

CLEAN OUT THE "STOOL PIGEONS"

Police Chief Gritzmacher Issues the Order to His Patrolmen.

FRANK LAMB IS ARRESTED

He is a Protege of Joe Day and of Snow and Kerrigan, but That Fact Fails to Save Him.

Patrolmen of the Portland Police Department are determined to "clean out" the "stool-pigeons," many of whom have been infesting the city and incessantly perpetrating burglaries, sneak thefts and other crimes, under the protection of members of the headquarters staff of detectives.

War against "stool-pigeons" serving members of the headquarters staff of detectives by Patrolman Scallen, who recently arrested "Bob" Lucas, Detective Day's "pigeon," and this arrest was followed quickly by that of Frank Lamb, who was taken into custody Wednesday night by Patrolman Wade, of the first relief.

Lamb's arrest, which was not accomplished until Patrolman Wade fired several shots at the fleeing form, had caused consternation among the detectives. Lamb has served as a "stool-pigeon" for a long time, trying to act in that capacity for Kerrigan and Snow and Joe Day at one and the same time. Because of his policy of attempting to work for three detectives at once, frequent clashes occurred between Kerrigan and Snow on the one hand and Day on the other. Of late, it is said, Lamb has been pretty loyal to Joe Day, which aroused the anger of Kerrigan and Snow to a high pitch.

However, Kerrigan and Snow did not arrest Lamb, although Chief Gritzmacher had issued an order, commanding the entire force to round up all members of the vagrant classes and drive them from the city. It is said Kerrigan and Snow hesitated to arrest Lamb because they feared a fight would result with Joe Day. It, therefore, remained for Patrolman Wade, a man who has been on the force but three months, to obey the Chief's order and arrest this "stool-pigeon."

Lamb was arraigned before Judge Cameron in the Municipal Court, and pleaded guilty to a charge of vagrancy. He desired leniency, he said, and mentioned something about having a chance to go to sea on a sailing vessel. He said he had an opportunity, but declined to take that sort of a proposition. His case was continued until tomorrow. Lamb was also arrested for enticing a white girl into Chinatown. Detectives have always come to his rescue heretofore, but it is said they fear to attempt negotiations now, as the entire staff is in disfavor with the administration, the public and the powers that be at police headquarters.

The recent arrests of "stool-pigeons" are remarkable, as heretofore police men have feared to interfere with these worthless criminals, else they might encounter trouble, worked up in one way and another by the detectives, for revenge. Strong backing of the uniformed men by the Mayor, the Chief and the captains, is said to be responsible for the good work of the men who perform the real work of the department.

Despite the gray hairs that crown the head of G. Foster, and his pleasant face, he is just a plain vagrant, and was ordered out of the city yesterday when he came before Judge Cameron.

"This old man was picked up by the police last night without a cent of money, and with no abiding place," said Deputy City Attorney Fitzgerald to Judge Cameron. "He'll have to get out of here—we've got no use for him."

Foster admitted he was "broke," and said he was en route to the Palouse country in Eastern Washington, to secure work.

"You'll have to cross the city limits before 2 o'clock today or be rearrested and brought in here to serve out a term in jail," said Judge Cameron. "Be careful, for we can't have vagrants here."

Premising to "bake," the old man hurried out of the courtroom and down the street, toward a string of boxcars in the Terminal yards.

Nick Burrell, an operator of the Gem saloon, 181 Third street, was fined $15 for permitting a game of poker to be operated in that establishment last Saturday night, and Louis Cohen, V. C. Jackson and William Russell were fined $5 each for participating in it, with John F. Ketter, of St. Johns, as a "sucker." He lost $12 and reported the game to Captain of Police Moore, who promptly had it "pulled."

Three Chinese, who engaged in a game of chance in a store at 135 Second street, recently, were fined $5 each by Judge Cameron. They entered a plea of guilty, through ex-Municipal Judge Hogue. They were arrested by Policemen Craddock.

George Faulkner is a "fresh" youngster, who is employed by a messenger company, and rides a wheel on sidewalks whenever it suits his fancy. Policemen Thompson arrested him last Wednesday night, and Faulkner got very "naughty."

"Don't get fresh with me," was a sample of the language used by Faulkner toward Policemen Thompson, when the arrest was made. The defendant admitted using this sentence, and others of like effect. Judge Cameron distilled this manner of the young man very much, and gave him a severe lecture, admonishing him to behave himself differently in future, or suffer a heavy penalty. This time he was fined $1.
