EXPIRES IN DEATH VALLEY

Brother of Harry Bethune, Well-Known Montana Mining Man.

BULLFROG, Nev., Aug. 28.-Judge L. Bethune, brother of Harry Bethune, of Butte, Mout,, a well-known mining expert and promoter, is supposed to be dead in Death Valley. Mr. Bethune, who was well advanced in years, while here a month ago declared his intention of going to Randsburg by way of Death Valley. James C. Weller, father of Earl C. Weller, of Telluride, Colo., who was searching for the body of his son, says he found a black mule straying around a waterhole about half a mile Surveyor Wells. A pack outfit which gave evidence of having fallen off the animal was lying a short distance away and a Sible and some letters marked with Sethune's name were found among the Eagles Play Water Baseball.

ABERDEEN, Wash., Aug. 28.-(Spe cial.)-The Fraternal Order of Eagles of Gray's Harbor held a monster picnic Sat-urday and Sunday at Westport. The Eagles are always presenting novelties for the amusement of the crowds who attend their entertainments, and this year they adopted an experiment in baseball playing which has probably never had its counterpart. Floating bases were placed in the bay at Westport and the pposing nines took turns in standing pon these floating rafts. When a ball was hit into the water the batter had to swim to his base and the player into whose territory the ball oated had to swim and get the ball and swim after the player if he desired to put him out. Five innings were played and the novelty was witnessed by many
