery wrong, however, and yesterday morning Joe sent Detective Vaughn into the Municipal Court with Marshall on a simple charge of vagrancy. Marshall pleaded not guilty, and will be tried today.

Policeman Evans and Acting Detectives Kay and Jones raided the Palm saloon, 381 Third street, Sunday afternoon and captured some men, against whom charges of gambling were filed. N. Burrellback, proprietor of the establishment, was also charged with permitting gambling in his place of business. Draw-poker was the game.

Those arrested were N. Burrellback, William Runeson, J. Jackson, Ben Malcom and Louis Cohen. John F. Kettner, of St. Johns, who was engaged in the game with the others, came to police headquarters and "tipped" the game. The case will be heard later.

G. H. Woodard, arrested by Detective Carpenter on a charge of vagrancy, swore when before Judge Cameron yesterday, and was fined one day for each word he uttered in the sentence containing an oath. After his ten days are up, he may be ordered to leave town. He once before was ordered to do so, but failed to keep his promise to go.

Fred Hedgheeth, a young man from Southern California, came into court and appealed to Deputy City Attorney Fitzgerald for a warrant for the arrest of E. P. McCroskey, keeper of the Canadian Employment Agency, 28 S. Washington street. Hedgheeth declared that they were $1 coming to him from the agency, which it refused to pay, and also that when he demanded his money back, McCroskey assaulted him.

Japanese music will be introduced to Portlanders at the Grace M. E. Church, Twelfth and Taylor streets, tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. A programme of characteristic Japanese solo and duets, modified and harmonized with the aid of European music, will be given by Professor Iwamoto, pianist, and Professor Takaozi, violinist, who are touring this country and giving a series of concerts to raise funds for the Imperial College of Music, at Tokio, Japan, with which they are connected. The college is in need of support at this time because its finances have been reduced by the unfavorable conditions existing in Japan, incident to the war with Russia.

The programme, which is arranged in two parts, follows: Violin solo, Andante, Hunter's Chorus, Professor Takaozi; piano duo, Rokuden, Professor Iwamoto and Professor Takaozi; Samisen piano duo, Kwanzincho, Professor Iwamoto and Professor Takaozi; violin solo, William Tell, Professor Takaozi; piano solo, Genroku dance, Professor Iwamoto; violin-duo, Akiro Irokusa, Professor Iwamoto and Professor Takaozi.

VICTIMS MAKE COMPLAINT

Partner and Stenographer in Realty Firm Are Bounced.

A pretty, young woman, who refused to give her name to the police, called upon Chief Grizmachner yesterday and told him that she worked as a stenographer for N. Sprague, colored, three months and that she had never received a cent for her services.

Sprague is 60 years old, and until last night was operating a real estate office at 122 1/2 Grand avenue. Business was not so brisk as it might have been, it is said, but nevertheless, the head of the firm thought it necessary to employ the young woman in the capacity of stenographer. From time to time, she stated, he excused himself for not paying her the salary agreed upon, but assured her he would do so "when things looked up a little."

Accompanying the pretty, but mysterious young woman, was Fred Wagner, who also had a tale of woe to tell Chief Grizmachner. His particular grievance was that he entered the real estate office of Sprague as a partner, paying for the privilege $200 in cash and a note for $200, but he was getting on in the world when he got into the business, and looked forward to a time when he would be a millionaire.

Sprague proved to be a good manager for himself. He was worried about his new-found partner, for fear he would not get rich rapidly enough. Sprague proposed that Wagner put up another $100, which Sprague said he could invest in good purposes and it would be bringing in something for Wagner while the dollars were rolling in from other directions and swelling the coffers of the firm of Sprague & Wagner.

Wagner now says that he trusted Sprague, because he was a good, old man, and so like a father would be to a son. However, Wagner is out just $200, and his erstwhile partner is gone.

When asked where she would like the police to do, the unknown, pretty woman said she knew enough about affairs of the business world to realize that she had been bounced and could not hope to get any of the salary due her. Wagner felt differently, and wants the police to locate and arrest Sprague.

FUNERAL OF JAN WAY.

Oriental Rites for Wealthy Chinese Merchants Are Held.

The funeral rites of Jan Way, one of the most important merchants in the Chinese colony, was held at First and Alder streets yesterday afternoon with all the elaborate ceremony which it is customary to bestow over the wealthiness of the Chinese. Jan Way, who was 70 years of age and a member of the Yuen-Way Company, has been in the general merchandise business in Portland and was highly esteemed by his countrymen.

A large crowd collected to see the Chinese go through their customary services over the dead, and the officers had difficulty in keeping them back. The usual forms were gone through, but it was not entirely an Oriental ceremony, for Brown's band had been engaged for the occasion and headed the procession instead of the usual discordant Chinese orchestra. Fully 50 carriages bearing the well-to-do Chinese of the city followed the body to the cemetery.

It is the ambition of all Chinese to accumulate money during their life to pay the expense of having their body embalmed and sent to rest among its kindred in the Flower Kingdom. Few attain this, as the expense is heavy. Those who do not leave sufficient money for this are buried and their bones later exhumed and sent to China. Those who die in poverty are not taken back to the home-land and this is the greatest misfortune that can befall a Chinese. Jan Way died wealthy and his body will not be interred here, although it was taken to Lone Fir Cemetery for the last rites. It was brought back to Holman's undertaking parlors to be embalmed and sent to China on the next boat.

FOR THAT VACANT DAY

Remember the Columbia River Scenery and the Steamer Undine.

Exposition visiting can best be complemented by a trip up the Columbia River to Cascade Locks on the Undine. The scenery is unequalled.

REDUCED RATES EAST.

On Aug. 24th and 25th and Sept. 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 16 and 17, the Canadian Pacific will sell round-trip tickets to Eastern points at very low rates.

For full particulars call on or address P. R. Johnson, F. & P. A., Canadian Pacific Ry., 142 Third at., Portland, Or.

Directing Immigration Hither.

That the Fair has turned the attention of Easterners to Oregon as never before, is shown by the fact that the commercial bodies and railroads are receiving constant inquiries from all sections in regard to the opportunities open here. The circulars that have been sent throughout the East bring letters asking for further information in every mail.

What one small booklet accomplished is shown by the following clipping from a letter received by General Passenger Agent A. L. Craig, of the O. R. & N., and written by a man in Central Ohio: "I received your booklet about Oregon and it has completely converted me, so that I am ready to start now. I am tired of the cold winters here, as we have had two extra hard ones. I have seven children ranging from 1 to 19 years, and we want to leave this section the first of October."
