OGDEN CHOIR WINS OVATION

Portland Audience Welcomes Singers With a Remarkable Demonstration.

HALL FILLED TO DOORS

Two Hundred Visitors Give Concert at Exposition That Shows the Chorus to Be One of Country's Best.

Nobody can accuse Portland musical audiences of being cold after the remarkable demonstration accorded last night to the 200-odd members of the Mormon Tabernacle Choir, of Ogden, Utah, under the direction of Joseph Ballantyne. No sooner had the last rich chord of "The Soldiers' Chorus" from Gounod's "Faust," rung through the Festival Hall Exposition, than the choir worship began. Every number was encircled several times, but no responses were made. Mr.
Ballantyne and the two soloists contented themselves with bowing their acknowledgments. The hall was filled to the doors, and although this is a vacation season, there were many Portland musicians, especially choir singers, present.
Naturally, most of the interest centered in the choir. It is the largest and best west of the great centers of population in the Middle States, and for tone, quality, intelligence and attack it can hold its own with the best Eastern choruses.
What it can do in a la capella or unaccompanied work is not known; therefore one cannot contrast the work with that of such choirs as those of Leslie of London, Buck of Brooklyn, N. Y., Vogt of Toronto, Canada, and one or two more.
But the Ogden choir sings with an enthusiasm and soulfulness that leaves very little to be desired, and the attention to marks of expression and absolute pitch are very creditable.

All the sopranos and contraltos—comprising the majority of the choir—were dressed in white, with the Utah ribbons fluttering from their breasts, while the tenors and basses wore business suits.
None of the singers are paid—all are volunteers. Twenty-five years ago this choir started, 25 years or so after that of Salt Lake City, but of course the personnel of the choir has changed as to membership. The tone is well balanced, except that there ought to be more bass to offset the strong soprano section. The latter excelled last night in "The Soldiers' Chorus" from "Faust," and attacked the high notes above the staff with success, but the pitch was just a trifle high for probably two out of three voices. Ballantynes' chorus, "O Lord in Thee," is a dignified bit of writing. The singers were at home in the Dudley Buck psalm. The "Inflammatus" was well sung.

Miss Emma Lucy Gates, the soloist, is a granddaughter of Brigham Young, and is a soprano coloratura, with a dramatic quality that is rare in such a voice. The latter is pleasant in quality, the compass being from low B-flat to E in altissimo.
Her phrasing and emission of tone is very good. Miss Gates will be heard in a larger effort before long. The violin soloist, Willard E. Wetbe, played with a charming tone, and showed technical skill of a high order. The accompanist was John J. McClellan, organist of the Mormon Tabernacle, of Salt Lake City, and his work is admirable. The conductor, Mr. Ballantyne, has had charge of the choir for seven years, and deserves credit for bringing it to such a high standard of efficiency.

The choir gives its last concert tonight in Festival Hall, when an entirely new programme will be presented. It is hoped that the famous "Irrigation Ode" will be repeated on this occasion, by request. To hear this chorus is a valuable lesson in singing, and the opportunity should be fully taken advantage of.

GOVERNOR SAVES COLORADO DAY

Travel-Stained and Hungry, Jesse F. McDonald Hurries to Exercises.

ARRIVES IN NICK OF TIME

Enthusiastic Colorado Citizens in Waiting at the Exposition Give Him and His Party Great Ovation.

YESTERDAY'S ADMISSIONS, 19,639.
The admissions department reported last night that the attendance at the Exposition yesterday was 19,639. The daily attendance for this week, with the exception of Sunday, is expected to average not less than 19,000.

Colorado day began with a disappointment at the Lewis and Clark Exposition, but at the last moment Dame Fortune smiled down upon the strenuous Coloradans and they pulled themselves through their laurels all about their brows.

Governor Jesse F. McDonald, of Colorado, was due to arrive in Portland yesterday morning, but in the afternoon at 3 o'clock the time set for the beginning of the exercises, several hundred eager miners and irrigators assembled in the pavilion annex of the New York building with despair written on every countenance, as the appearance of their long-looked-for chief executive was still in the stage of uncertainty.

However the Coloradans did not lie down and surrender to the seemingly inevitable, but went right ahead with the exercises, Colonel A. W. Hogle, of the Colorado Commission, who presided over the exercises, as they are introduced by remarks. He was followed by Gilbert McCurg, ex-secretary of the Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce, Mrs. McCurg and E. B. Light, American Consul to Mexico for the last ten years.

Governor McDonald Arrives.

About 5 o'clock there was a shuffling of feet, which seemed strangely familiar to the Coloradans, as they are all more or less alike, and a party of travel-stained and worried men burst into the room. When they saw that they were in time they hurriedly up with unmistakable signs of relief.
Governor McDonald was in the lead. He had hardly crossed the threshold before there was an outburst of heavy and prolonged applause from the Coloradans who had waited so faithfully for their Governor. Governor McDonald made a very brief talk. He said the people of Colorado were extremely modest considering the state in which they lived, as they only claimed to have the best of everything. He said he was not in position to express an able opinion on the Lewis and Clark Exposition, as he had been hurried through the grounds to the pavilion at the rate of an express train, but from what little he had seen of it, it was the best ever. He politely excused himself from making a long oration, saying that Coloradans were nearly all blessed with tremendous appetites, and he was feeling that way himself, as he had not eaten any dinner, so anxious and he been to fulfill his engagement.

Congressman H. M. Hogg, of Colorado, stepped upon the platform with the remark that he also belonged to the "great unwashed." He said that the people of Colorado did not say much but did things. To prove the strength of his remark, he said that Governor McDonald, the third Governor of Colorado in about 30 minutes, was an example. Another speaker was Frank C.
Goudy, a prominent Denver attorney, who several years ago was candidate for the gubernatorial chair on the Republican ticket. He is now a Senatorial possibility. His address was replete with many bright and pleasing incidents of the humorous side of the Colorado life. Following the exercises Governor McDonald, Congressman Hogg and the other speakers, stood in the receiving line and shook the hands of hundreds of people.

Punch and wafers were served from two tables in the pavilion. Mrs. A. W.
Hogle presided as hostess. She was assisted by Mrs. John T. Burns, Mrs.
Robert Willits, Mrs. George Snyder, Mrs.
Jessie Hussey and Mrs. Adella Scott, official hostess for the Idaho building at the Exposition.

The official party from Colorado was composed of Governor and Mrs. Mc-Donald, Mrs. Curtis, a sister of Mrs.
McDonald, Representative Hogg, State Senator Barlow, State Treasurer Holmberg, Commissioner E. L. Walte, Adjutant-General Bulkeley Wells, Inspector-General S. R. Scholz. The party will remain at the Exposition for several days.

Banquet at Night.

Governor and Mrs. Jesse F. McDonald, of Colorado, were tendered a brilliant banquet at the New York building last night. It was generally conceded to be one of the most delightful affairs of the season by all those present. There were about 50 guests, including Governor and Mrs. McDonald, of California. The banquet tables were unusually handsomely and lavishly decorated with roses and other flowers. One of the features of the banquet was the singing of the Ogden, Utah, Mormon Tabernacle Choir, which went to the New York building after the concert in the Auditorium.

SALT LAKE CITY'S DAY

METROPOLIS OF UTAH WILL HAVE CELEBRATION.

Hundreds of Visitors, Including Public Officials, Will Attend Today's Exercises.

Seattle, San Francisco, Tacoma and nearly all of the cities of importance have celebrated special days at the Lewis and Clark Exposition, and today Salt Lake City, the metropolis of the intermountain region, will endeavor to keep up the pace that has been set by her sister cities.
That she will not fall behind the other towns in acknowledging the greatness of the Exposition is a foregone conclusion.

Hundreds of Salt Lake people are in Portland, including the majority of the City Council and other public officials.

Most Awful SKIN HUMOR

Covering Entire Body. Shed Dustpaul Scales Nightly.
Skin Cracked Open. Suffering Dreadful. Doctors Fail.
Prayed for Death. Sister fails.
"Won't give up. Try Cuticure!" Eureka! Instant Relief. In 6 Weeks Completely CURED BY CUTICURA

I have been afflicted for twenty years with an obstinate skin disease, called by some Dr. D's Psoriasis, and others Leprosy, commencing on my scalp, and in spite of all I could do, with the help of the most skillful doctors, it slowly but surely extended until a year ago this winter it covered my entire person in the form of dry scales. For the last three years I have been unable to do any labor, and suffering intensely all the time. Every morning there would be nearly a dustpaul of scales taken from the sheet on my bed, some of them half as large as the envelope containing this letter. In the latter part of winter my skin commenced cracking open, and I felt everything, almost that could be thought of, without any relief. The 15th of June I started West, in hopes I could reach the Hot Springs.
I reached Detroit and was so low I thought I should have to go to the hospital, but finally got as far as Lansing, Mich., where I had a sister living. One Dr. — treated me about two weeks, but did me no good. All I thought I had but a short time to live. I earnestly prayed to die. Cracked through the skin all over my back, across my ribs, arms, hands, limbs, feet badly swollen, toe-nails came off, finger-nails dead and hard as a bone; hair dead, dry, and lifeless as old straw. O my God! how I did suffer.

My sister, Mrs. E. H. Davis, had a small part of a box of Cuticura in the house. She wouldn't give up, said, "We will try Cuticure." Some was applied on one hand and arm. Eureka! there was relief; stopped the terrible burning sensation from the worst of it. They immediately got Cuticura Resolvent, Ointment, and Soap. I commenced by taking one tablespoonful of Cuticura Resolvent three times a day after meals; had a bath once a day, water about blood heat; used Cuticura Soap freely; applied Cuticura Ointment morning and evening. Result: returned to my home in just six weeks from the time I left, and my skin as smooth as this sheet of paper.
